From an Occasional Correspondent FAREWELL SUPPET.—A large party assembled at the residence of Mr. Johnston, on the evening of the 20th ult., to do honor to a respected resident, Mr. P. W. And reon, who for several years has had charge of the Seagrave public school.

Mr. Anderson has been a popular and an efficient teacher, and some of his friends thought that he would not be unduly hon ored by a public expression of respect. In one time their thought took shape and substance and their opinion a practical form as an oyster supper and address. The lighter part of the programme usual on such occasions occupied the earlier hours of the evening, after which the bivalves received attention. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston with their well-known courtesy and kindliness, exerted themselves to add to the pleasure of their guests, and a very enjoyable evening was spent until a late hour, when the proceedings terminated with singing "He's a jolly good fellow," and "God Save the Queen." Mr. H. L. King acted as chairman, and Mr. W. Miller read the address. Mr. Anderson intends studying for the christian ministry and has given up teaching. The address was as follows:—

DRAR SIR,—There are times in the lives of those who serve in a public capacity when the character of their work is form as an oyster supper and address.

then commenced that work when a time in more time of oncomes and the strong produced such marvellous results, and which in the later phases resulted in the organization of that most encosated of all institutions, the W.O.T.U.

The great work of this cruesde, as we read its history, is not simply the actual results that were accomplished at the time in the closing of so many salcone and the leading of those engaged in the business to he had or life, but in the inspiration it has been to the whole of womankind to give their energies to the temperance referred.

This cruesde has meant a revolution in the upprance work; the lives of those and clearly regret that such a time has come in your life when your association with us in about to case.
