THE MAKING OF A WOMAN.

The education of a girl resolves itself to a single basis, writes Edward W. Bok in a strong article in the January Ladies' Home Journal. Woman's progress may, in the minds of some, have seemed to make it more complex, and confusion can enter into the question if a mother allows herself to listen to the proclaimers of so-called "advanced ideas." We will be led into the mistake of cultivating the mind at the expense of the heart, if we allow ourselves to be so led. But the error is a cruel one—painfully so to the girl who is led, unknowingly, into it. But if we permit our common-sense to rule, the preblem solves itself. We do not want our daughters to be encyclopedias, but true, womanly women. The first we can buy; the latter we cannot. Let us first look after the physical development of our girls, teaching them that good health outweighs all things. Let them understand the human mechanism, hiding nothing. Let them know what God requires of a woman, and why it is essential that she shall be as perfect in health, and as well-developed in body as possible. Teach, by example as well as by precept, the value of outdoor exercise. Then begin mental development, giving her the benefit of the largest educational advantages within your powers, insisting, however, that her studies shall be those likely to be of greatest usefulness in after life. Let her study not up to her fullest capacity, but About Educating Our Girls. greatest usefulness in after life. Let her greatest usefulness in after life. Let her study not up to her fullest capacity, but just a little this side of it. A margin of unspent power is a tremendous force to woman. Then, if our schools and colleges shall continue to neglect the teaching of household economics, keep your daughter close to you at home for a year at least, or longer if necessary. With her mind free from mental studies, teach her the rudiments of the home. Farm of 170 acres

With her mind free from mental studies, teach her the rudiments of the home, hiding not the kitchen utensils as you show her the dainty china. Make of her all-round good home-builder and house-keeper, holding up ever before her the one great truth that a woman is always most satisfactory to herself when she is a woman, and most beautiful to others when she is womanly. Let her know what it means to be a wife and a mother. Make her not dependent, but likewise not independent in the modern interpretation of that word. Between the two lies the truest type of womanhood. Let her aim be womanly, her thought of others tender, living her life so that the world may be better because she passed through it.

There is not much novelty in stock ings, but the spon silks are now made with broad ribs, hitherto associated with wolllen goods, and they are to be had in boot bronze, brown, black, and many other colorings. Cashmere stockings show any amount of variety in spots and other sm. Il designs, which now are generally carried quite to the top. The weavers are emulating the knitters, and the pretty patterns which we see in Scotland, worn for shooting and generally hand-knutted, are being applied in woven patterns of golf hose. "Speech is silver, but silence is golden," said George Francis Train at the Palmer House recently, "and I am going to relapse into silence again. For 14 years I refused to speak to a man or woman, and I am going back to New York on a scalper's ticket and in Madison Square resume my old occupation of silence. I have had a good time in Chicago, I have lived at a hotel and had a nice room on the first floor, counting from the top of the building. Five hundred servants of the hotel have been at my beck and call. The mucilage pot, pen and ink and stationary have been supplied me, all for $1 a day. When I am hungry, I go down to a luncheon and get a plate of wheat cakes and a cup of coffee for 15 cents. I am happy and have solved the problem of living."—Chicago Tribune.
