THE Orange sermon here, was delivered as announced on last Sahnath, all the members being present. The subject chosen was very appropriate; and strong and brief the application. The pleasing part of the service to many was the fact that some put in appearance, who never do only on similar occasions. Those who feel the church upon their backs the most rejetes that there is still a hope for Labor and Strong Drink.

n a manufacturing town in Rhode and, an employer paid his workmen 100 on Saturday night in new bills caretly marked. On the which he everetly marked. On the sellowing Monday $450 of these marked bills were deposited in the bank by saloon keepers. The same experiment has been tried in this city with the seant, and it would probably the same result, and it would probably turn out the same way in all other cities. Mr. Powderly was none too severe when he spoke of rum being the curse of labor; but, unfortunately, he nor anyone else except the laborer can remove the curse. It is safe to say that at least eixty-five per cent. of labor's wages go to the saloop keepers, if not in the interval between Saturday night and Monday morning, then during the remainder of the week. Henry George says that rent-paying keeps men poor, but very few men, and only the foolish ones, pay more than twenty-five per cent. of their team leak carnings for rent. If the rum leak was stopped the rent would be the least part of the expenditure. The laborer does not often dally with figures, but if he will only keep an expense diary for a single month and read the lines aloud at the end of that period ve assure him that he will be arprised if not converted. At least it will to no harm to try the experiment.-Philadelphia Call.
