At Gorrie the new orange hall erected there was dedicated by the Grand Master, assisted by the Grand Secretary. There was a large attendance and some excellent speeches were delivered.

In Toronto on Wednesday evening L.O.L. No. 140 held their annual banquet, at which the Grand Master, Bro. Hon. N. C. Wallace, E. F. Clarke, and many other leading members of the crange association were present and spoke.

The day was fittingly celebrated by the orangemen of Canada from the Atlantic

American Pork in Uanada

"Our farmers who complain of low prices will be surprised to hear that Chicago pork can be landed in Moncton, New Brunswick, freight and duty paid, at a lower price than the domestic article. At the present price, the United States farmer does not get more than three cents per pound for his pork. But for the duty imposed by the Dominion government for the protection of the farmers, United States beef, as well as pork, would virtually control this market. This is a fact that cannot be questioned."—Moncton Times.

Yet it is protective duties such as those referred to which the grits make a ground for howling about "enormous taxation on the necessaries of life." But it is just as necessaries of life." But it is just as necessary that our farmers should be given every chance this country can afford for prosperous business as that other people should eat. The grit spite against our farmers, as evinced by their give-away policy, is a most victous one, without a redeeming feature.

To All Whom it May Concern.

Know all men by these resents who are indebted to THE WARDER for subscription or job work; that we want them for divers good and sufficient reasons to settle their indebtedness at an early date. A newspaper cannot be published en promises to pay, no more than the merchant can sell goeds on fair promises that are forgotten to be kept. We therefore request all who are in arrears for subscription or otherwise indebted to THE WARDER to govern themselves accordingly.

A Damaging Policy.

To decry Canada has long been a mania with Sir Richard Cartwright, in fact, this peculiarity has been the bane of his whole political life. Unfortunately for our country, Sir Richard's peculiarity has been adopted by Mr. Laurier and other grit leaders. Notwithstanding the fact that the universal depression of the past few years affected Canada to a less extent than it did any other country in the world.

American or Briton who reads the liberal newspapers of Canada during the liberal leader's tours finds such phrases as these: "commercial oppression," "the rule of favoritism," "restriction of trade," "corruption," "combines and mono-polists," "the citadel of privilege," "tax-ing and fettering trade," "harassing importers," "the favored few." The Toronto Star, an independent paper in referring to this peculiarly liberal quality, migration does not flow this way. Reading such gloomy tales, the foreigner is apt to become imbued with the idea that some gigantic force is crushing the life out of the people of Canada; that the vast majority of the people are starving or tolling for barely enough to keep body rolling in luxury squeezed from their millions of victims. The foreigner is not told of the encouraging way in which Canada weathered the commercial storm that swept over the United States and was that swept over the United States and was keenly felt in wealthy Britain. He is not told of the solidity of Canada's commercial and financial institutions, nor of the splendid ground work prepared for the great nation we are to have. The construction of the foundation has burdened the country heavily, but with the influx The fifth of November was celebrated by L.O.L. appointment or not. In speaking of this appointment, the Victoria Colonist says The Republican Victory.

The people of the United States have made up their mind on one thing at least. They will have nothing more to do with the party that is responsible for the Wilson bill. The republicans have re-captured the country, Their victory over the democrats partakes of the nature of a landslide. The president to be elected next year will undoubtedly be a republican. There will be no more tinkering with so-called tariff reform. The Salvation Army Notes

A Minister and Smoking.

At a christian endeavor union meeting held in Essex on Wednesday, Rev. J. C. Tolmie, of Windsor, told the delegates in plain language that he saw no harm in amoking. Rev. Mr. that he saw no harm in smoking. Rev. Mr. McLaren read a paper that was was strongly against the use of the weed, and Rev. Mr. Philips denounced smokers generally. In reply Mr. Tolmie said he smoked, and did not go behind the door to do it. He did not think he was serving the devil in so doing. He was certainly opposed to young boys smoking. Extreme views indulged on these matters were doing an injury to the church and in the endeavor society. These were things that individuals must settle with their own consciences. Christianity must stand things that individuals must settle with their own consciences. Christianity must stand for higher things, and the church had a larger field cutaide of such petty questions. Dr. Battisby, Chatham, thought great harm was often done by extravagant language. Men should act from conviction, and if total abstineucs was insisted upon for church membership Christ Himself would be excluded.
