Mr. W. M. The Oddfellows of Lindsay formed in order at their rooms last Sunday morning and marched to the Methodist church.

There Rev. M. L. Pearson delivered very appropriate sermon, illustrative of both Easter, and Oddfellowship. The reverend gentleman is, we believe, him-self an Oddfellow. After service the business was at a stand still last year Mr.

McIlvanie decided to close up; preferring acveral encores. The Telgmann brothers and sisters on piano, violins, viols, flute, etc., fully sustained their high reputation. Everything was good, only we think an intermixture of good comic songs or selections would vary the program and make it more enjoyable. The company can always count on a good Lindsay house.

Their feelings were too deep. But when Bates comes "marching home again" then there will be a different note. The incident at the station, the large crowd of citizens to sav "goodbye" and "God speed you Bates," all showed how deep a hold that estimable gentleman has on his friends' and companious' affections.

enterprise, has added ten latest improved sewing machines to his factory. Ask to see Ritchie's great 10c. line of white cotton.-19.2. The Scott Act comes in force in Vistor-

Col. Stephenson, of Montreal, one of the aldermen of that city, was in Lindsay last Saturday and Sunday on business connected with closing up his interest in the old Paper Mill company. The colonel looks as hearty as ever and can still spin as good a yarn and crack as good a joke as ever.

Messrs. Peter and Neil McEachern masters in Toronto Collegiate Institute, have been during Easter week visiting friends in Eldon. These young gentlemen are among the most promising of Eldon's scholars. Their success has been owing to their perseverance and ability, coupled with sterling integrity.

S. J. Petty, (the jeweler,) would call the attention of the readers of THE WAR-DER to the enclosed circular. He has just received a full line m all numbers of those celebrated spectacles, and at prices lower than goods sold of much inferior quality. Call and be convinced.—14-tf.

A story goes the rounds about two citizens quarreling over some hens. One killed his neighbor's hens, when the owner assaulted the hen butcher, cutting his hand severely. Such conduct sug-gests the idea that those men have some qualifications entitling them to be classed as fit for residence in central Africa. The cases were aired in the police court, where heavy hnes were levied. The town was busy on Saturday last. Very many teachers were in for a holiday. Prominent among the number are:—Miss
