scandal, or suicide, or police court gossip, or murder. THE WARDER is issued to be read by a class of people who take no stock whatever in such. Therefore have the scandals in connection with priests in this very place as well as elsewhere in recent years, affecting families previously henored and respected, never once been alluded to. Had it been our custom to publish such matters, publicity certainly would have been given. But THE WARDER is neither a United Canada, a Police Gazette, nor a Yankee sensational paper.

The statement therefore, that we have ever slandered nuns or blackguarded priests is merely one of those patent assertions, unsupported by a tittle of evi- miles and the breadth over twenty. dence, which form the bulwark not only of roman estholic church doctrine, but of roman catholic church journalism. THE WARDER has ever fearlessly opposed the recognition in government of any class, creed or race as such. The one standard which we recognize is CANADIAN CITIZEN-SHIP. Were an orangeman or any person fied opposition, just as those priests and editors are unmasked who seek to corner toria after but a few weeks' preliminary the "Irish," "the French," or "the roman catholic" "vote." Where a protestant Sudbury wa The Mictoria Marner clergyman or layman modelling his actions on romish doctrines and practices, has attempted to manage public questions on lines not in harmony with responsible government and the sovereignity of the people, he has been treated exactly as any roman catholic priest or politician pur-suing similar lines. And where, on the other hand, a roman catholic, be he priest or layman, has operated along lines of responsible government and the sover-eighty of the people, he has been commerded. In short THE WARDER in matters of government declines to recognize any church creed, sect, race, or society. CITIZENSHIP alone forms the basis.

If "United Canada" really insists, we shall give a little attention to such matters as are of common occurrence among the priesthood, and which, despite the closest kind of secrecy, now and then reach the surface. But it is not our intention or desire to night that kind of battle. There are in spite of the system, good priests and nuns. There are despite the form of church government, a large percentage of grand, noble citizens who are brought up desire to fight that kind of battle. There under the teachings of romanism. But these, grand and noble as they certainly are, would be better if trained under systems recognizing each individual to be

The day has long gone by even among the majority of roman catholics, when any man, be he the wily jesuit wielding a pen for United Canada or the most devoted figures with care after the smoke of the appearing priest, can long humbug or mis-"glorious 12th" has passed into thin air. lead any class. Roman catholics, like protestants, are fast brushing aside the cobwebs of dark age superstition so long blinding them; and are letting in the broad light of TRUTH and REASON, and Seturday. At the rising settlement of broad light of TRUTH and REASON, and honest inquiry and criticism. Then, what is true will stand; what is pure will survive; what is false will be destroyed, and what is impure will vanish. Then will both United Canada and its editor, with all founded on doctrines such as they teach, be among the things that were. With his ability in a good cause, the Editor of United Canada, had he proper principles of government instilled into his Ireland where the roman catholics, probably for effect, possibly on principle, elect protestants to Parliament.

What interests us, however, is the reference made to "Sam Hughes, M.P., as the slanderer of priests and nuns."

FRIDAY 4th—Regular meeting of Faithful Brethren lodge No. 77, A.F. and A.M.

En Route to the Grand Lodge of British America at Sault Ste Marie.

The grand orange lodge this year meets at Sault Ste Marie, Ontario, on the river St. Mary, between Lakes Superior and Huron. It is accessible by several steamer routes, and by the "Soo Line" of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Having business at Ottawa we left on Saturday night in company with Messrs. R. Birmingham, A. F. Campbell, Major Cooper and Capt. Thompson for that city. The evening was passed pleasantly waiting in hopes our good friend Ed. Cochrane M.P., would join the party at Peterboro Norwood or Havelock; but he forestalled us by going down in the morning.

At Ottawa Hon. N. C. Wallace, Congently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the sys-tem effectually, dispels colds, head-aches and fevers and cures habitual train from Ottawa and after a few home songs led by the inimitable singers Cochrane and Campbell all turned in to dream of far away friends and scenes.

At least such it was a constant of the sister province of Quebec rising up on the other side, the scene is truly romantic and grand. At least such it was a constant of the side of t grand. At least such it appeared to us on Monday morning as the train sped along. Brother Cochrane and ourselves were the only two early birds. To the others such scenes were old; at all events they seemed to prefer the arms of Morpheus to Canadian scenery. The arms we preferred were not those of the ancient god of sleep. The train was approaching North Bay about half-past eight, before

North Bay is a flourishing town where the Northern and Pacific Junction division of the Grand Trunk railway joins the Canadian Pacific. Here Mrs. Wallace joined her husband, that worthy lady having come from Woodbridge. Her husband will be honored with her company to Sault, and also onward to Chicago seems a bright flourishing place, rough and ready it is true, but giving every indication of great things for the future. Here the Winnipeg train was waiting. On alighting at the platform our delight and surprise were great to be welcomed by Mr. Kirkwood, one of our old Toronto collegiate institute students. He and his brother are partners with Mr. Lennon, brother of Lindsay's estimable citizen Jas. H. Lennon. In a moment we met Messrs. Johnston, Demorest and Mickle, also old Toronto students of ours now business men. We felt at home in the thriving mining town, for the boys are all fine specimens of honest Canadian manhood now; and such brave fellows would not only make one feel at home any where, but would make any place pros-perous. Another splendid looking fellow attracted our attention. A hearty grasp of the hand assured us of his identity members of the tamily he had met. Mr. Myles is a successful blacksmith at Sudand two girls. His visit was fraught with great results.

At Sudbury or a few miles out, the famous Coppercliffe nickel mine was passed. A lodge of more than one hundred orangemen is there found. Indeed in the settlements north of the Magnetewan river are found forty orange lodges in full working order, with an active membership of several thousand. That a true British spirit predominates west of the Ottawa is evident from the number of neat British flags seen adorning mining and lumber camps along the railway. These were always greeted with a cheer from our party. There is an absence of the enormous parish church and priest's residence so familiar along the Ottawa valley.
