THES. BRALL. Camp Notes.

An unfortunate secident occurred on Wednesday night in Camp in the lines of the 45th Battalion. The night was hot and the moonlight very bright. Therefore some of the boys found it congenial to be out of their tents. These were chiefly from one of that tents of No. 4 Co. A spirit of mischief seemed to seize them, and they decided to have some fun (!) with Corporal Ingle, known as the quietast man in camp. Accordingly they quietest man in camp. Accordingly they stacked the ropes of his tent until it fell in, pulled the binniest off him and nearly rolled him out of his tent, and then began tossing stones against the canvas when the tent was reserved. All this to a man such as Corporal

On Saturday evening, 28th inst., a large number of persons representing the methodist church, Sunderland, met at the parsonage to present the following address and a gold-headed cane, of the richest and most costly design, to Thompson B. Frankish, Esq., who with his family is about to remove to Toronto. The Rev. D. C. McDowell took the chair, and J. B. Vallentyne, Esq., read the address and made the presentation, to which Mr. Frankish made a feeling reply, stating how full his heart was at this unexpected expression of atheart was at this unexpected expression of at-tachment by his friends, and this beautiful and valued testimonial of their esteem and friendship; that he felt deeply the severance of the bond of citizenship, but hoped to have frequent opportunities of visiting the place in fature. Short addresses were also delivered by Messrs. Samuel Brethour, G. W. St. John, S. Kivill. and M. Taylor. The ladies presented Mrs. Frankish with a well expre dish. After the addresses refreshments were served, and the friends retired, feeling they had spent a pleasant evening in mutual conversation, and in drawing more closely together the bonds of friendship.
