THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS which followed, was unusually full of val-uable information and suggestions, of which we cannot even attempt a sum-mary. Elswhere are given some pithy points from this excellent address. After this speech, communications to the Convention, extending fraternal greet-ings from the Dominion Alliance, the Sone of Tempsrance, the Royal Templars and other organizations were read.

EVENING MEETING, The church was filled at night, the meeting being given up to the Y's. Miss Scott of Ottawa, occupied the chair, and nearly all the speakers were young lady workers, among them being Miss Gordon, of Everston, Ill., Miss Willard's Private

On Thursday morning, Mrs. Fawcett presented the report upon unfermented wine, showing that the influence of the W.O.T.U. had led to the abolition of alcoholic liquors by many churches in the celebration of the Lord's Supper. Mrs. Turnbull discussed the question of social purity, and then the convention arose with a burst of enthusiasm to great Miss Frances E. Willard, who was introduced collobe liquors by many churches in the celebration of the Lord's Supper. Mys. Turnbul disenses the question of social purity, and then the convention stose with a burst of enthusiasm to greet Miss Frances R. Willard, who was introduced by Mrs. Middleton. When order was restored, the discussion of Mrs. Turnbul's piper was proceeded with, by Miss Phelps, Mrs. Tilton, Mrs. Rudd, and the President. A motion disconnicanoing the use of ordinary fashionable evening dress was adopted unanimously. The remainder of the day was taken up by discussion on the question of scientific temperance instruction, introduced by Mrs. Nover; unformented wine, by Rev.
