Scutt's Sarsaparilla his Salvation. Nothing blights existence like the knowledge that our appearance is re-pellant to those with whom we come in centact, nor is there any relief like that of feeling that the disfiguring causes have been removed. Says Mr. William Alger: My face on one side was a mass of blotches, some of which were constantly full of matter. I run a bake shop doing my own work, but my face got so bad that customers drifted away. Then I hired a man and went to a doctor. He said my blood was in a horrible condition. VERY LITTLE INTEREST has been taken so far as to the municipal elections except that there is a rumor that Mr. M. Mansfield will be a candidate for the reeveship. There is no doubt he would make a first-class reeve as he has had a great deal of experience in municipal matters, having been reeve of the township of Golway for a number of years.

The dyspeptic carries a dreadful load on his back. It seems as if he were really made of two men. One of them ambitious, brainy and energetic; the other sick, listless, prevish and without force. The weak man weighs the other one down. The dyspeptic may be able to do pretty good work one day, and the next day because of some little indiscretion in eating, he may be able to do nothing at all. ing, he may be able to do nothing at all. Most cases of dyspepsia start with constipation.
Constipation is the cause of nine tenths of all human sickness. Some of its symptoms are sick and billious headache, dizziness, sour stomach, loss of appetite, foul breath, windy belchings, heartburn, pain and distress after eating. All these are indicative of derangements of the livery stomach, and hardle and ments of the liver, stomach and bowels, and all are caused by constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Peliets are the quickest, easiest and most certain cure for this condition. They are not violent in action.

From Back to Back in a Day.

Make a coat in a day: from shearing the wool from a sheep's back to putting the finished garment on one's own back. Nonsense! it could not be done. This would probably be the reply to any one claiming such a thing, or, if not, at least one would receive a reply expressing a strong doubt of the possibility of doing so, notwithstanding the vast improvements in machinery within the past fifty years. The feat, however, was accomplished even as far back as 1811, by Mr. John Coveter, of Greenham Mills, near Newbury, England,

At five o'clock in the morning Mr. Coveter was presented with two South-down Wedder sheep. At first the sheep were shorn, the wool spun, the yarn spooled, warped, loomed, and wove. After that the cloth was burred, milled, rowed, dyed, pressed, and late in the afternoon put in the hands of the tailors. By half past six the coat was finished, and Mr. Coveter presented it to one of the gentlemen of the town amid the thundering applause of five thousand speciators.-Harper's Round Table.

Bismarck's Musical Performance.

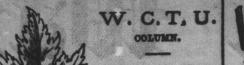

Prince Bismarck, one of the greatest of Prince Bismarck, one of the greatest of men, grinding a hand organ. This sounds a little absurd, and yet he did grind an organ, and in the royal palace at Berlin. It seems one day considerable noise issued from an apartment used by the young princes. Bismarck, who was passing by, put his head within the door and found the young princes dancing and shouting to the tunes of a barrel-organ played by the crown prince. The moment played by the crown prince. The moment they saw him they invited him to have some fun, too. Bismarck declined, but agreed to play the organ if the crown prince would dance with the rest. The rown prince readily gave up the organ

Right merrily went the fun, and right lively Bismarck ground away, when into the midst of the shouting, laughing, dancing group, stalked the Kaiser. A smile crept over his face when he saw that great statesman, Bismarck, a man of For Bronchitis.

Gentlemen.—We have used Yellow Oil as family remedy for Bronchitis with every cess. My husband also used it for a stiff we that he thought he would never be to use again, but it is now as well as ever the using Hagyard's Yellow Oil.

A Merry Christmas to the Readers of the W.C.T.U. Column,

WRITE THE NAME OF JESUS. Each one has got a mission Among his fellow men, And none can do a grander work Than Jesus' name to pen; But how shall it be written? From whence shall come the roll? The sainted life shall write it, On human hearts—the scroll,

Then write the name of Jesus. Write with a master's skill; Seek first His work, then do it According to His will: 'Twill prove to be more lasting Than any work of art. The blessed name of Jesus On the human heart.

