THE WINNIPEG ELECTION.

On Wednesday last week Hon. Attorney-General Martin, the most popular man in Manitoba was elected member of parliament in Winnipeg to succeed Hugh John Macdonald, son of the old chief, resigned. The conservative candidate was a young man named Campbell. Mr. Martin's majority was 426, and was of course chiefly due to his popularity as the champion of the Manitoba School Act.

But, the election displays how strangely people act. Archbishop Tache says roman catholics largely supported Martin, and more world have done so but for resentment against him on the school issue. Yet orangemen like Stuart Mulvey, went howling about, exciting protestant fanaticism for Martin on the school issue. Thus Martin pulled both ropes, thanks to blind protestant bigotry that would be a disgrace to the dark ages.

The school question is settled in the only peaceable and effective way, i.e., in the courts. Political opinions could never decide it, for each side would constantly be bringing it up. But, then bigots know nothing of the proper procedure under responsible government. They, however, would wish the people to believe themselves possessed of all the loyalty in the land.

For the first week after the election, we were very much annoyed at the reports concerning peroration by a fellow named Chamberlain of Toronto, said to be operating in the conservative interest. The game is well known to be the grit practice, as West Northumberland, South and North Victoria, Toronto, etc., everywhere has illustrated; and an article was penned by us for THE WARDER condemning the tory managers for resorting to such grit tactics. But a strange revelation was made in court in Winnipeg on Tuesday. Mr. A. W. Ross, M.P., had the editor of the Winnipeg Tribune arrested for libelling him in connection with the Chamberlain affair. In court the grits sought to use evidence against the personation; but a regular bombshell exploded in the grit camp. Here it is from the court evidence:—

"Chamberlain was the second witness. He said he knew Ayre well. He had expected to meet Ayre on the train coming to Winnipeg. When witness left Toronto on Saturday he could not find Ayre on the train. He received a letter from Mitchell to give Ayre, addressed to A. W. Ross. He believed it was a letter of introduction. There was also a little slip of paper giving Mr. Ross's address. Witness was to give this to Mr. Ayre on the train. As far as he knew Ayre did not come on that train or any other train. Chamberlain said he had known Mr. Ross in Vancouver, and when he arrived in Winnipeg had spoken a few minutes with him, but not on election matters. He did not require any letter of introduction to Mr. Ross. Then came the question of the trial. Counsel for Richardson asked Chamberlain if he had represented himself as anybody else, that is, if he had personated. Chamberlain replied that he had, and had done so at the instance of several men supporting Mr. Martin. Who were these Martin men? he was asked. The reply was: "I want to see Mr. Millet, and then Millet took me down to Pat O'Connor's the day before the election. I saw Joshua Callaway there on the day of election. They wanted me to go out and personate for Martin. Millet told Pat O'Connor that he had come up to help Mr. Martin. I got a list of names at Pat O'Connor's. I do not remember taking an oath at one of the polls."

Thus, again the "party of purity" are unmasked. What with romish church, and the fanatical orange influence, personators, prestige over the Manitoba school act, and "barrels of boddie" it seems no wonder Martin won.

Special to The Warder. DEATH.—It is our sad duty to chronicle the death of brother Richard Lee, who departed this life on the 23rd, after an illness of about three weeks. All that medical skill could do was of no avail. The death of Bro. Lee cast a gloom over the village and vicinity as he was a favorite of all. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. O. L. Thompson of Onemee. The body was interred in the Mt. Hope cemetery, followed by a large number of sorrowing friends.

Special to The Warder. DEATH.—In spite of medical skill and the best of consolation and care that dreaded disease phthisis (consumption) laid hold of the indefatigable and deadly, and within twelve months terminated a bright and hopeful career in the distinguished person of Ella, third daughter of Wm. B. The demise was somewhat unexpected as she had not been confined to bed but three weeks previous to death, during which time she speedily faded away. The deceased was much beloved by all whom she had the pleasure of acquaintance, being characterized by an affable, genial and unassuming disposition, always fulfilling her duty as a member of the family in the most pleasing and cheerful manner. The funeral was held on Monday the 30th, was followed by a large concourse of relatives, friends and acquaintances to Zion cemetery, where interment took place. The funeral services were ably conducted by the Rev. E. B. Emerson, assisted by the Rev. G. B. Grosbeck, both of Little Britain circuit. The mourners have the entire sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

MANILLA.

