BETHANY.

Special to The Warder.

On Sunday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock, our villagers were aroused from their peaceful slumber by the alarm of fire. It proved soon that the tub and planing factory formerly Mr. Sweeney's, but latterly purchased by Mr. T. Galbraith, was in flames. The fire was so far advanced before it was discovered that nothing could be saved, the wind blowing a gale. At the time it was thought that the whole street on that side would fall a prey to the flames, but having good and willing men to manage the fire engine, the devouring monster was kept in command. A shop belonging to Mr. Ward had the shoeing smith's tools in; also the dwelling house of Mr. Kelly was scorched. The loss to Mr. Galbraith will be heavy, as he had the factory renovated and was prepared to cut lumber and shingles besides running the ordinary business. Loss about $4000, insured for $1000. We deeply sympathize with Frank, as he is a hard working and honest man.

EMILY.

To the Editor of The Warder.

DEAR SIR,—Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to respond to charges laid against Mr. Boat and myself, in your issue of February 24th. Now Mr. Editor, and ratepayers, if your correspondent is such a careful man, why not be manly and give his signature, and let the public know him? Why not include Mr. McQuade as a guilty man seeking after the R. C. vote, as well as Mr. Boat and myself?

I think your correspondent is both selfish and prejudiced. I think if he did not want to expose Mr. Spence, he would not have written what he did. Any reasonable man, when he could not get the support of only one member out of five, and that said member a relative, I think he should feel satisfied. I am sorry Mr. Spence did not give satisfaction, for he is a man I always have respected, but as I am under obligation to show no favor or partiality, I must and did look to the interest of the ratepayers. Mr. Flynn has been a tried man, and has given satisfaction, and would not do it for any less than $10; and I am satisfied the majority of ratepayers will bear us out in his appointment. I am satisfied that my record in the past will satisfy any that I am not one of those dickering characters.

Hoping I have not taken too much space in your valuable paper, I am your humble servant,

W. C. SWITZER.

To the Editor of The Warder.

DEAR SIR.—In looking over the columns of your valuable paper I happened to see the council proceedings of the township of Emily. It seems to say that Willie S. is trying to catch the R. C. vote by appointing Mr. Flynn as manager for the present year. Well Mr. Editor, whoever your correspondent has in view, I must say he has a more selfish desire in heart than Willie S. Why such a statement, or any fraud, causing elections, for in the year when he has offered to take the councillor's office the majority has been larger every year, and the year when he commenced to accept the deputy township he was put in by acclamation. If he has been the means of putting Mr. Flynn in manager for the present year I believe he has been looking to the ratepayers interest, and not for any personal or selfish motive. He is not one of those dickering men as croakers man would represent him to be, I have known him for a number of years and can safely say he is a conscientious and trustworthy man in every respect. Your correspondent says councillors ought to be independent men, and that is just what Willie S. is, not afraid to do what he believes to be for the interests of the ratepayers, whether it pleases your correspondent or not. And I think the year of the township are pretty well looked after, and Willie S. is a credit to the township which he represents. Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, I remain yours Constant Reader.

The Post and the Fisheries.

To the Editor of The Warder.

I have been highly amused at the groaning of the Canadian Post in its last two issues about the encroachment of Canada's fishery rights. Now, after reading the two very able articles on the question, I have come to the conclusion that Mr. Barr understands the Fishery question about as much as a cat does the law, but he evidently writes it up in his usual vigorous style of swearing sometimes.—Take my word for it it is all wrong, C. D. Barr tells you so. Will you tell me, Mr. Warder, wherein the Post shows the weak spots in the treaty. To give the editor of the Post some light on the subject I would refer him to Mr. Chamberlain's speech before the Canadian Club in New York as reported in the Empire of Friday the second of March, which I think will convince Mr. Barr that there's no danger of his being deprived of his fat for the satisfying of his under lobster stomach.

Barron's Bad Batter.

To the Editor of the Warder.

SIR,—It is impossible for one with even very little common sense to believe that Messrs. Dundas and Fiavelle, ever made such a wholesale charge against the butter made by the good wives and daughters of Victoria farmers. Buying wholesale damaged goods is no indication of common sense, or of business shrewdness, not to say anything about the patriotic course of helping to injure the trade of the country by inferior goods being shipped. Would it not be well for Mr. Barron on his own account to buy some of the bad butter when it has such good smearing qualities, not for foreign shipment, but for the purpose of oiling the political grit machine at Ottawa. It would be doing a good turn to limber up the party without a policy. Such a course would cause this ambitious, reckless, asserting M.P., to have the thanks of his party, they might then petition the Governor General to dub him a knight. Not with the sword would he be assisted to the honor, but with the strops of a bad butter ladle.—Barron Smear, of Butterville. Sure the likes of this gallant gentleman is no great credit to the country that had the honor of raising him. It is well for the free and independent electors of Victoria, to find out the true value of the man, they chose to take the place of a man, that with all his faults was a man in every sense of the word. It will be a good lesson for the people if they do not buy their experience too dearly. Let them show when the time comes, that they know how to vote for the knight of the butter ladle to stay at home. I remain yours truly, FREE LANCE. Napanee, March 6th, 1888.

Profits of Farming.

To the Editor of the Warder.

SIR,—Mr. Beall, in answering my letter of the 4th of February, charges me with making misstatements in which his name was connected; and as I only alluded to his essay about the average farm of Ontario, it must have been in that statement. He answers my charge that Prof Brown's and his figures, both taken from the same source, disagree, by saying that if I had said compiled my figures from the same source I would have been nearer right. Why did he not tell me how I would have been exactly right? Now I am free to admit that if I had used the word compiled it would have been better than the word taken. Still the meaning of my letter could not have been misunderstood, and I say that if Prof. Brown and Mr. Beall had compiled their figures from the same source correctly the results would have been the same, but when we find the one giving 190 acres as the average farm of Ontario, and the other nearly 100 acres, or a little more than one-half, then I think the discrepancy is such that it calls for some explanation, and I think your readers will agree with me that the public will place very little confidence in the rest of their figures, wherever compiled from. Now I do not take any stock in Mr. Beall's tally, and do not profess to be a grammarian, and may make mistakes in the words "compiled" and "taken"; but I do profess to know something about farming, and I say that the figures given by me are the result of actual observation and experience; and if they are fictitious and purely imaginary on my part, as Mr. Beall would have you believe, surely he would have been able to point out where the assets were too low or the expenditure too high; and in failing to do so, although he says it contains many errors and no facts, I think he fails to answer the case made out by me. He asked why I do not give the actual results of my own farm. This would not prove anything, as it is the average we want to deal with, and that is what I intended to give. Otherwise I could have given some farms upon which much larger losses have been made, which of course would prove nothing, any more than to give an isolated case where large profits have been made.

As regards Mr. Beall's reference to Commercial Union, I do not intend to be drawn into a political discussion, and my letter was not written with any such intention, but when he wrote his letter he was evidently smarting under the deserved criticism which his essay has been subject to as regards its political leaning and his utter want of knowledge of practical farming. Yours truly,

Ops, Feb. 20th, 1888. E. H. HOPKINS.
