The annual meeting of the Lindsay Presbyterial Woman's Foreign Missionary Society worse. And, after all the disturbance, there's only a little temporary good.

TUESDAY APTERNOON.

The church was beautifully decerated with flowers of various colors, while in front of the pulpit hung the white banner of the society, bearing the motto "The World for Christ." On the wall above hung a large missionary map of the world, showing the proportions of the prevailing religions.

The chair was occupied by Mrs. Hanna of Uxbridge, first vice-president. On the platform were Mrs. Wilson of Neemuch, a returned missionary from Central India; Mrs. Ross of Lindsay, president of the local auxiliary, and Miss McLennan, secretary of the presbyterial society. The meeting was opened by singing the 99 h hymn and reading the 15th chapter of St. John's gospel, and prayer. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary and adopted.

An address of welcome was read by Mrs.

An address of welcome was read by Mrs.

Johnston of Lindsay, to which Mrs. Dixon of Fencion Falls replied on behalf of the delegates. The President's address was next given by the first vice-president, who expressed great sorrow for the president's illness, which had prevented her from active service during the past year. The work of the society was reported as having been divided into four divisions, each under the supervision of a vice-president. In speaking of the progress made in the work, mention was made of the necessity of the baptism of the Holy Spirit to fit us for the work. The speaker noted the fact that when Christ ordained his disciples he requested them to remain in Jerusalem until they received the baptism of the Holy Ghost. The best qualification for a missionary is the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. In doing the woman's missionary work we are doing a work most acceptable to God. It is true the days most acceptable to God. It is true the days of miracles are past, but Christ's presence is still manifest. The speaker then briefly portrayed the work of Colombo in the 6th century, when single-handed he conquered Scotland for Christ, Count Zinzend if, the founder of the Moravians, and also many

The secretary's report was next read, shewing that one of the society, Miss Calder, had lately gone to the foreign field. The report shewed there were 22 auxiliaries, and 4 mission bands, in all 551 members, 75 members of general society and five life members; total amount of money raised. $1,116.34; clothing was sent to the North-west Indians during the year. The treasurer's report was read and adopted. Lindsay contributed $170.35 to the mission work.

Miss Havergal's dedicatory hymn was sung and the dedicatory prayer was offered by Mrs.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—Hon. president, Mrs. D. J. McIntyre of Lindsay; president, Mrs. Hannah of Uxbridge; lat vice pres., Mrs. Johnston of Lindsay; 2nd vice-pres., Mrs. McKinnon of of Woodville; 4th vice pres, Miss Quigley of Leaskdale; secretary, Miss Smith of Uxbridge; treasurer, Mrs. McPhaden of Cannington. Falls; 3rd vice-pres, Mrs. Dr. McKay A solo, "Eternal Rest," was given by Miss

Mrs. Wilson was then introduced to the audience, and all arose and sang the 15th hymn.

Mrs. Wilson then began her address by stating that her field of labor had been in Central India, and that the manners and customs of the people differ greatly over the whole country. She then proceeded to cutline the Zenana work, stating that the word was of Persian origin, meaning an apartment. The Zenana is almost destitute of furniture. The Indians do not believe in spending money in furniture, carpets or curtains, but instead of these luxuries inyest in jewels. She described one of the largest houses in Calcutta as being a two storey building of polished marble. On the first floor were the public apartments, such as kitchens, store-rooms, etc.; the second floor was divided into two rows of apartments, one for the men, the other for the women, which are so located as to overlook a large courtyard. The women could look through a preforated wall and thus see without being seen. The reception room of a lady of a large house was described as having a bed, a chest of drawers, a few large boxes without a single chair, while the lady was decked in jewels. The women as a rule do not feel the zenana life as bad as might be expected. It is only those who come in contact with the Europeans who realize their true condition. It is only the high class who are confined to zenanas. Not more than one quarter of the women are under the Purda system, which was introduced at the time of the Mahomedan invasion. The poorer women go to the fields with their husbands to labor, and also do the housework at home morning and evening. The greater portion of them are reduced to extreme poverty, mostly subsisting on one meal a day. It is hard for even the Christian native to get rid of his ideas of the Purda system. They do more than one quarter of the women are under Report for the week en ling Saturday night, March 4, 1893, from Lindsay observatory: of his ideas of the Purda system. They do not like to go to public worship unless in a covered cab or palanquin. They prefer to go to church in their old clethes and wear their to church in their old clethes and wear their good clothes at home; but the sight of foreign women well dressed going to church with their husbands, has a great influence for good. Woman is regarded as a low sort of creature, and before infanticide was abolished the killing of girl babies was quite common, and yet many of the prisoners in the gaols are women charged with infanticide. Charged with infanticide. There is no opening anywhere for a girl in India to earn a living. They dare not encroach on the work done in bazaars, as that is all done by men. Boys are looked upon as a source of income, girls as a source of expense. The dowry of a girl is 500 rupees, a rupee being 1s. 6d. A son is necessary to conduct the funerol services for the father. In case there is no sen in the family one has to be adopted for the occasion. Yet in spite of all dislikes to girl children the Indian fathers have great affection for their daughters. The widows in Central India are better treated than in other parts of India. The inhabitants of that part of India are a stronger and more independent race then those of Bengal and other places. In Indore the widows are slaves; a girl when left a widow must go to the funeral pyre of her husband, then go and bathe in the nearest pool and remain in the same clothes for 13 days, all the while subsisting on one meal of coerse food per day; then she is stripped of her jewels and customary clothing, and great afflictions are imposed upon her fer the remainder of her life. A widow of the low class may remarry, but one of the high class is not permitted to do so. If a girl is not married before she is 13 or 14 there is no chance of her ever marrying.

TUESDAY EVENING SESSION.

