

He will run a boot and shoe factory here, and will reside here permanently.

Mrs. Conrad Rose, of South Glamorgan, died suddenly last Sunday morning of paralysis it is supposed. Her remains were interred in the Gooderham cemetery the following Tuesday, brother Sault officiating in the absence of Rev. J. Byham.

By the by, it is rumored that a liquid nerve stimulant called by its imbibers "moxie," is being sold here sub Rosa. Whither it is the genuine article or not I cannot say, but I can vouch its exhilarating effects on the human system. A word to the wise is sufficient. INQUISITOR.

DESERONTO

Special to The Warrier.

DESERONTO is a village of about 2,500 inhabitants, situated on the banks of the Bay of Quinte, 18 miles from Belleville and Picton, 30 miles from Kingston and about 7 miles from Napanee. There is no place twice its size in Canada doing the business that is done, all managed and directed by the well-known firm, The Rathbun Company. The big mill employs about 500 men and boys and turns out each day 225,000 feet of lumber, 100,000 lath, heading and pickets; superintended by J. W. Dexter. The mechanical engineer is James Davis. He has charge of all steam boilers of the different departments, steamboats and locomotives. The engineer of the big mill is James Martin, assisted by Isaac Scrimshaw. The large blacksmith shop comes next with 7 large furnaces running the year round on repairs for the different establishments. Mr. Pickett is foreman in this department. The machine shop next with several lathes repairing and doing new work for all departments and railroads belonging to the firm, and steamboats also, is managed by James Whitton. The sash, door and blind factory employs about 100 men and boys, turning out 200 doors besides blinds, sash, stair railing, and nearly every fancy work in wood; managed by Wm. Irvine. The cedar mill next turns out 40,000 feet of lumber per 11 hours, 1,500 ties, 3,000 fence posts, 15,000 lath paving blocks, pail blocks, pickets, etc., 100,000 shingles, 5,000 heading; superintended by Mr. F. Roach, jr.; the shingle department by Mr. Wm. Bick, the well-known shingle maker; and yard department by Mr. E. H. Cooke. The flour mill turns out about 200 barrels each day. This mill runs night and day and does a tremendous business, and is superintended by Mr. R. Rayburn. The Chemical Works is making extensive repairs, building charcoal furnaces, supplies gas to different mills and the village main streets. Mr. French is the manager of these Works. The Big Store does a wonderful trade. This establishment is managed by Mr. A. A. Richardson. There are steamers running from Trenton, Belleville, Picton, Kingston and Napanee, touching here twice each day, namely Quinte, Gipsy, Hero, Varuna, Reindeer, Annie Cuthbert and Armenia. The two steam barges owned by the Rathbun Co. run to Oswego, N. Y., three times each week. Ralace carries 175,000 ft. and Resolute 350,000 ft. each trip with sailing vessels. There has been over 1,000,000 ft. B. M. handled there in one day. The Bay of Quinte Railway runs out of there making sharp connections with all trains on G. T. R., and the number of loaded cars that leave each day is surprising. One day last week they turned out 62 cars heavily loaded, principally with railway ties manufactured in one day. Mr. H. B. Rathbun is the head shipper, assisted by Mr. A. H. McCaughy and Mr. M. Murrigan. The superintendent of the railway is Mr. Brown and conductor on trains Mr. T. Caughlin. It is a thriving place, splendid market, four beautiful churches, namely, Presbyterian, Methodist, English and Roman Catholic; four hotels, O'Connor House, Deseronto, Empress and Ferguson. Being in direct communication with the world's markets everything can be had at a most reasonable rate. I forget to mention in connection with factory there is a large dry kiln with a capacity of 200,000 ft. This is managed by Mr. Charles Vidor.

An Onward March.

We take the following from the West Durham News:

A curious and momentous problem is being worked out in the onward march of the Roman Catholic religion not only in the Old Country but here. There is no disguising or denying about the fact of the Home Rule question for Ireland, being simply and wholly in the interests of the Roman Catholic church and for the purpose of separating Ireland from Great Britain, and making it a dependency of the Pope, and for crushing out the Protestant religion there, and only for the loyalty of Lord Hartington and other like minded men of the Liberal party, who preferred patriotism to party, this great calamity could not have been averted except by means involving a struggle fearful to contemplate. Ireland has changed marvellously from what it used to be when called "the Isle of Saints." In the Irish Times of the 20th of September last, we read as follows: "Limerick Gaelic Sports. The first series of these sports, which are to extend over three succeeding Sundays, were held on the Market-fil. On next Sunday there will be hurling and foot ball matches, and on the third Sunday a band competition." What a contrast to the words "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath FROM DOING THY PLEASURE on my holy day," &c. A few days ago Archbishop Walsh in a Court of Justice in Dublin, refused to be sworn on the Testament, and stated boldly that he did not believe in the English Testament! Lawrence Morisy, a Roman Catholic priest, said in 1815: "Let the Government grant the Roman Catholic claims, and they will unsheath the inquisitorial sword, and unsull the rack and torture. Let the Government give them unqualified emancipation and they will sap the very foundations of the British Constitution. Let our Government admit Roman Catholic bishops into the Imperial House of Parliament, and they will establish the Holy Inquisition in the British Empire." The other day a bishop in addressing his flock, asked them to discontinue the outrages they as Moonlighters were perpetrating, as it was hindering the much desired scheme of Home Rule, and stated from his pulpit that he knew each one concerned in them. And so no doubt he did, but he would not tell the police. No wonder the Protestants are willing and ready to lay down their lives rather than submit to Home Rule. Enough at present, about Ireland. Let us look nearer home. At the election lately held in Quebec, the so called Opposition defeated the Government, every member returned on the Opposition side being a Roman Catholic, and the only two of the party who were professed Protestants, were defeated by their own friends. And pats of praise came from among us for this so-called victory, and congratulatory telegrams are sent from Protestant political leaders among us, expressing joy and gratitude for the result. Surely this is licking the hand that will one day smite us with a rod of iron.

Britain's Voice Heard

LONDON, NOVEMBER 1.—The Cabinet at the first council since the recess, decided to instruct Sir Wm. White, the British ambassador at Constantinople to consider the Bulgarian question and to demand the suspension of Russian intervention, diplomatic and active, pending the sessions of such conference. The Porte is renewing its entente cordiale with England, and is in favor of the proposed conference. Italy concurs, while Russia and France oppose the project, Germany and Austria remain neutral.

On Tuesday the 29th ult. Mr. Henry O'Dowd, postmaster at Ennismore, was found dead in a wood whither he had gone to chop some fire-wood. Heart disease is the supposed cause of death.
