NON-RESISTANCE IN IRELAND.

Mr. Blake has been in Ireland; he has spoken; and his words were treason and anarchy. He rode in the procession with O'Brien et al; and encouraged the Irish rebels to resist payment of their rent.

No thinking man but knows the cry of poverty and inability to pay rent is only a passive form of rebellion against Britain; but Mr. Blake, evidently bent on assuming the leadership of the Irish party, makes a bold bid for a consolidation of the Irish vote in Canada.

As we have again and again shown, rentals in Ireland are on an average 30c. to 60c. an acre less than Ontario tenants pay; but the cry is up all the same.

The following illustrates how the "poor Irish" are oppressed:— "The 'Pig' is in operation on the estate of Sir Wm. Ross Mackay, in County Dubhlin, and the particulars with reference to some of the holdings for which the landlord has been compelled to bring ejectment proceedings:—

- 1. Pat Nease, yearly rent, £1; good estate house. He lets the premises to loyal Irish Constabulary at £20 a baruck.
2. Pat Nease, £1 5s; 3-story stone house. Tenant resides on premises, which consist of dwelling house and shop and out-buildings, where telegraph, money order and savings bank business is transacted.
3. Pat Nease, yearly rent, £1 5s 6d; 2-story stone house. Tenant resides on the premises, where he carries on business as a publican.
4. John Nolan, yearly rent, £1; 3-story stone house. Tenant lets these premises as party sessions court-house.
5. Mary Conolly, yearly rent, £1; 2-story stone house and shop. Tenant carries on the trade of butcher.
The above are all in the village of Aherbeg, and ejectments were served on them on 20th February.

ABROAD VIEWS: WHAT ARE THEY

Frequently one hears another charged with narrowness of view and of mind, because he may take a certain line of action on a public question. For instance the Globe, and other semi-Fenian, semi-annexation journals, have tried to create a prejudice against THE WARDER by stating we take a narrow view of the roman catholic influence in politics. May be we are narrow. Let us see, however.

Noble Britishers strove for years, ay, centuries, to establish government independent of roman catholicism. Noble men fought in legislative halls, and on fields of battle, to assert that Rome's influence was inimical to constitutional government. They secured for a free parliament, freely elected by free men. We stand by those principles to-day.

Constitutional government, the free will of the people, expressed under the broad light of reason, is supposed to be that under which Canadians exist.

To allow electors to be driven to the polls by priests, wire-pullers, saloon-keepers, or demagogues of any type, is clearly without the domain of constitutional government. Further, to have an executive under the direction and guidance of any church or class not representing the individual wills of the people, is merely a mockery of government. Every citizen, be he romanist, methodist, or of any race or country, should, provided he obeys the laws and pays the necessary taxes, be able to vote according to the convictions of his own conscience, and not after the dictates of the priest, saloon-keeper, or any other person.

Now, that we call breadth of view. Nothing can be broader. But let us see what the Globe calls "breadth of view." To allow the Executive of a province to be manipulated by a roman catholic hierarch requires "breadth of view." To permit the Educational system of the country to be sacrificed to the same priest's whims is also "breadth" acting. To ponder for anarchist, labor, roman catholic, irish, and every other dissatisfied, disloyal, or "agin-the-government" vote, is also, according to that old lady, Deneon Cameron, of the Globe, "breadth of view." The "Good-Lord anything-to-get-Sir-John-out" kind of argument, scandal, misrepresentation, treason, lying, vilification, slander, almost everything short of murder, is also considered by the same old lady, "breadth of thought." She also demonstrates that declaring black is white; blue, red; and all green, is "depth of brain."

That poor old Grumpy Globe! Your glory has long since departed.

The stuffed figure of the Pope, which the Globe, in trying to be funny, said we had in our office, was merely a dream of the old lady's. She was thinking of the days when one or two were kept in the Globe garage, and when all in the old office regularly practiced on them. We assure the old lady, the Globe, that no stuffed figure of the Pope, of Gladstone, of the death of the Irish party, or any other of the evil things that in the past for a while deluded humanity by appeals to superstition, animosity, jealousy, or treason, find a place in our enclosure. Reason, based on a cautious consideration of the past, and also of the future, is the directing power. And here we patently promise, if the Globe can convince us that in the dream and one "top-over" it and its prey have taken in the last ten years, there has been a trace of honesty of purpose, or of just reason, we will acknowledge that the Deacon has some "breadth of intellect."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Judge O'Connor is dead.

Mr. Mevler, premier of Quebec, favors a union of Church and State. But which church?

Mr. Chamberlain has arrived in New York, and is welcomed by all genuine Americans.

Judge Benson, of Port Hope, has been promoted to the senior judgeship, vacated by Judge Clark. He deserves the promotion.

To-day the Chicago Anarchists swing. That is how the Yankees treat such fellows. Britain and Canada allow them to sit in parliament.

The Edison road diagram on another page fully explains itself. The council were endeavoring to follow the line of Messrs. Smith, Lumsden and Deane.

Judge Clark, of Northumberland and Durham, has resigned his commission and accepted the editorship of the Canadian Pacific Railway at a salary of $16,000 annually.

