GENTLEMEN,—I purchased of your salesman, F. B. Watterworth, a Home Comfort Range on the 15th of Feb. and am pleased to say that it gives entire satisfaction. We have thoroughly tested it and find it to be superior to any stove or range that we have ever used—in fact it is perfection as a baker—heats up quickly and uses about one-half the fuel that our other stove consumed. I cheerfully recommend it to anyone in need of a cooking apparatus.

who is charged with serious insidement ours, and his trial was set down for Friday next at the old Bailey.

The settlement of so early a date for Oscar Wilde's trial is thought to be due to the popular clamour for the rapid clearing away of this stench in the nostrils of the English people. There is little doubt that the intense resentment felt by the populace will be unsatisfied with anything short of swift and sure conviction and punishment of the whilom idol of the aesthetes. On the other hand, it must not be thought that Wilde is alone, without friends or sympathy, and that no effort will be made in his behalf to secure deferment of the trial. He has his disciples, and chief among these apologists for the accused one is Lord Alfred Douglas, son of the Marquis of Queensberry, who has written a letter to the Star, appealing for a suspension of public judgment against Wilde, who, he says, is "now delivered up to the fury of a cowardly and brutal mob." In Jan., 1892, my son was taken with Kidney disease. Though attended by three physicians, and change of climate, he grew worse and by '98 had fallen from 195 lbs, to 95 lbs. The Gigantic Monopoly.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY MAKES FIFTY MILLIONS.

Chicago, April 20.—The Standard Oil company is ongaged now in the most stupendous operation ever undertaken in its career—to take from the pockets of the American people, through the medium et oil, a sum of money the immensity of which is not measured by the mere expression of it in figures; to acquire as part of its possessions the desirable oil producing territory of the United States east of the Missouri river and in so doing to constitute itself supreme and absolute owner of an indispensable lighting and fuel material in this country, as it is now dictator of its distribution.

Subordinate to the main object is a purpose to wrest heavy profits from advances not alone in the bi product of oil, but possibly in other properties in which

There are signs that the gigantic plan will succeed. By the advances made so far in the price of reflued oil the Standard Beaverton, and Ross of Kirkfield were has added $50,000,000 to the value of the called in but their skill was of no avail, which, unless the best information is invance of four cents a gallon on naphtha and two and one-half cents on gasoline. That means that the prices to jobbers are 11 1-2 and 11 cents respectively. Both commodities, though largely used, do not concern the public so much as kerosene.

Nicaraguan Trouble.

London, April 23.—The Chronicle this morning says of the report that Nicaragua is willing to cede Corn island to Great Britain:—The offer of Corn island instead of the payment of a money indemnity looks like a 'plant' on the part of our Nicarguan friends, for they know that its acceptance would call out against us all the champions of Monroeism. We do not want any trouble with the United States over this peculiar doctrine, and therefore it would be better if we struck to our money demands. If Nicaragua wishes to sell Corn island she had better offer it to the Americans, or some other people."

Trade and the Flag.

While there was a decrease of over a million dollars in our total exports last year, there was an increase of four and a half millions in in our shipments to Great Britain, of $298. 000 in our sales to the West Indies, of $224,-000 in our exports to Newfoundland, and of $34,000 in the products sent to Australia.

Thus, while there was a falling off in our total trade, there was a marked advance in our dealings with those portions of the world which are under British jurisdiction.

There is evidently something in the theory that trade follows the flag after all,

Capital and Labor.

As for the better understanding and feeling between employers and employed, that seems to be growing less and less possible. Labor, especially in its great organizations, so largely composed as they are of foreigners in whom socialism is inbred, has deliberately arrayed itself emissions. itself against capital, as if it were its worst enemy instead of its best friend. The feeling between the two classes grows less friendly day by day, and a disagreement upon any subject of common interest to them is more likely than not to begin with a strike, the policy of arbitration soming in at the end, after one party or the other is exhausted; and yet, if labor but knew it, its interests and capital are not antegonistic, but mutual,

One Hundred Years of War. A highly interesting study of what a hun-

When the revolution broke out France's effective army was only 120,000 men. For the wars waged during ten years in Belgium, on the Sambre, the ing ten years in Belgium, on the Samore, the Meuse, the Rhine, the Alps, the Pyrenees, in the Vendee, and in Egypt there were called out 2,800,000. At the census made in the ninth year of the republic there remained of these only 677,509. In killed and in dead by disease the wars of the first republic cost France 2 122 402 men. From 1891 to Water-lee 3, 157, 302 men searcely sufficed to fill the loo 3,157,398 men scarcely sufficed to fill the blanks whick, in an incessant war against combined Europe, France incurred at Auster-litz, Jena, Auerstadt, Friedland, Saragossa, Eckmuhl, Essling, Wagram, Tarragona, Smoensk, Moscow, Lutzen, Bautzer, Dresden, Leipzig, and Waterloo. Under the restoration Louis Philippe, and the second republic, in spite of the war in Spain (1823), the conquest winter shipped the last car of the season the other day. He reports having done a fine trade both in the mercantile and calm. The army numbered about 213,748, and the mortality averaged 22 per 1,000. In 1853 5 commenced the epoch of the great wars
