In the "press gallery," ably representing the Torento News was "Jack" Garvin recognized as the ablest young writer of the province. Jack's parents are well known and highly respected in Toronto, and also in Oshawa, where they formerly resided, Mrs. Garvin having been Miss Pedler. It was our privilege to be Jack's instructor for some years in Toronto Collegiate Institute, and even then we predicted his greatness. In Jack's spicy articles the News has a treasure which if the management is wise it will keen. which if the management is wise it will keep. The "dehorning commission" of the Ontario government visited Ottawa last week, and the finest looking member thereof was Henry Glendenning of Manilia. Hon. Chas. Drury, Dr. Smith, Mr. Gibson of Delaware and others composed it. In the person of their efficient secretary, Mr. Kelso, we were delighted to find another old Toronto Collegiate Institute student, rapidly pushing to the front in his profession.

Early in the session Miss Jessie Alexander, the noted elocutionist, visited Ottawa and created a most favorable impression. Her entertainment was graced with the presence of His Excellency Lord Stanley and the Lady Stanley of Preston. Soon thereafter Miss Alexander sailed for the British Isles accompanied with complimentary notices of her Canadian efforts. As her old-time master in Treento Collegiate Institute we reproduce with A Sensible Man.