Rev. Mr. McKinnon of Fenelon Falls, took the chair and opened the meeting by singing and prayer. The speakers of the evening were Rev. Mr. McKay of Toronto, at one time a missionary in Formosa, and Rev. Mr. McDougall, lately returned from China.

Mr. McKay as secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, was able to impart a great deal of infermation about the work in foreign lands. On a large missionary map he pointed out the heathen countries. The prevailing heathen religions are as follows:—Fetish, 400,000,000; Hindoos, 150,000,000; Buddists are from 100,000,000 to 500,000,000; Conare from 100 000,000 to 500,000 000; Confuscians. 300,000,000: Mahometan, 200,-000,000; Parsee, 150 000 000. There are 8000 missionaries in the toreign field assisted by 47,000 ordained native preachers and helpers. There are 11,400 mission stations abroad and 13,000 at home. The presbyterians have missionaries at 8 different points. terians have missionaries at 8 different points, one at Victoria, B.C. for Chinese. There are in the North-west among the Indians 126,000 heathen Indians in Cenada. The other points are Formosa, Honan, Central India, Pacific Islands. Trinidad, Palestine, Altogether the presbyterian church has about 80 missionaries in the foreign field. In conclusion he congratulated the society on the success of their

The next speaker was the Rev. Mr. Mc-Dougall lately returned from Honan, China. In a very able manner he described the country, the people and their forms of worship which is something of the worst type. The people of China are our equals in stature, endurance, and in the solution of intellectual problems. This civilization is the very opposite to ours. There is no such thing as home life known in China. The wife is always considered very much lower than the husband and is never seen in his company. He will never speak to her in the presence of another person. Even the most educated men will speak of their wives in such terms as "My humble thorn," "The inside of the house," and most frequently 'It." An Offer of $100.

The Glengarrian, an able journal published at Alexandria in Glengarry, keeps this offer standing in its columns:— Some of the leaders of the retorm party are continually circulating among the ratepayers statements to the effect that their taxes, which are increasing largely, go to the Dominion Government at Ottawa and on these grounds attempting to prejudice them against the Ottawa government. Now, these are tactics unworthy of honest men. We will pay any farmer, or any man, in the county of Glengarry one hundred dollars that can show us that there is one cent of the municipal taxes collected from him that goes to the Dominion government.

It is an easy matter for the missionary to evertake the work.

The medical work is the most blessing to the women of India. The ledy missionaries having a good knowledge of medicine can do a work that cannot be done in any other way.

When women in mannas become Obristians they have either to forsake their homes and children, or remain there without untering late full communion with the church. We have only given a brief synepsis of life.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytary of Lindsay met in the baptist church Lindsay on Tuesday the 28th day of February. A large representation of ministers and elders were present. The first duty which fell to the moderator, Rev. M. McKinnon, after constituting the court by devotional exercises, was to announce the death of the stated clerk, Rev. Jss. R. Scott, which he did in feeling terms. The undersigned was appointed to act as clerk pro tem. Rev. R. P. McKay and Rev. John McDougall being present were invited to sit as corresponding members, also, at a later stage, Rev.
Mr. Ware of the baptist church Lindsay.

Rev. W. G. Hanna presented the report on home missions. It was sgreed to atk the H.M. board to appoint Rev. Elias Mullen as ordained missionary to Sebright and Uphill, and Rev. W. S. Stewart to Coboconk and Kinmount in the same capacity with grants from the fund in both cases. Augmentation was asked for Sunderland and Leaskdale.

Rev. H. Jurrie on behalf of his committee brought in the following resolution :- "The presbytery having learned of the unexpected death of its esteemed clerk, the Rev. James R. Scott of Cambray, desires to record its profound sense of the loss which it has sustained thereby. Since the formation of the presbytery he has been its clerk. His calm judgment, his brotherly feeling, and wise counsels have been of incalculable value in all its deliberations. The presbytery is well assured that the visitation did not come to him as a surprise. It recognizes the hand of an all-wise loving Father, and bows obediently to His will in this dispensation of His providence. This court desires also to express its sincere sympathy with the afflicted family in their bereavement, and prayerfully to commend them to the tender love and care of the Heavenly Father."

At a later stage the following was presented No. 1, girl No. 2, etc." In Honan not one girl in a 1000 can read a character of the Chinese language. Lindeay Inventors.

LINDSAY, 6th March, 1893. To the Bditor of The Warder

DEAR SIR,-I beg space in your paper to notice a paragraph stating that Dr. Coulter had honors conferred upon him for his invention. He is certainly to be congratulated upon receiving official recognition from a scientific society so well known as Inventors Academy of Paris, France. The honors are well placed. His invention is doubtless valuable to obtain notice from this academy of such undoubted notice from this academy of such undoubted high standing.

There are also Mr. Editor, other Lindsayites who have been recognized by these scientific men for their inventive genius. Although it is not generally known Mr. John Levy of this town was awarded a gold medal by the examining and patronage committee of the Parisian Inventors Academy on May 15th, 1892, at Paris, France. In their letter of that date to Mr. Levy they state:—We beg to inform you Paris, France. In their letter of that date to Mr. Levy they state: —We beg to inform you that after the examination of your last invention the Academy has conferred upon you the title of honorary member with awards of the first-class diploma and the great gold medal. You will observe that after having been critically examined by the Academy this is the result. Lindsay should feel proud of her inventors at all awarts. The invention is a inventors at all events. The invention is a simple device to regulate the prossure of steam in a boiler, by the steam automatically closing the damper so soon as a prede ermined pressure is reached, thereby lessening the risk from explosion and needless waste of fuel at the same time, and is known as Levy's Steam Furnace Regulator and Fuel Saver. This invention, Mr. Editor, is pronounced not only by the Scientific Academy of Paris, but also
