PRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1894.

Keep Steady, Keep steady, young man, keep steady—
Nor waver when put to the test,
When a villian assails, be ready;
Defeat him by doing your best.
With plausible words he advances;
With cunning he strengthens his chances; He does all his planning with care; He's wily and wicked. Beware!

Resist all his sly approaches—
Yield never an inch to the foe.
Whenever that foe encroaches,
Resort to a resolute NO!
With flattery, cunning, he plies you;
With sympathy, artful, he tries you;
His wiles he keeps well out of sight;
He comes as an "angel of light!"

As of ghostly fingers tapping on the wains-cot all around. Stiff and straight I sat and listened, while my wild eyes pierced the gloom,
Looking for their spirit figures to come floating through the room;
And my heart was all a-tremble with expectancy and fear,
Almost dreading their appearance and the words I soon would hear. But the room grew cold and colder, so I crawled within my bed.

Softly drawing up the blankets till they reached above my head;

Still there came no demonstration of that weird, mysterious power.

But the rat behind my bureau kept on construction for an hour. gnawing for an hour.
