NORTH VICTORIA.

The Reformers of North Victoria met in convention in Fencion Palls last Saturday to nominate a candidate for the House of Commons for next election. The choice fell on J. A. Barron, Esq., of Lindeny. Mr. Barren is a young lawyer, and has monaged the nomination or it has been managed well. We hear it was almost unanimous, Personally we congratulate Mr. Barron on the honor done him by his party; and, while it shall afford us much pleasure to assist in defeating him, still we would just se soon have some other reformer loss his money and time.

SCHOOL ROOKS.

The Minister of Education is still turning the handle of the text-book machine. Not content with feiting the readers, drawing books, etc., on an innocent and suffering public for the benefit of the "party," he seems bound to grind on, until there shall be an entire new series in every department of public and high school of the section.

Once more we affirm that under ench a system jobbing would be reduced to a minimum, teachers would be offiged to teach; and the Minister of Education would have more time to look after his legitimate departe mental duties, attend pientes, consentions, and otherwise directly adsence the cause of education by furnishing examples of good English;

RDITORIAL NOTES.

For some weeks certain peripatetic Reform statesmen (?) have been journal says on such subjects. They divide the statements by 99. Then

Sir A. P. Caron sent a message before Riel's execution, from Winnipeg, to Sir John A. Macdonald, to the satisfied with anything less. Mr. Mills was cornered by the Mail, and as the Mail thought, had to admit that the telegram was either a ron-GERY OF WAS STOLEN. But the Mail was taught a Grit philosopher's way of getting out of a corner. The Hon. David now affirms the message was sent from Ottawa to Hon, Mr. Caron, telling him—in Winnipeg—that the people of Winnipeg would not be satisfied, etc. After Mr. Mills next equivocator will please

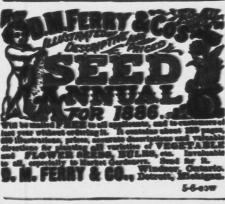

A wordy war is going on now in the press anent the way it chanced the volunteers did not retreat from Batoche the first day. Dr. Orton, it seems, claims that General Middieton proposed to retire back to the previous night's camp; and was parauaded not to do so by urgent request of the field officers. Now the chief transport officer and severa others rush in to assist the General and to show that he had not counselled with his officers. Such writing been guilty of serious wrong.
