The Tarte-McCarthy Censure of granted. (Signed) P. PELLETIER, the Government for not In-terfering with Manitoba School Law.

The following from the Hansard is our address at daylight, on the debate :-

Mr. HUGHES. In rising at this early hour, me. Houses. In rising at this early hour, 5 e'clock in the morning to say a faw words, I may state that I have waited, like the Minister of the Interior, for some days to get an opportunity of being heard on this question. I have listened with a good deal of interest to the discussion and have tried to see wherein the argument advanced by one side or the other rested on the amendment moved by the hon, member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte). We Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. bilious granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of harmonise with my views on the question of education. In the amendment proposed by the hon. member for L'Islet I see nothing which commends itself to me. The hon. leader of the Opposition has counselled us to keep our passions quiet; he has advised the Government to come cut and state plainly, one way or the other, their line of action. the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. mild and natural action, these little Pellets lead the system into natural ways again. Their influence lasts. one way or the other, their line of action. have a distinct recollection of an issue which And they're the cheapest pills you was before the country some years since—I refer to the execution of Louis Reil in the can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or North-west. On that occasion we found the leader of the Opposition, and those who are in alliance with him, counselling the Government of the day to pursue a certain line of action, demanding, in short, that a certain action should be pursued by the Government; and then, on the Government acquiescing in their demand, impediately turning round. your money is promptly returned. You pay only for the good you Everything catarrhal in its nature, Catarrh itself, and all the troubles in their demand, immediately turning round and censuring the Government in most unmeasured terms. That agitation was carried on to such an extent as almost to bring this country to the verge of civil war. How do we know to day that if the Government were to acquiesce in the recommendation of the leader of the Opposition, immediately the leader of the Opposition and his friends would not turn round again and condemn them? Mr. Laurier denies that he changed. It was the Ontario reformer he says. We thought he changed too on the script question. ED.
WARDER.] I think the Government is pursuing a proper course in keeping this matter away from the arena of popular agitation in the political field, popular agitation in the political field, and endeavoring to have it settled by a constitutional authority, without the exercise of that power which is placed in the Cabinet—call it what you like, call it the Cabinet, call it the Privy Council, call it the Governor-General in Council—without the exercise, I say, of the powers placed at their disposal under the constitution. The hon member for North Simcoe, in his address the other day stated, if I understood him aright, that years ago. At that time, it will be remembered, the hon. member for North Simcoe and the hon, member for Muskoka (Mr. O'Brien) took a different action from that which they are taking on the present occasion. On that occasion they were very much annoyed, their passions found vent, because the Government would not step in and disallow an Act of the province of Quebec. To day I presume they are pleased because the Government has not disallowed an Act of the province of Manitoba; but they seem displeased that the Government have heard the appeal of the minority in that province. These hon, members, both outside and inside the House, sought to create dissension throughout the Dominion over the action of the Government in refusing to disallow an Act of a province, in retusing to disallow an Act of a province, in other words, in refusing to exercise a cer-tain judicial function which they had under the constitution. We find that they were not content with bringing up a motion in the House, and having it voted down, but they made a pilgrimage to the city of Quebec to lay their grievance at the foot of the Throne, and to petition the Governor-General to exercise prerogative of demanding the disallowance of the Act of the province of Quebec. On that occasion it was pointed out how this matter could be approached under section 93 of the British North American Act. After this had been repeatedly pointed out to the Protestants of Quebec, they were at last induced to take action, and they presented their petition to the Privy Council. That petition was heard, and I will read you an extract from the report of the Minister of Justice on the subject : Inasmuch, however, as the petition now being reported on, expresses a desire that the petitioners be heard, and as they may be able to show, if so heard, that there is ground for last, that a day be fixed for the purpose of such hearing as early as a full attendance of the members of the committee of Her Majesty's

The undersigned has the honor now to re-commend that should Your Excellency see fit commend that should Your Excellency see not to name a day for the purpose of hearing the appeal in question by the Committee of Council aforesaid, the petitioners be so informed. Respectfully submitted. (Signed)

JNO. S. D. THOMPSON,

Minister of Justice.

Accordingly the Government accepted the recommendation of Sir John Thompson and advised that Thesday, the 15th day of October, be named as a day for hearing the said appeal, and the Secretary of State informed the petitioners accordingly.

On 1st October, 1889, J. K. Dougall, on behalf of the Protestants of Quebes, notified the Dominion Goyernment that the petitioners would appear by counsel chosen on the day would appear by counsel chosen on the day named, and asked at what hour and at what place the Governor in Council would be pleased to receive and hear their council.

On 8th October, 1889, Mr. Dougall was notified that such hearing would take place in the Privy Council Chamber at half-past ten on the morning of the 15th October.

on the morning of the 15th October.

THE PROTESTANTS WITHDRAW.
On the 12th October, 1889, Mr. Davidson, counsel for Mr. Dougall and other protestants, talegraphed the Dominion Government as follows from Montreal:—"In view of the public declaration from Mr. Mercier, addressed to the Protestant Committee of Public Instruction and affecting the grounds of the petition in appeal, would His Excellency in Council postpone the hearing of the petitioners, J. R. Dougall and others till later day.

Please reply."

Please reply."

June 1889, Mr. Davidson, school law, and I see from that, that there is no attempt there at all to coerce the minority of that province to take part in any religious exercise that might be repugnant to them. In other words, the present educational system of Manitoba is entirely non-sectarian.

