Thornt n, Dean, Si wood, Cawthorne and Henderson conduc ed the musical department. Miss Black well. Mrs. McPherson, Mr. Parsons and some others rendered excellent music vocal and instrumental. Inspector Knight and Messrs. Hughes and MacMurchy, of Lindsay, and Sherwood, of Omemee, game readings; but the most attractive part of the entertainment was the tableaux These were exceptionally fine and reflected much credit on all those taking part. As a rule the first time tableaux or in fact anything is presented is usually considered the best but with Omemee tableaux the reverse is the case. First was a pict group made up of Mrs. Sheppard, Misse L. Johnston, S. Adams, E. Stephenson and Daisy Stephenson and Messrs. B Adams, J. B atty, J. English, J. A. Tan ner and L Hanna. There were several others in the party but they were of boating. One could readily imagine himself actually at an Omemee picnic. Following the "picnic" came a beautiful "B uquet of Natural Flowers" and really it was a charming scope. Omemee is one of those villages where girls are pretty from childhood to maturity. These flowers were Misses M Clark, M. Davidson, K. Johnston, F. McPherson, El nott, O McQuade, N. Evans, F. M.

Misses Timms, Curry, E. Stephenson and D. Stephenson with Messrs. Hanna Adams and Sandy portrayed the title to a nicety. The costumes in this as in every other tableau were excellent.

In "Auld Lang Syne" Mrs. Sheppard,

"Rebecca at the well" was well performed by Miss E. Stephenson and Mr. J. In some respects the best two of the evening were "spoons" and Rule Britannia. In "spoons" Lieut. Thornton made an excellent spoon and no wonder; everyone envied him—his spoon. In "Rule Britannia" before the curtain rose the old song of the same name was sung and the the tableau.
