The Tictoria Warder

FRIDAY, APRIL 27, 1888

John Bull; His Family. John Bull he is a farmer bold,
And a lover of the sea;
A brawn blacksmith's arm he has,
And his hummer well wields he.

He loves his farm—full well he does;
The sea is his honest pride.
His blackement shops send forth his ships,
The rictors on every tide.

And in the corner of his heart
A true love he hides, doth he,
for those who claim his hindred blood,
lifts fair children o'er the sea.

And he would have them most once more, Once more, 'neath the old house tree, One and all at his bidding come, Flore o'er the wide, wite sea.

from the land of the fleecy snow A matron comes o'er the sea; Seven fair boys are in her train, And she paceth full proudly.

Two of her boys are farmer lade, Two miners, fair and free; One is an honest habitat, And two do follow the sea.

With her comes wheat of hardest grain. From her prairies o'er the sea; The best of wood for John's great ships, And beef for his sailors free.

From a more distant clime there comes
A young maiden modestly;
John Bull amiles as he greets her new,
So like her mother is she. From her far distant island home,

OLD

ture

get

ngs, ces.

Her home in the southers see, She brings him wool, and cheap meat, too, So that he lives merrily. Hark to he noise, a hery of boye, It is Australia's wild young train; John's eyes grow bright; he thinks of a night

On the Soudan's sandy plain; When these young lads, with bayonets fixed, With their English brothers stood, And Arab spear poured forth a stream, A deluge of English blood,

Who are they of the dusky skin, With the dark, observant eve,
Whose dress doth tell of Eastern birth,
And a life 'neath a sunny sky?

And who is she, that with them comes, With such stately step and mien, From the throne of the Great Mognit It is India's mighty queen.

Sikh and Sepoy come in her train, Loyal to O'd England's cause; Proud in their share in John Bull's fame, And safe 'neath his honest laws.

Sonship to John oft have they proved, On many a hard won field; If not full sons by blood or race, They are doubly so by deed.

John Bull goes to his farm once more, His old hammer well wields he, He thinks of sons in distant lands, His fair children o'er the sea.

The folks who thought the Old Man det Now do slink away in four. Instead of death they find a life; John Bult lives everywhere.

While far and near folks flock to hear, And to group the Old Man's hand. Shall we for greed or Yankee creed, Disown our own native land?

Big Uncle Sam has got a name,
For trade, and hard "away back";
But we're not tired of John Bull's fame,
So up with the Union Jack.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Latest Facts, Fun and Fancy.

Worms often destroy children, but Free-man's Worm Powders destroy worms, and ex-pel there from the system.—2-5.

Newly married husband —"This is a friend of urine, my dear—a friend of twenty years' standing," His bride—"Pray give him a seat, for I am sure he must be tired." As a hair dressing and renovator, Ayer's Hair Vigor is universally commended It crudicates dandruff, cures eruptions of the scalp, invigorates and beautities the hair, and prevents its taking or turning gray,—23 1.

High Fraise.

Mr. John Neelands, writing from the Methodist Parsonage. Adelide, Ont., says, "I have used Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for years in our family. For heavy Colds, Sore Throat and discressing Coughs no other medicine so soon relieves."—22-2.

THIS WEATHER!

"And how are we to-day, my dear madam?"
"Well, doctor, the cold I caught the day before vesterday is rather better; but the one I caught on Monday week is ever so much worse—and I caught a brand new one last night!"—Punch.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fret-ful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms. —2-5.

"What is your name?" asked a teacher of a boy, "My name's Jule," was the reply; where-upon the teacher inpressively said, "You should have said. 'Julius, sir.' And now, my lad," turning to another boy, "what is your name?" Billious, sir."

Without A Doubt. There is no doubt that Hagyard's Yellow Oil is the best 'remedy for Sprains, Bruisse, Sore Throat, Colds. Rheumatism, Croup and all Aches, Pains, Lomeness and Soreness. It is used externally and internally, and should alway, be kept in the house.—22-2.

A young fellow strolled into a newspaper office in this city this morning and, laying down a clipping from a "wantcolumu," in which a druggest advertised for a "pharmacist" which a druggest advertised for a "pharmaciate" said. "Git me a blace like dot und I gif you a thaler." "Here you had any experience as a pharmaciat?" queried the astate clerk at the 'ad"window. "Ogsberiuace? said the young fellow, opening wide his blue Teuton eyes. "I shoult say so. I vae pone on a farm, und I vork an von in Dakota dis tree years, und know it all." Croup is a disease which strikes quickly and severly. To be prepared for this dangerous disease a bottle of Hagyard's Vellow Oil should be kept in the house, it is a prompt and sure remedy.—22-2.

A WARNING

A WARNING

After the marriage of the Crown Privce of Pruesia (now Emperor of Germany) with the Princess Royal of England the happy pair embarked at Gravesend for their future home. To reach their vessel they had to pass through a long passage or gangway thickly lined on both sides with all sorts and conditions of men and women. As the royal couple walked slowly along, the Crown Prince felt his arm touched. He turned, and was thus addressed by a navvy. "Now mind you behave well to her when you gets Her Royal Highness over there; if you don't we'll pretty soon fotch her back again?"—London Family Herald.

The Four Cardinal Points. The four cardinal points of health are the stomach, the liver, the kidneys and the blood, any failure of their action brings disease and derangement to the whole system Regulate their condition with Burdock Blood Bitters to secure perfect health.—22.2.

A "FOWL" YARN.

A "FOWL" YARN.

Mrs. Davis, of Eganville, opened a can of peaches, and, discovering that they had "worked," threw them into the back yard. Not long after the chickens began eating the spoiled fruit, and as the "working" had generated alcohol, the fowle soon become gloriously drunk. swaggering about in the most ridiculous manner. One staid old rooster, who had never been known to indulge in a fight, became very tight, flew over the fence into a neighbor's yard, attacked a roostir twice his size and got licked. He managed to get home again, however, and with the hens, soon became so drunk that they dropped over, apparently dead. When Mr. Davis came home in the evening Le threw the whole flock over the back fence, supposing they had been poisoned. In the course of a short time the rooster came to, drowed justily, and soon his companions sobered up also, but they acted as if they had a bad headache.
