FRIDAY, SEPT. 9, 1887.

EDEN—MARIPOSA.

Special to The Warder.

SCHOOL.—Our genial school teacher Mr. Fair, is at his work again, looking well after his holidays.

THE PULPIT.—Rev. Mr. Anderson is again able to take his work; we are pleased to see him looking better than when he was last with us Sorry there was not more to hear him preach.

EXCURSION.—Some of the Edenites availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting Bobcaygeon camp-meeting, and hearing Rev. E. A. Stafford speak. They were so charmed, they stopped over night.

THRESHING seems to be the order of the day; three machines in our neighborhood at one time, all seem to be giving very good satisfaction.

FARMERS busy plowing and sowing fall wheat. Everything seems to be rushing just now.

ISLAY.

Special to The Warder.

CHURCH MATTERS.—Mr. MacDonald pastor of the Presbyterian church who has been absent for some time on a trip to the old country, is expected to conduct the services on Sunday. During his absence we have had good preaching, last Sunday the pulpit was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Oakwood. He delivered an effective sermon to a large and attentive congregation.

ACCIDENT.—What might have terminated in a serious accident happened to Alex. Carmichael. It appears as he was crossing from the scaffold to beam in the barn, he, owing to some misfortune missed his footing and fell a distance of some twelve or fifteen feet on the hard floor beneath. One wrist was partly fractured, the other badly sprained while some slight injuries were received about the head and face. He is gradually improving although as yet quite deprived of the use of his hands.

PERSONALS.—Mrs. Blalock and son, of Omemee and Miss Gilchrist, of Woodville, enjoying a few days visit with Islay friends.....Miss Lily Gilchrist has returned to Beaverton to resume her duties as teacher.

PICNIC.—No. 9 Sabbath school picnic to-day. Let us hear from Islay?

MILLBROOK.

HYMENEAL.—One of the most fashionable marriages which has occurred in our quiet village for some time, was that of Miss Annie Staples, the eldest daughter of the late Wm. Staples Esq., to Mr. R. H. Kelle, of the firm of Kelle, Fowler & Co. The ceremony took place in St. Thomas' Church, and the nuptial knot was tied by the Rev. Rural Dean Allen, assisted by the Rev. W. C. Allen. The front seats were reserved for the relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. The bride was attended by Miss Lillian Burton, while the groom was supported by Mr. W. A. Smith. The interior of the church was handsomely decorated with choice flowers at the hands of the Sunday School teachers, assisted by Mrs. W. C. Allen. This formed a pleasing feature as both were teachers in the school, and was but a small tribute to their worth. After the service the happy pair took carriage for Cavanville, en route to Montreal, viâ C.P.R. The good wishes of their friends and the enthusiastic accompaniments, (boots and rice), followed them. May their lives be one uninterrupted stream of happiness. The presents were numerous and valuable. Mr. R. J. Byers, took some excellent photographic views of the church and decorations.

NOTES.—Quite a number of our townsmen attended the funeral of the late H. B. Weller Esq.....Miss Eliza Atkins, daughter of Mr. Henry Atkins, passed quietly away on Monday evening last. Her remains were followed to their last abode by a large concourse of friends.....Fee's Hotel and Mr. John Gillott's new building are nearly completed.....The leaves are rapidly changing color and soon the "winter of our discontent" will be upon us.—Port Hope Times.

OMEMEE.

ON SATURDAY last Messrs. I. W. Lucas, R. Parker, J. H. Fisher and H. Nesbitt, of Ballieboro, came to Omemee as a deputation to purchase a new fire engine manufactured by Messrs Evans nad Redpath, at the Omemee foundry. The engine was tested in the afternoon of the same day and proved very satisfactory to the gentlemen present.

LAST WEEK Mr. J. T. Beatty left Omemee for Port Hope where he has secured a situation in Mr. Barrett's Roller Mill. We wish him success in his new home.

FALL FAIR.—At a meeting of the Emily Agricultural Society held Wednesday evening it was decided to hold the Fall Fair on Wednesday and Thursday, September 28th and 29th. Now let every member prepare and feel it is a duty to show something. The more entries the bigger fair.—Herald.

UPHILL.

Special to The Warder.

VISITORS.—Miss McRae, of Toronto, and Miss and Mrs. Scott, of Winnipeg, were visiting at the house of our esteemed friends, Mr. and Mrs. Jno. A. McRae, for the past fortnight. They took their departure on the 24th inst.

THE household of Mr. Samuel Fisher has also been the recipient of a visitor in the person of a pretty little baby girl. All progressing splendidly, and Sam. is greatly elated.

ROAD REPAIRING.—The Ontario government is having four hundred dollars expended upon the Monk road eastward from this place. Mr. Mumberson, of Bexley, has been entrusted with the expenditure of the money, and so far has used to the best advantage. Who will get the credit for this? John A. Barron, or the person entitled to it—Mr. Fell?

