PRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1886.

The Baby's Prayer.

she length with her aweet hands inded ;
for fair little head bowed low;
While dead vines tapped at the window
And the air was thick with snow.
Without, earth dumb with winter;
Within, hearts dumb with care;
And up through the leaden silence
Bose softly the baby's prayer.

Pie breath of the mood and blossome

Pie the breath of the spril green,

Or the breath of the snow between?

"The heartiful tree," she whispered,
"Where the oricles used to sing;
They are thred of the cold, white winter,
Oh help them to grow in Spring;
And the flowers that I leved to gather,
Lord, bring them again in May;
The dear little violets, sleeping
Down deep in the ground to day."

And hearts may be chill with anowhales, And hearts may be cold with care, but wastes of a frozen allence.

Are prosent by the haby's prayer;

And the lips that were dumb with sorrow In jubilant liops may sing;
For when earth is wrapped in Winter,
In the heart of the Lord 'the spring,

Allow M. Riddy.
