IRONDALE.

Special to The Warder.

Loads of deer are passing here almost daily. I counted nearly sixty in one day. Surely the votaries of Nimrod will return another season after such luck as they have had this year.

Mrs. Barr, who has been seriously ill for some time, is recovering, thanks to the skilful treatment of Dr. Frost, of Kinmount.

Miss F. Grace, of your town, who has successfully taught our school here, has finished her term and gone to Lindsay. She will be much missed here; her quiet, unassuming and Christian deportment made her many friends. It was thought she would have made this her home permanently; but this, it seems, was wrong, for our literary friend is still busily engaged with his pen. He must be invulnerable.

Our chairman is improving, and we hope soon to see him ruddy again.

Betting on the railway is the latest craze now. One of our railway magnates stands to lose heavily should the iron horse fail to reach Irondale by the 15th of next month. Pay day saw each man receive his dues. The boarding houses are packed; and still the men keep coming, and no place to take them.

Surveyors are busily engaged laying out the road from here to Gooderham.

Miller Bros. & Co., contractors, are here endeavoring to secure a contract.

We had the pleasure of seeing the method of discipline used on one of our benedictine friends to reduce him to that state of submission which should make him subject to the powers that be. We took our departure sadder if not wiser, regretting very much that our free and enlightened rulers do not follow the policy of that African prince, who kept an army corps which was recruited especially from such turbulent and Amazonian spirits. Truly a state of single blessedness is preferable. The queen should reign but not govern.

BALLYDUFF.

Special to the Warder.

Most of our readers are aware that this thriving village is situated on the 6th concession of Manvers, on the leading road from Lindsay to Pontypool. This village boast of two churches, where twice every Sabbath can be heard the word of God; also a parsonage, school house, blacksmith's forge, carpenter shop, a place where the shoemaker works, and lastly but not least the general store and post office, kept by Mr. J. C. Williamson. Lately great enquiries have been made as to where this place is, on account of the great bargains offered by our worthy storekeeper in fall and winter dry goods, groceries, teas, etc. Highest prices in cash paid for butter and eggs. Intending purchasers cannot do better than call and see his goods before going elsewhere.

Our brass band serenaded Janetville and vicinity on Friday evening, 19th ult.

The following lines are penned to suit the church crisis at the Galloway appointment:—

Through the shadows we are creeping,
And we utter not a sound,
While you are your virgils keeping,
In our meshes you are bound.

Now we hold you safely under,
By the patience of our will—
And with cords you may not sunder—
Twisted quite beyond your skill.

Helpless now and made compliant,
As we choose you work or play;
So they forced old Israel's giant,
When they stole his strength away.

To our service you are plastic,
Be we grave or be we gay—
You must join in scenes fantastic—
Or amid grim terrors stay.

Would you all our bondage brighten?
And a pastime make the whole?
Rather let His wisdom brighten
All the chambers of our soul.