FOREST FIRES.—The fires have done little damage in this neighborhood, excepting the burning of several tons of marsh hay, which will cause scarcity of fodder with many of the farmers, as the straw crop is somewhat short, owing to the long drought. All danger is not yet past, as the fire is raging in many places contiguous to the settlement, and may break upon us at any moment.

WOODVILLE.

Special to the Warder.

Miss Mary Annis, of this place, took a first class A. certificate at the recent examination at Toronto. It appears that only two females took the mathematical course, or applied for a first A., and in that Miss Annis was successful, which speaks very highly, not only for her ability, but for her application in those studies which are supposed by many, to be beyond the reach of female attainment. We shall certainly expect something more than ordinary from such a praiseworthy beginning. We understand she leaves home again for school on Monday. Mr. Levi Annis, brother of the above, passed a very creditable examination, taking a second class certificate, and we hear that he has left for the U.S., believing it to be a better field in which to push his fortune than the Dominion, and that it is the intention of his clever sister to follow him soon. It appears to be the opinion of many of our young people, that they can do better under the Stars and Stripes, than our beloved Union Jack, which has been the pride and boast of so many of us. The Americans do not annex our country, we can happily prevent that, but they do that which is infinitely worse, and we seem powerless to offer either resistance, or a remedy, and that is, they are taking away our most enterprising native born, to grow up a nationality that so far as it is democratic or republican, is opposed to us. The Canadian at home appears to be only a colonist without any national feeling, he takes little or no stock in that which is the pride of his old country neighbors; he is rather annoyed by it, as he cannot see that it applies to him, but let him cross over the border, he at once becomes a citizen, and feels that he is a part and parcel of a great nation. Is our love of monarchy and monarchical institutions to be confined to those who have not energy or ambition enough to leave the old homestead when they have grown up? So it appears unless something is done, which has not yet been tried to prevent it.

LINDEN VALLEY.

Special to The Warder.

MR. EDITOR,—There seems to be a sad misunderstanding about the little incident which occurred at the Quaker picnic this summer. If I mistake not, the Post stated that "two boys very rudely jumped from the California swing when it was in motion, endangering the lives of others in the swing." Now, sir, this statement I declare to be an unmitigated falsehood, because I happen to know the FACTS of the affair. Not wishing to enlist in anything so thoroughly disgusting as the "Spooney Order," two of our boys very kindly took it upon themselves to entertain the juniors, by swinging, who were being sadly neglected by the seniors, because our boys saw that the Elm Grove Temperance boys had fully decided not to entertain any but the Elm Grove girls, so considering themselves LUCKY rather than LEFT, (as the item in last week's WARDER stated) our boys worked away faithfully, trying to hide their disgust at some of the actions of those who in a great measure considered themselves the bon-ton of the gathering, when some unloading of the boxes of the swing caused them both to catch the box, and as their weight was not sufficient to hold it down, they were carried up about 25 or 30 feet. Rather than dangle in the air they climbed into the box, where some of the Elm Grove rustlers, as I am forced to call them, very ungentlemanly commenced insulting them by poking pokes and sticks at them. Not wishing to take such treatment from those so very much their inferiors, they took their leave by jumping out, but not I can truly state, "when the swing was in motion," nor yet when the lives of any of the occupants of the other boxes were endangered. Nor did they make any ungentlemanly remarks upon leaving the swing, any more than "for all their labor that was all the thanks they got."

Where we blame our boys is "casting their pearls before swine," for surely they might have known the result. We hope the Elm Grove young people will in future be more careful of their actions, and not be a laughing stock for the public.

[We hope the young people will make matters up and come to a sensible understanding. A few words of private conversation would settle all the affair, and make true friends of what may become enemies over trifles. ED. WARDER.

Low Prices Along With Reciprocity.

The Hamilton Spectator quotes one of the Grit annexation papers as saying that no wonder the farmers are sighing for the good old reciprocity days, when they were "literally coining money." To which the Spectator thus replies:

So! We had "the good old reciprocity days" in 1857. Following is a comparison of some prices ruling in the latter part of 1857 with prices now ruling:

	1857.	1887.
Wheat	75	75
Barley	50	50
Oats	30	36
Peas	50 to 63	50 to 55
Potatoes	50 to 63	75
Beef	5 to 5½	5 to 6
Mutton	5 to 6	6 to 7
Pork	6 to 8	6½

We have it on the unimpeachable authority of our Reform friend that the farmer was "coining money" in 1857. Very well, why does he not coin money now, when prices are just as good as they were then? We don't want all of our commercial annexation neighbors to speak at once; but we should like just one or two of them to tell us why farmers cannot live in 1887 at prices which enabled them to coin money thirty years ago.

