That in about the year 1871 the Midland Railway of Canada in the construction of the extension towards the Georgian Bay erected a bridge across the river Scugoe which structure was used until about the year 1883 when the route was abandoned and a new bridge constructed further up the stream.

That the bridge so abandoned was de-molished and removed with the exception of the abutments and center pier made of eribwork and filled with stone. That your p-titioners have recently prayed the Legislative Assembly of the province of Ontario for an appropriation towards improving the navigation by deepening the hed of the river and locating the wharves near the business centre. That the centre pier located in the centre of the river forms a serious abstruction to the navigation and will be still more so as the volume of trade increases on the completion at the locks at the village of Fenelon Falls on the Trent Valley navigation scheme.

Your petitioners therefore respectfully pray that you cause the centre pier above referred to, to be removed and there by materially improve the navigation of the river Scugog and conter a substantial benefit on your petitioners The above was read a third time passed and signed.

Moved and seconded that the thanks of the council be tendered the charity committee and the St. Vinesat society for the able manner in which they assisted the poor during the past year .- Carried.

Bishop Jamot in Lindsay.

Special to The Warder. On Monday last the Rev. Dr. Jamot, bishop of Peterboro, who has recently returned from Rome arrived in Lindsay by the morning train and was met at the station by a large number of the Catholics

I have had a good time since I came over of Lindsay and Ops. After three rousing cheers had been given in honor of the bishop, the clergy and people proceeded to the church where a suitable service was night. I was to an Orange ball since I arrived here; it was splendid. The whole talk here is about home rule; the Orange-An address of welcome and congratula tion was presented to the Reverend Doc-tor Jamot by Messrs Kennety, Connolly, A. O'Leary, Knowlson, Murphy, Curtin, Dr. Poole, McHugh and others. The nice here at present; every one is plowing; there are some planting potatoes. The cattle are out pasturing. It is a great change to come here for the winter but I am clean lost, for there is scarcely anyaddress was read by Dr Poole after which another address was presented by the Catholic Literary Association of Lindsay. The bishop then entered into some parti-culars regarding his visit to Rome and after sundry admonitions the proceedings closed with benediction of the Blessed During the day his lordship visited the separate schools and in the evening he and a number of our leading citizens were beautiful; it is no wonder that they call it Erin's Green isle. I am going up to Belfast next week and I will get King William. I had a very quick passage; I was only eight days sailing. We were thirty hours laving up at St. Johns, New Foundland. We had a great time. I often wished that Bob was with me. We entertained at the convent, the proceed-

The good description of the country around tion of it, and that is nothing but hills and bush, I don't think any good for farming but can't say about lumbering; and for hundreds of miles farther west you find the same kind of country. But one can't form any idea of a place in the winter time. There is a lot of hunting such as beaver, otter, mink, etc., but I have not tried my hand at that yet. Besootssing is composed of about 25 or 30 log houses scattered around, but there is a good station and it is about the only decent looking building in the town. It just seems like one of those mining villages you read of there is no order at all, I thought I struck a rough place when I was here a few days but I soon got used to it. There is lots of whiskey flowing around and you know what that does in place like this. I work nights and I find it quite different from what I had to do in Lindsay. I like railway business very well so far, so long as I get lots of copyring to keep my hand in I am all right.

I see the Lindsay curiers were defeated in Ottawa this year; that's too bad, but I suppose they don't expect such luck as they have had every long trip they ge.

I has been very cold here this winter it has gone as far as 45 and 50 degrees below zero and that is pretty cold and there is have amount of snow also. Well as I have here, but I have only seen a small portion of it, and that is nothing but hills and bush, I don't think any good for farming but can't say about lumbering; and for hundreds of miles farther west you find the same kind of country. But one can't form any idea of a place in the winter time. There is a lot of hunting
