THE FARMER WHO PLANS.—The farmer who plans is the farmer who succeeds. No man can fail to recall some enterprise to which he had given careful thought and study, wherein his planning was the secret of his success. And not the least advantage of his carefulness was the comfortable testing of triumph over obstacles by dist of what we may call strategy and at the smooth working and handsome results of forethought and method. The feeling is most natural one, and attende every sort.

VITALIZED AIR AND ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

—In the use of vitalized air and gas for extracting teeth without pain. Mr. Gross has been pronounced more uniformly successful than the average of dentists in the Midland district who are using them. His ability to discriminate between those who should and those who should not take them; the care observed in their administration, and the absence of anything like unnecessary injury to gume or jaw, are the principle causes of his success. The insertion of artificial teeth is a branch of dentistry in the practice of which Mr. Gross is also very successful. He will make you a set of teeth, beautiful and lifelike in appearance, serviceable and comfortable, and that will never wear out. Call on Mr. Gross, and see a set of the much talked of artificial teeth without plates.—78-1.
