Effect of a New Nose. Van Helmont tells a story of a person who applied to Taliscotions to have his nose restored. This person, having a dread of an incision being made in his own arm, for the purpose of removing enough skin therefrom for a nose, got a laboror, who, for a remuneration, suffered in the compass of a summer's season, is best known by the articles of socidents in the newspapers; the miserable shricks of the newspapers; the miserable shricks of arm. About thirteen months after, the adscitious nose suddenly became cold. and, after a few days, dropped off in a state of putretaction. The cause of this nnexpected occurrence having been investigated, it was discovered that, at the same moment in which the nose grew cold, the labourer at Bologna expired.

To Clean Black Silk.

One of the things "not generally Rnown," at least in this country, is the Farisian method of cleaning black sitk; the modus operandi is very simple, and the result infinitely superior to that achieved in any other manner. The silk is convinced that she knows a great deal about it than you do.

A Female Sampson—From a Hand-Bill.

September 4th, 1818, was shown at Bartholomew Fair, "The strongest woman is Europe, the celebrated French Female Hereulee, Madame Gobert, who will lift with her teeth a table five feet long and three feet wide, with several persons scat. ed upon it also carry thirty-six weights, and will disengage hereel from them without any assistance; will carry a barrel containing 340 bottlee; also an anvil 400 lbs. weight, on which they will forge with hour hammers at the time she supports it on her stomach; she will also hit with hour hammers at the time she supports it on her stomach; and supports it on her stomach; and throw it over her head, ten feet from her body. Her travelling caravas, (weighting two tone), on its road from Harwich to Leominster, owing to the neglect of the driver, and badness of the road, sunk in the mud, nearly up to the box of the wheels, the two horses being unable to extricate it she descended, and, with apparent ease, two horses being unable to extricate it she descended, and, with spparent sace, disengaged the caravan from its situation, without any assistance whatever."

Verily, we who live in the present day have reason to rejoice that in some things there is a decided improvement upon "the good old times."

How to Keep Your Friends.

A girl, I know, said: "I'm a great one minute to think I wondered if she were I'll paint the form of the mother, good at keeping them. Making friends is ency to the girl who is bright and happy, whose society gives pleasure and who is genial. But the keeping of them demands nore than this.

A Sign Board. BY RELA WHERERS.

And hang it upon your door. A true and better sign board Than ever you had before; I'll paint with the skill of a master, And many shall pause to see This wonderful piece of painting, So like the reality.

I'll paint yourself, rumseller, As you wait for that fair young boy, Just in the morn of mannood, A mother's pride and joy; He has no thought of stopping, But you greet him with a smile And you seem so blithe and triendly.

That he pauses to chat a while.

I will paint you again, rumseller, I'll paint you as you stand, With a foaming glass of liquor Holding in either hand; He wavers-but you urge him, Drink! pledge me! just this one He lifts the glass and drains it.

And the hellish work is done. I'll paint you now a drunkard; Only a year has flown And into that losthsome creature The fair young boy has grown The work was quick and rapid,

In a topid drunken slumber, Beneath the winter skies.

As she knelt by her darling's side, Her beautiful boy who was dearer Than all the world beside. I'll paint the shape of a coffin Labelled with one word"Lost," I'll paint all this, rumseller'

And paint it free of cost, The sin and the shame and sorrow, The crime, the pain and the wee, That's born there in your rumshop No hand could paint, you know, And do not be too aggressive, wanting to know why she hasn't done this, But I'll paint you a sign, rumseller; And many shall pause to view,

The lily only has its place?
Is it because the absent rose
Has gone to paint her husband's nose?

Some Things Burdick Said:

The world is dying to-day for want of practical, common-sense Christains. Theory enough we had centuries ago; something else is needed to-day.

The people have no conscience on this question of intemperance, because they are guided and influenced by enstom and associations of the past. "Some time ago," enid the epeaker," I visited a large manufactory of mouldings. The knife comes down upon the wood and leaves its impression, it comes out a fixed pattern.

down upon the wood and leaves its impression, it comes out a fixed pattern. The same with men. The impressions of their 'bringing up' holds them in a closs embrace." This point was aptly illustrated by contrasts of the drunking onetoms of the past with those of the present.

Some people tell us, when asked to sign the pledge, that they hav too much brains to become a drunkard. Too often it is ment of hyging that is the trouble.

Womanhood and childhood fleet!"

is a type of thousands of young girls who are emerging from the chrysalls stage of their existence, as they enter upon their "teens." Nervous, excitable, irritable, stirred by strange, unknowable forces within them, each a mystery unto herself, our girls need the tenderest care, the most loving, patient oversight, and the aid of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, to safely carry them through this critical period, during which, in too many lives, alas, are sown the seeds of distressing forms of diseases peculiar to the female sex. But this boon to womankind will prevent all such diseases, or cure them if they have already seized a victim. Woman owes it to herself, to her family, and to her social station, to be well and strong. Let her then not neglect the sure means of cure. "Favorite Prescription" is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. Sold by druggists; $1.00, or six bottles for $5.00.