A Splendid Average.

Deloraine Times: "M. B. Wilson & Son raised from 460 acres of land 14,470 bushels of No. 1 wheat, and from 75 acres of land 482 bushels of cats, and off 12 acres of land 482 bushels.

Acting Under Sec. State. Accordingly, the sequest of the Protestants was granted, and that was the last ever heard of the petition. The protestants for dollars and cents, for the consideration of the interest on $60,000 for a number of months, withdrew their petition under eec. 93 of the British North American Act. Thus far at all events we have on record the action of the Govern-ment along the lines that have been pursued in regard to the appeal of the roman catholic church—I will not say of the roman catholic people, for the people do not seem to have taken any part in the matter—in Menitoba. It strikes me that the roman catholic church of the Dominion convenient matter than the line church. It strikes me that the roman catholic church of the Dominion generally must feel highly complimented at the subdued and respectful manner, and it may be rightly so, in which their representations are received by this House. I have read in history starting away back to the Quebec Act of 1774, on down to the Constitutional Act of 1791, following down through the stormy times of 1887-38 on to the present time, and in all those activations. hon, member for L'Islet (Mr. Tarte). We have heard a great deal of Star Chambers and Privy Councillors, and other straw men that were put up to be knucked down for certain purposes, possibly, as the leader of the Opposition has stated, for the purpose of exciting passions and appealing to the country for a certain effect. It is not my intention to stir up passions; it is my intention to arrive, if possible, at a line of action which, while it will justify me in opposing the amendment of the member for L'Islet, will at the same time, harmonise with my views on the question of in other words, the people are treated, not as citizens of a free country, but as members of certain churches that happen to exist within its bounds. That I look upon as contrary to the true spirit of responsible government. Another mistake committed in the history of this country is in regard to the province of Quebec. We find the people of Ontario treating Quebec as French and roman catholic, and we find Quebec coming to this House and making appeals as French and roman catholic. I need not tell hon. members that these two do not go hand in hand, The French as a race has ever been distinguished as lovers of liberty. They have led in the history of Europe in all struggles for liberty, whereas roman catholicism has ever been distinguished for its intolerence and its claim to divine right of control. I will not at the present time enter into details to bear out these statements, as the hour is late. In regard to the question of education, we have been told that it is a matter of conscience in regard to roman catholic separate schools or of protestant separate schools. For a moment let us examine the question of education. I have had the privilege of being a school teacher in my day. I do not know whether I was imbued with the necessary divine spirit to qualify as a teacher or not, but I have yet to see the reason where, in education, the question of religion should come in. As I understand it, religion is a man's duty towards God, and I will endeavor briefly to examine wherein there is any possible room for the interference of churches, be they protestant or roman catholic, in the education of the youth of the country. It is frankly admitted that it is the state's right to educate the youth of the land. The youth should be educated physically, and the neces-sity for this is shown in our sanitary laws and regulations. It is right for the state to educate the youth intellectually, in writing, arithmetic and necessary subjects to enable the citizen intelligently to vote, and also to Complete Manhood day, stated, if I understood him aright, that this appeal was unique in the history of Canadian politics. I hold in my hand an extract from a report of the present Premier, who was then Minister of Justice, which has a greater will formulate the child morally. Here is reference to an appeal in connection with the Jesuits Estates legislation of the province of Quebec, which was before this House a few be connected with or shown to be dependent be connected with or shown to be dependent upon any religion. The moral qualities and virtues are known to have existed in the human race long anterior to either of the raligions the people of this country profess. The moral or ethical qualities, and the distinction between right and wrong are as easily determined as the proper kinds of food, as to materials that are poisonous and not poisonous and clothing that is proper or improper. These are facts admitted on all hands; I could quote authorities at length, but I will not detain the House. These are all the subjects that the state should insist on teaching-the development of the physical, intellectual and moral qualities of manhood. Religion being man's duty to his God, I fail to see where the House of Commons has any jurisdiction in the kingdom of Heaven. I fail to see wherein the people of the Dominion or this Parliament have anything to do with the matters that pertain between a man's conscience and his God. Morality is man's duty towards man. The state does legislate for the violation of moral duties, and therefore the state has the right to teach those moral qualities. I > as it is now doing. The latter course was the one which would create the least friction, and the one that I am satisfied will recommend itself to the judgment of every intelligent man who does not wish to arouse passions, or to position it would have been had the Government taken action in the first place. Then Privy Council for Canada could be had and other, the one advocating remedial legislation, we will find cur friends on one side or the that on such day the petition be heard by the usual Committee of Council.

> other, the one advocating remedial legislation, and the other opposing it. The world has advanced to such an extent during the lest 50 vanced to such an extent during the last 50 years, and such is the spirit of the age, that I years, and such is the spirit of the age, that I am satisfied it would seal the fate of any Government in the Dominion of Canada—even though the matter were left to be decided by the province of Quebec—for the light of liberty is growing in the province of Quebec as in every province of this Dominion—it would seal the fate of any Government who would attempt to grant remedial legislation to any church minority in the matter of schoels. Not only would the older provinces not telerate it, but I am satisfied that before Manitoba would endure any such interference, she would withdraw from the Union and disrupt Confederation. However, I feel satisfied that in the reference to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, there is no fear of an adverse decision to those who are anxious to abolish separate schools. I do not wish to be understood for a moment as seeking to force any