Special to The Warder. M. I. S. ENTERTAINMENT.—Our cultured citizens have long since marked the reputation of appreciating only the sublime. Their fastidious taste was gratified and their acrimony overpowered by the splendor of scenery and talent displayed at the recent literary festival. Without a doubt the entertainment on Friday evening last thoroughly impressed the interested audience with the beauty and attractiveness of the White city. The views were presented on canvas by Wm. Stevens, B.A., of Lindsay, through the powerful stereopticon. Having enjoyed the sights of sights of the original Mr. Stevens was well pleased with useful and interesting information. The audience was highly and highly delighted with the scenery. Nor was this all. The Columbia club, comprising a number of young ladies exhibited grace and skill in marching and club-swinging. Although recently organized they were the road to fame. The recitations of Miss E. Byers and Miss A. McLean showed superior talent. Music was ably rendered by Miss G. Glendinning on the violin. The address by Rev. J. Foster and Dr. Gilliland, the president, showed that our institute, although an infant society was fast growing into manhood. It is gaining ground rapidly and many are availing themselves of its many privileges. We wish it continued success.

IRLAY.

Special to The Warder. CONDOLENCE.—At the last meeting of L. Y. T. L. the members in sympathetic sympathy unanimously adopted the resolution that the following card of condolence be sent to the bereaved parents and family who mourn the loss of a late member of our lodge, Miss Maud Cowleson.

"It becomes our sad lot as a society to lament the death of one of our most faithful members, the late Miss Maud Cowleson of Cambraiv. She has been a member of our lodge for about two years and during that time has shown herself to be an honest, gentle and faithful temperance worker, always willing to do everything in her power to promote the interest of the temperance cause. And although not permitted on account of distance to attend to every meeting of the society, yet when possible she was always found in her place contributing her part to the great movement that has for its object the hurrying from our land the demon of intemperance, and the uplifting of mankind. And we believe that her influence will work on in this direction, even now, after her departure from among us. We extend our loving, heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones who mourn because of the sudden parting, praying that they with us may draw comfort from the great truth.

LONGFELLOW.

"There is no death; What seems so is transition. This life of mortal breath Is but a transport of the life Elysian, Whose portal we call death."

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

—The attendance of lodge which has been rather below the average at the last few meetings on account of other meetings in the vicinity, is now beginning to increase and all the members seem full of the determination to do good work in the coming months, and especially to make the programme interesting and instructive.

PERSONAL.

—Was some one wondering who composed that merry lode that came from south on Wednesday evening? Why, of course it is a load of students from Lindsay, out for a holiday, and determined to make the best of it.

FENELON FALLS.

Special to The Warder. On Thanksgiving evening the ladies of the presbyterian church here, served an oyster supper in Ingram's hall, to which about two hundred persons sat down. The supper was followed by a literary entertainment in Dickson's hall, at which the local clergy delivered short addresses, musical recitations were supplied by other local talent. As the proceeds amounted to over fifty dollars, the ladies have resolved to hold a grand and interesting Divine worship was held at half-past ten a. m. of the same day in the baptist church and at three p. m. in St. James' church, the service being in each case conducted by the resident minister.

THE DEATH OF JAMES MURRAY, eldest son of Alexander Murray, the well known Hamilton merchant, has caused general sorrow in this city. Mr. Murray was born and educated in Hamilton was one of the most popular young men in the city, possessing as he did, a geniality and kindness of disposition which secured for him the friendship of every one with whom he was acquainted. He was a member of the Royal Hamilton yacht club, and the Hamilton Jockey club, and was well known to the members of each. The funeral, which was private, took place last Thursday, from his father's residence, "Arlis House," 206 Main St. west, the services being conducted by Drs. Laidlaw and Fletcher, and Rev. Mr. Lyle. The pallbearers were his brothers John and Alex. his cousin Charles Murray and his brother-in-law Charles Jones of Hamilton and his cousins John and James Murray of Toronto—Hamilton Herald. Mr. Murray was a cousin of the Misses Macneiven of Fenelon Falls.

FENELON FALLS.

From an Occasional Correspondent. THE OYSTER SUPPER and concert in connection with the Presbyterian church, on the 23rd last, was a success in every way. The hall was crowded to its full capacity and the literary part of the programme well rendered. Mr. Fred Train who was severely injured some time ago in Ellis' mill is now able to walk around a little and will spend a couple of weeks under the parental roof before returning to work. Mr. Bartram left town on Saturday morning leaving two of our young ladies on the iron bridge with bars in their hair. One of our young men was made the recipient of a very handsome present last week. It was a rattie box and a young lady the donor. The rattie rick is being fitted up for the approaching season.