Yes, write the name of Jesus, Pen it with your might; Let "Jesus" be your watchword, And stand for God and right. Remember your example Seen by a mighty host, Is often instrumental In bringing back the lost.

The blessed name of Jesus Means life to mortal man, And he who truly writes it Promotes the Sayiour's plan; Then write the name of Jesus. For woe and sin is rife. And when the scroll is written You'll gain a crown of life.

Plucky Girl. "A young man from Boston, Mass., and a young lady living near Fredericton, New Brunswick, were to have been married on Monday last. The young man arrived from Boston on Saturday, all togged up for the occasion. The bridesmaid, groomsman and clergyman were secured and the hour appointed for the wedding. Just before the ceremony the young man and his intended held a consultation, and during the course of their remarks she asked him what capital he had to start married life with. He replied that he had nothing in the world and then, and the ceremony being declared off the bridesmaid and grooms man were dismissed and the minister

A Convincing Argument. A young man entered the bar room of mad once, and I cannot sell you any more." He stepped aside to make room them very politely. The other stood by sullenly, and when they had finished he walked up to the landlord and said: those young men are now. I was a man with fair prospects. Now, at the age of twenty-eight, I am a wreck, body and mind. You led me to drink. In this room I formed the habit that has been my ruin. Now, sell me a few more glasses and your work will be done! I 2.30 pm. by Rev. Dr. Williamson, of will be done! I will soon be out of the let me die, and the world will be rid of me; but for heaven's sake don't sell any more to them." The landlord listened pale and trembling. Setting down his decanter he exclaimed: "God helping me, that is the last drop I will ever sell to any one !"

> Another Independent Movement Mrs. Huida Rockwell, of Picton, super intendent of the department of legislation and petitions for the dominion W.C.T.U. is promoting another movement for independent political action, and for the election of prohibitionists. She has prepared and is circulating a voters' pledge. It is very similar in many respects to the pledge of the advanced prohibitionists, and practically covers the same ground. She has put it to the test in her own town, and found that prohibition electors are prepared to sign it and stand by it. A larger movement will now be undertaken, and the ladies of the W.O.T.U. throughout the Dominion will be appealed to to push the new pledge signing campaign.

Scott Act Romance. The Scott act has often been charged with invading the rights of the citizens, but it remained for the Sussex N.B. Renord to announce its most serious invasion of even love's retreat, It says: "They say that the course of true love never runs smooth, and there is a young Scott act offender now in Hampton jail who believes this statement. He was there from Sussex some three weeks ago and is now serving out a 160 days' sentence in default of the payment of a $100 fine. It appears he had been out of work for some time, and not wishing to leave the object of his adoration, with the parties who sold the ardent While there he was unfortunate enough While there he was unfortunate enough to be captured by the inspector and received the sentence as stated before. It is at this point that the real romance of the affair comes in. As soon as the young woman heard of her lover's troubles she went to Hampton and offered to pay $30 down and $5 a month till the fine was paid. The officials, while admiring her loyalty, had not the power to grant the young man his liberty on this instalment plan method."

Thomas Wiegand, who first discovered gold on the Seine, has given an option on all his holdings to the English syndicats, headed by W. D. Ferguson, of London, and W. Hamilton Merritt of Toronto. Something unique and convenient the folding waste paper box or basket, so easily packed in the trunk when going for a visit or a short stay anywhere. To make this basket, take heavy card-board and cut eight pieces, each about eight inches square; cover them with plain or figured duck or linen—a deep golden brown flecked with dull red and yellow is artistic. Cover the eight pieces and overhand them finely together in pairs, so that the four sides of the basket are formed. Make a similar fitth square for the bottom. In overhanding the pairs together leave one side of each square open until a piece of the duck has been slipped between.
