The board of health has risen up against them, declaring that they help to spread contagious diseases. As paper pads are now very cheap they are likely soon to dispossess the slate, for they are more cleanly in every way. Yet the little ones who are not brought up to the use of the slate will lose one if the most interest incomplements of the slate will lose one if the most interest ing implements of their early life. On no paper pad can fex and goose be so easily played as on the slate; on nothing but a slate can a vigorous sham battle be fought, and what young artist will in the early days of his bud ding genius be able to draw a ship on a paper pad with the skill with which he could do the work with a pencil on a siate?

J. D Grassi, M.D., died at his residence, corner of Cambridge and Wellington streets, universally regretted by all who knew him. He had been ill for nearly a year from an internal complaint which beffied the skill of the medical profession in Toronto and Lindsay who were consulted. The deceased was a son of the late Philip DeGrassi, who had been an officer in the French service during the time of the first N. poleon, was taken prisoner and conveyed to England, where after the peace he merried a dentered the English army, in which he attained the rank of captain, settling in Toronto on his retiring from the service by the tale of his commission. Dr. D Grassi commenced the practice of his profession in Oat wood in 1863, where he lived for about seven years, when from his increasing practice he decided to move to Lindsay as being more central. He married Miss Crapper of Toronto, who survives him, one child being born to them, now Mrs. M. Boyd of Bebosygeon. In teligions matters he was a member of the English church, in politican ardent conservative, always willing to work and act for the political party of his choice not merely as an adherent, but from the canadactions for office, at the time of his death ambitions for office, at the time of his death lowest prices. -20-tf. town council as deputy reeve but was not ambitious for office, at the time of his death Court Lindsay No. 125. THE CUSINESS MAN'S LUNCH.

Hard Work and Indigestion go Hand in Hand.

Concentrate served, continued in, robs the stomage new sary blood, and this is also true of hard any sical labor.

When a prochorse-power engine is made when a chorse-power engine is made to do ten horse-power work something is going to break. Very often the hardworked man coming from the field or the office will "host" his food in a few minates which will take hours to digest. Then too, many foods are about as useful in the too, many foods are about as useful in the stomach as a keg of nails would be in a fire under a boiler. The ill-used stomach remses to do its work without the proper stimulus which it gets from the blood and nerves. The nerves are weak and "ready to break." because they do not get the nourishment they require from the blood, finally the ill-used brain is morbidly wide awake when the overworked man attempts to find rest in bed.

KNAVEHTY.— The gentleman who does business on the left of this office, and with whom we share a wood yard, is, generally speaking a pretty decent fellow, and a good neighbor. This j mrnal dislikes very much to intrude its private affairs upon its readers, but is it, now, the act of a neighbor, to lay it a stock of fire wood, such infernal knotty churks that the "devil" himself could not whit, and that are too but for our story. The oplit, and that are too bug for our stove. The great and eternal brotherhood of man, with its vast and inexhaustible fund of love and sympathy, is what this journal, in seeson and out of season, endeavors to inculcate, and here i's next door neighbor actually—oh, well, it is no use saying more, the heart of this journal is broken—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Urser.—A somewhat amusing incident occurred at the corner of Kent and William streets on Saturday. The prit candidate for South Victoria at the coming election, was South Victoria at the coming election, was discussing the political situation with a few friends when a hig dog came racing around the corner at a two-forty gait. Not being able to stop on the moment, he, the dog, conceived the happy idea, that he could pass between the candidate's pedal extremeties but it is supposed, that if he reasoned at all, did not care for the result, as George was upset. Whose dog is that? was the catural question, when some unregenerate young tories who were standing by, exclaimed he belongs to Charley Fairbairn

One Honest Man.

Dear Editor :- Please inform your readers, that if written to confidentially I will mail in a sealed letter, particulars of a genuine, honest home cure, by which I was permanently restored to health and manly vigor, after years of suffering from nervous debility sexual weakness, night losses and weak shrunken parts. I was robbed and swindled by the quacks until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but thank heaven, I am now well, vigorous and strong, and wish to make this certain means of cure known to all sufferers.