It may be as well for us to add a little more to what The Spectator gives us about the good old reciprocity times aforesaid. Well, the Reciprocity Treaty dated from 1854, and in 1857 had been two years in operation. Now, in that very year, 1857, Canada or at all events the two old Provinces (Ontario and Quebec) got the severest visitation of hard times it EVER got, except perhaps about the time of the rebellion. There was a great shrinkage in real estate, in fact a perfect collapse. The shrinkage was tremendous; men who thought they really were worth something, all at once found out that they were worth nothing. This was going on all during 1857, and a good part of 1858; although relief came ere 1858 was over. And it might do the men of this generation good to post themselves as to the events of that critical time, and what it was exactly that happened then. Much may still be found recorded in the columns of The Toronto Globe and Leader, and The Hamilton Spectator.

That time of dire distress for both Upper and Lower Canada was remarkable for one thing—the establishment of protection in the country. The scene of the agitation was chiefly Toronto, Hamilton, London and other towns in the west; and the head of the movement was the late Hon. Isaac Buchanan. Most of the actors in the work are now gone; but among the very few who still remain are Mr. Wm. Weir, now to be found as a banker, on St. Francois-Xavier-street, Montreal. (He was then, however, resident in Toronto, and publisher of The Canadian Merchants' Magazine here). The present Minister of Customs, Mr. Bowell, also took a prominent part in what was done. Others there are still living, though 'tis thirty years since; and scarcely any but those who were then in the prime of life took hold of the movement.

The work was done somewhat as follows: Meetings of business men were held at Toronto, Hamilton, London and other centres. Everybody knew that the movers were agitating for protection; and yet, wonderful to tell. The Globe did not oppose them very much in the demand. The leading business men of Montreal were favorable; though what precisely they did to help on we are unable now to say. At that time we had Sir John Macdonald in the first place in the Government, same as now, with the the late Sir George Cartier in the second place. Hon William Cayley, still to be seen on the streets of Toronto, was in charge of the finances, and was then called Inspector-General. The business men who were putting the agitation through held frequent meetings to discuss what changes would best suit; having already been assured by Sir John that the Government would agree to "anything in reason," so to speak, as the Cambridge carter said respecting his horse. Parliament was not sitting in Toronto that year, and it sat late during the summer (1858), too. At last the merchants had their policy finished and agreed upon, and it was adopted by the Government without alteration. And this was how Canada (old Canada), got her first measure of Protection or National Policy.

In connection with all this there is just one point especially worthy of our PRESENT attention, now that RECIPROCITY is up again. Well, this spell of terrible hard times was in 1857-58, while the old Treaty was just two years old, and when it was working beautifully. And yet that sufficed to save the country from one of the worst "spells" it ever KNEW. The hard times came on in the early part of 1857, just when the Reciprocity Treaty was about two years old. The remedial act was passed either in or near to August, 1858; and it was a while after that before relief came. Then our farmers had the American market open to them, free of duty; and yet we had hard times; truly times to be remembered. It is in order now for the Reciprocity cranks to explain why their cure-all did not suffice for the country's needs in 1857-58.—Toronto World.

CAVAN.

Special to the Warder.

FARMERS have finished the work of the harvest, and are busy preparing to sow fall wheat. We live in anticipation of a harvest home gathering.

A PICNIC was held on Cavanville base ball grounds on Saturday, 27th. There was a large crowd of spectators to see the match game between Cavanville and Garden Hill base ball clubs, which resulted in an easy victory for the Garden Hill boys. After the game was over the ladies prepared a grand supper for all. We were surprised that we did not have roast chicken, when the umpire called fowl so often. The ladies have the thanks of the base-ball club for the success of the picnic.

THERE is a great abundance of fruit in this locality, especially of the plum. Why does Jim think the gages that grow on the ninth line are better than any other? Is it because the ladies help to gather them? He should not stop out late. Beware of wild animals and cross dogs.

Now is the time to go camping out, and enjoy fishing and shooting at Rice lake. Quite a number of pleasure seekers going this week. Say, Will, what about going next Thursday?

I WONDER if it is convenient to practice singing with the choir.....Who is the new mash at the picnic Saturday?

MR. John Walker, of Fleetwood, is visiting his friends in Cavan.

IT is strange this glorious climate does not agree with the Michigander.

"Well, well—the world must turn upon its axis, and all mankind turn with it, heads or tails; and live and die, make love and pay your taxes," is the Byron looked at it; but "it is not all of live to live." A healthy life is the only one "worth living for," and that "depends on the liver." If the liver is not in working order, pimples, blotches, skin diseases scrofula, catarrh, and a long list of dangerous diseases result. "Make love; pay taxes," but above all, get Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," and free your system of all impurities of the blood by restoring your liver to healthy action. By druggists.—90-1.
