"Hello!" is what his grandpa said, As through the gate he came: "I want to hire a little boy, So proy, sir, what's your name!"

Merely & Morning Call.

"A boy to drive the cattle home, And weed the garden bed; A boy to split the kindling wood, And pile it in the shed," His grandeon looked scross the fields, And slightly drew sway; "I think I'll say good-by, glan'ps— I didn't come to stay."

-FRANK H. STAUFFER, in HARPER'S TOUNG "Wait des a Minit."

I have a gallant lover, I have a gallant love;
He's true as true can be;
But it's come to this when I want a kiss
He always says to me,
"Wait des a minit."

He does not love another;
His heart is all my own;
Yet I grieve to know, when he treats me
That mine to him has flown—

His face is very fair; His eyes are violet blue; And the light they send as on me they bend 'Most breaks my heart in two— "Wait des a minit." His hair is like the sun

That shines upon the dew;
But he likes not girls, and he shakes his curls,
With words that pierce me through—
"Watt des a minit." Whenever I talk of love,

In moonlight or by day, He just looks at me, and in mocking glee Remarks, and runs away, "Wait des a minit." I'll tell you what I'll do

To punish this young man; When he wants a wife, if it takes his life, I'll say to the young woman, "Wait des a minit," -SANDY BROAD, IN HARPER'S WEEKLY.

Willie, we have missed you.

Oh! Willie, is it you, dear, Safe, safe at home? They did not tell me true, dear, They said you would not come. I heard you at the gate, And it made my heart rejoice, For I knew that welcome footstep, And that dear familiar voice, Making music on my ear

In the lonely midnight gloom : Oh! Willie we have miss'd you;

We've long'd to see you mightly, But this night of all; The fire was blezing brightly, And lights were in the hall, The little ones were up Till 'twas ten o'clock and past, Then their eyes began to twinkle, And they've gone to sleep at last But they listen'd formun voice,
Till they thought you'd never come:
Oh! Willie, we have miss'd you;
Welcome, welcome home!

The days were sad without you,
The nights long and drear,
My dreams have been about you;
Oh! welcome, Willin, dear,
Last night I wept and watch'd
By the moonlight's cheeries ray.
Till I thought I heard your footstep,
And I wiped my tears away;
But my heart grew and search But my heart grew and sain
When I found you have not come;
Oh! Willie, we have miss'd you:
Welcome, welcome home!

TO SHUT OUT AMERICAN CORN. PARIS July 5.—The Senate this week has shown a hand plainly in regard to American questions. After a long debate it finally voted in favor of a duty of three francs on corn, and supplemented this by imposing a duty of six france on cornneal. During the closing dibate it was distinctly avowed that the duty on corn was to be considered only a ontinuation of the nine-year-old policy to-ward American pork. Comte Foucher de Careil declared that the importation of Ameri-can pork was only another mode of importing American corn, and French farmers could not maintain themselves against it. ARRIVAL OF THE TROOP SHIP TYNE AND TWO TORPEDO BOATS-A ROUGH PASSAGE. Just now the Tories are looking around for a new issue that may be popular enough to divert attention from a series of pitiful legislative failures, and the Conservative cheers which greeted the proposal of Col. TORPEDO BOATS—A ROUGH PASSAGE.

HALIFAX, July 7.—The two torpedo boats towed across the Atlantic by the troop ship Twne, which arrived to day, are the first of the kind ever seen in British North American waters, and are the most destructive instrument of modern warfare. They are 125 feet keel and thirteen feet in Breath. In shape they resemble a torpedo. At Oak Orchard the boat stopped, and stimulants were given him to revive him and restoratives applied. At Bobcaygeon three physicians were called and attended him to the end, for the unfortunate man sank rapidly and passed away. Mr. Bick and Dr. King were ready to proceed on the afternoon train, but a message was received that the end had come and the was received that the end had come and the doctor did not go. Specia to The Warder. A BRAVE ACT. - Last week a large number of pupils, girls and boys of the senior classes here, attended the school examination held in Port Perry. On Friday evening after school hours, a number of the girls waked down to the lake to watch the plashing wavelets and to inhale the cool breeze from off the water. Among them was Miss Fanny, daughter of our respected townsman Mr. Thes Phelp. From some unaccountable cause, while standcame dizzy, lost her balance, and fell over into the water. Her companions at once sent up piercing cries for help. Master Norman, leave probably about the 15th September.

A FATAL FAIL.—Mr. George Bick, jr., of Bobcaygeon, met with a sad death vesterday in a simple yet tracic manner. He and his father, Mr. George Bick, sr., were in Peterborough and the younger man went to Chemong on the morning train and took the steamer Maple Leaf for home. At the Indian village some freight was put off, and Mr. Bick took hold of a bag of meat to assist in throwing it off. He took one end of the bag and a young man on the boat the other, and they young man on the boat the other, and they sum it to give an impetus to the throw so as to land it on the wharf. The boy let go first and Mr. Bick was thrown off his balance, but let go of the bag and sprang for land.
