The Victoria Warde

FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1890.

A union of hearts and a union of hands A union none can sever; A union of homes and a union of lands And the flag, bravest Union, forever.

HALIFAX THE STRONGEST CITY IN AMERICA.

Few Canadians know that at the present moment the British government has hundreds of Royal Engineers and men busy at work repairing old or building new fortifications in Canada.

It is our intention, at an early date to present our readers with a detailed description of each and all the important points in Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick; so will not enter into details here.

At Halifax the combined fleets of Europe could easily ride at anchor. The immense fortifications at Ferguson's Cove on the right, York Redoubt, McNabb's Island, a regular Gibraltar, George's Island, Fort Clarence, and several others away on the left, with the magnificent Citadel, a natural fortification rising like a mountain top in the heart of the city...

Let us not view each mighty work as engines of destruction without reflecting that human society is not yet so constituted as to do without war; that the glorious principles of civil and religious liberty enshrined in British...

"AID FOR IRELAND."

LONDON, August 28.—The Daily News publishes an urgent appeal to the public for active measures to prevent famine and misery in Ireland on account of the potato blight.

The soil of Scotland or of Wales is much less productive than is that of Ireland. That of the "Black Protestant North" is still much less fertile than other parts of the unhappy island.

A recent visit to Quebec reveals an almost similar state of affairs. There thousands of acres of land just as productive as are the fertile plains of Victoria county are being tilled in a manner that would do shame to the husbandmen of Greece in the "Age of Pericles."

Having business engagements to the Maritime provinces of Canada, and the New England States this summer, we selected a time when it would be convenient to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America in St. John, N.B.

There were assembled upwards of one hundred and fifty representative men from every province in Canada except those in the far west, while in the person of Mr. D. Morrison, Newfoundland was most worthily honored.

One thing that more than surprised the visitors was the greatness of the hearts of St. John and New Brunswick Orangemen. They fairly went to the "extremes" point in their hospitality and seemed more than determined to send all the visitors away with proper impressions of the grand city and harbor of St. John.

GENERAL MIDDLETON'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

It will be remembered that after the North West rebellion of 1886, honors were conferred by the Imperial authorities on Sir A. P. Caron, and by the Canadian parliament on General Middleton.

There soon began to be manifested the greatest dissatisfaction among those who had served under General Middleton, for they naturally believed his recommendations would have been carried out, had any been made.

In another column appears a list of the men whom the old general recommended for special recognition. So far as we are aware the majority of those reported richly earned the proposed honors.

TRUE JESUITISM STILL IN THE MAIL OFFICE.

The Toronto Mail under its new management seems to retain some of the insinuating spirit of its late self.

The Montreal Gazette suggests one more session of parliament before the dissolution, and a redistribution in Quebec as well as in Ontario. Of course a redistribution could not be effected at the coming session as the census figures will not be ready.

The Mail knows, as every school boy knows, that the session of 1892 must witness a redistribution of seats in the Parliament of Canada. The province of Quebec is entitled to 65 members of Parliament, and no more.

Supposing Ontario is entitled to 95 members, will some of the grit organs kindly show how 92 ridings can be changed into 95 without altering the boundaries of some of them?

The Mail knows there must be the constitution be a redistribution of seats in 1892, and yet in its insidious way, it suggests the policy of the Irish Home Rulers, i.e., one of obstruction.

The Grand Orange Lodge of British America.

Grand Master, Major Armstrong, Grand Lecturer, James Kelly, Grand Secretary, Geo. R. Vincent, and their associates.

A drive around the city of St. John, a sail in a steamer over the rolling waves of the Bay of Fundy, a public reception in their orange hall, a steamer trip over "the reverend table" of St. John; a sail to Fredericton, thirty five miles via the St. John River, and back, from nine o'clock in the morning till eleven o'clock at night, one hundred and seventy miles; a public reception at the provincial capital; and a display of true brotherhood on the departure from St. John station have formed friendships and created memories of true brotherhood that can never be removed.

The report of proceedings in Grand Lodge appears in another column. Much useful work was accomplished, and great good to the order and to Canada considered.

The Grand Lodge should congratulate itself on having elected as Grand Secretary, Bro. Robert Birmingham of Toronto. In him the Orangemen of Canada will have a most capable and energetic officer in Western Ontario is largely due to his efforts and energy.

The following were elected officers of the grand lodge:— N Clarke Wallace, MP, re-elected grand master.

Grand Orange Lodge. In addition to the report of the proceedings of the Grand Lodge published last week, we take from the able report of the Grand Secretary the following statistics:

Table showing membership statistics for various regions including Ontario West, Ontario East, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and British Columbia, with totals for 1889-1890 and 1890-1891.