The name of Adam Hudspeth, Esq., Q. C., M. P., is spoken of as one of the probable judges of the Superior Court. He would be an ornament to any Bench, and would undoubtedly make a worthy Justice. But Mr. Hudspeth is not seeking the office.

Farmers of Victoria district are beginning to improve and adorn their properties by planting fruit trees and shrubbery. There is room for great improvement still. Grapes, apples, pears and plums, besides small fruits, do exceedingly well in this district.

Mr. Justice Armour has been promoted to be Chief Justice, in the place of Sir Adam Wilson, who recently resigned. Justice Armour is an able and conscientious judge, and richly deserves his promotion. He received many congratulations here this week on his good fortune.

Robert Bryans, Esq., chairman of Town Property, advances for tenders for the erection of a bell tower in town. The changes Mr. Bryans is about to accomplish are important and of advantage to Lindsay. The fire hall will be at the market, and there the hose, etc., will be kept.

The resolution passed by Lindsay Board of Trade, published in another column, states briefly the great advance this town has made this year. And the Board of Trade deserves credit for much of the progress, it having been instrumental in effecting the amicable arrangements with the Grand Trunk railway.

Sir Charles Tupper was elected yesterday by the modest majority of 1,301 from two places to four from which will increase his majority. That is poor consolation for Commercial Unionists, for Sir Charles openly opposed it, and stated Canada would retain her independence though ready for a reciprocity treaty with the States or any other country on terms favorable to Canada.

As THE WARDER predicted last winter, the practice of combining the duties of deputy adjutant general and commandant of the schools of military instruction under one officer, having been tried in No. 2, Toronto, military district, has proven a failure. Col. Otter has found it impossible to perform all the duties, hence Col. Gray has been appointed brigade major. To our mind the connection between the executive of the district and that of the schools should be still more distinct. The D. A. G. should not be directly an official of the school. The matter of expense is the same one way as the other; while of centralization and red-tape the advantage is all on the side of the old plan, which prevented both.

John Macdonald, Esq., of Toronto, the well known dry goods merchant and philanthropist, has been appointed senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator McMaster. Mr. Macdonald is an independent Liberal; but has always adhered strictly to principle in politics, hence is largely in accord with much of the legislation of Sir John A. Macdonald. His acceptance of the honorable position marks the union now rapidly taking place in Canada between independent Reformers and Liberal-Conservatives. Whether the rigid, almost inflexible nature of the dry goods merchant will adapt itself to political life is a question; but the great spirit of philanthropy shown by Mr. Macdonald gives assurance that he will be what everyone hopes and expects, viz., an ornament and a great acquisition to the Senate. Sir John and the country are to be congratulated on the appointment.

BIBLE SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of Anti-Fry Branch Bible Society, was held in the Christian Church, on Wednesday evening, Dr. Vrooman the president of the local society in the chair. Subscriptions were asked for, and collectors appointed.

PUBLIC MEETING.—The Lodge of the Ancient Order of the United Workmen meeting here, held a public meeting in the basement of the Methodist Church, on Saturday evening, 5th inst., Mr. P. Allis, M. W., in the chair. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Messrs. Pilkey, Brides, and Garbut. The choir of the church, cultivated the proceedings by appropriate music which was rendered in their best style. The choir is good at all times, but on this occasion they seemed to have surpassed previous efforts. The object of the meeting was to create a greater interest in the lodge, by showing forth the utility and necessity of life insurance at a cheap rate, as any reference to the day which is a historical one, was forbidden the speakers by one of the committee.

DEATHS.—Selden has a village like this or even larger size, been visited by the grim specter, he was the case last week. Miss Belle Buchanan, daughter of Mr. A. H. Rowland, dying on Thursday night, at the early age of eleven years, from brain fever after a few days sickness. The deceased was noted for her amiable and cheerful disposition and general favor with every one, which was testified by the large concourse that attended her remains, to the Christian cemetery on Monday. The loss of a favorite child is severely felt by the bereaved parents, this being the first death occurring in a family of twelve children. The brothers Messrs. W. I. and Alfred, came from Omaha, Neb., to attend the funeral, and two others from the eastern part of Ont. Of the whole family only one was absent, Mrs. C. Fenton, of Omaha, a circumstance in itself if nothing else, strongly marks the estimation deceased was held in by her own family. The Sabbath School children of which deceased was a member, led the way from the house of mourning to the grave, followed by a large concourse of sympathizing friends, some having come from the city and vicinity. Elders Pilkey and Garbut, conducted the funeral services.

On Friday morning, Mr. John Adams, an old and respected citizen, after partaking of breakfast, went out to take his usual morning walk, and dropped down on the sidewalk opposite his own house and was dead in ten minutes. In this case, although sudden and unexpected, yet the course was fully run, he having attained to the age of 84 years and 9 months. His remains were interred in the Methodist cemetery, on Sunday, followed by the grave by a large concourse of friends and neighbors. Rev. Mr. Brides, conducting the funeral services.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Mr. H. Peares and E. Wills, old British boys, now of Toronto, were here from Saturday evening, until Monday evening. The ladies and society of the Methodist Church, are to give a social on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, admission ten cents. A good time is expected.
