That "Lovely"

"I am glad you have discovered how nek that is lovely as well as useful that word housekeeper means. The mere providing of beds, meals, etc., is a very small part of the work. The home-making, the comfort, the sympathy, the grace and atmosphere that a true versue. The home-making, the comfort, the sympathy, the grace and atmosphere that a true versue. The provide is the noble part, and embraces all that is helpful for soul as well as body. I wish our girls would see this, and set about being the true housekeepers. Mrs. Ripley used to rock her baby's cradle, ahell peas, or sew, and its class of young men for college at the same time. One can discuss Greek postry and chop meat, as I saw her doing once with Mr. Emerson and Margaret Fuller, and the one task enobled the other because it was duty."—From one of Louisa M Alcott's unpublished letters in April Ladies' Home Journal.

Beauty is as Beauty Does.

"You think the Ugly Duckling never becomes a swan?" writes Ruth Ashmore in April Ladies' Home Journal, "Rachel, who was said to have had the most ex pressive face of any woman in the century, and to have been the most graceful, was counted by her family an excessively Mr. J. Some Dealers Substitute Cheap i and Worthless Dyes

When the Popular Diamond Dyes Are Asked For.

The great popularity of Diamond Dyes has resulted in many worthless imitations -adulterated and cheap materials-that are bought by some merchants at a very low price; and for the purpose of extra large profits, these dealers urge their customers to buy these weak and worth ees substitutes.

The substitution of common dyes for the wonder working Diamond Dyes is one of the grossest frauds now being worked on the ladies of Canada. Beware of the dealer who tries to induce you to take the common dyes that give him large pro-

Diamond Dyes are from two to three times as strong as any of the imitation dyes. The best materials that science can produce are used in the manufacture of Diamond Dyes, and you get your money's worth when you buy them.—39.1.

Three Grand Suggestions.

On three occasions lately we have noted things which are worthy of more than passing thought. Dr. McGillivray, Whitby, made the suggestion publicly that the children of our public schools be taught to sing "The Maple Leaf." Mr. F. L. Fowke, Oshawa, urges that the school children be made to take the most prominent part in Dominion day celebrations; Mr. Thos. Comant, Cedar Dale, suggests that our most prominent and re-liable newspapers be placed in the schools and their items read and commented upon Do we need to reply that they are anxious to have patriotism instliled into the boys and girls of the Dominion? We have too little of this sentiment in Canada:

In the United States the youth is filled with patriotism from childhood. The Americans sing it, they talk it, they preach it, they dream of it, they make great national holidays to proclaim it, they waste millions yearly over it, they lie about it, they chalk it down everywhere, there is one thing about the American that we admire him for it is his love of country. All the sneers that have been made at their 4th of July oratory have not weaned them from it. Nothing will stop them of styling themselves "The Americans," notwithoutstanding that they

The Drunkard's Daughter.

These beautiful and touching versus we written by a young lady in reply to a frie who had called her a monomanias on t Go, feel what I have felt,
Go, bear what I have borne;
Sink 'neath a blow a father dealt,
And the cold, proud world's acorn;
Then struggle on from year to year,
The cole relief the scalding tear.

Go, weap as I have wept
O'er a loved father's fail,
See every cherished promise swept,
Youth's sweetness turned to gall,
Hope's faded flowers strewn all the way
That led me up to woman's day. Go, kneel as I have knelt:

Implore, beserch and pray;
Strive the besetted heart to melt,
The downward course to stay;
Be cast with bitter curse aside,
Thy prayers burlesqued thy tears defied. Go, stand where I have stood,
And see the strong man bow
With mashing teeth, lips bathed in blood
And cold and livid brow;
Go catch his wandering glance and see
There mirrowed his sout's misery.

Go, hear what I have heard-The sobe of sad deepsir
As memory's feeling fount has stirred,
And its revealings there
Have told him what he might have

Had he the drunkard's fate foreseen. Go to my mother's side Go to my mother's side

And her crushed spirit cheer;
Thine own deep angulah hide,
Wipe from her cheek the teer.
Mark her dimmed eye, her furrowed brow,
Her soil-worn frame, her trembling limb;
And trace the ruin back to him
Whose plighted faith in early youth
Promised eternal love and truth,
But who, forsworn, has yielded up
That promise to the deedly cup
And led her down from love and light, That promise to the deadly cup
And led her down from love and light From all that made her pathway bright, And chained her there, 'mid want and Insanity in Germany. "Dr. Prinzing, of Ulm, Germany, has now come forward with a remarkable showing of the evils which intemperance is working in the Kaiser's realm. He has shown that more than 30 per cent. of all curative power over the skin and flesh, healshown that more than 30 per cent. of all suicides committed by men in the prime of life are due to drunkenness. This is startling news from a nation so calm and self-constrained and so little inclined to nervous excitement as the Germans."— Montreal Star.

Presidential Hospitalities. An interesting feature of the dinner recently given to President and Mrs. Oleveland by Secretary and Mrs. Carlisle, says the New York "Sun," was the entire absence of wines and liquors from the table. There were two glasses at each plate, one for Potomac water and the ther for appolinaris. Mrs. Cleveland. Mrs. Lamont, Mrs. Carlisle, Miss Morton and Mrs. Wilson, of the cabinet ladies, are testotalers and never touch wines on any occasion. Colonel Lamont says that he has never tasted whiskey in his life, and it is well known that he never drinks wine at dinners. Secretary Carlisle has not touched a glass of anything intoxicating since he entered the cabinet. Mrs. Cleveland and all the adies of the cabinet, with the exception of Mrs. Carlisle, serve wine at dinners and lunches for the benefit of their guests. but Mrs. Carlisle says that no wine or liquor of any kind has crossed the threshold of her home since the inauguration of President Cleveland.

"Come in, Patrick, and have a drop of something," said one Chicago Irishman to another. "No, Mike; I'm afraid of drops ever since Tim Flaherty died." "Well, what about Tim?" "He was one of the likeliest fellows in these parts, but he began the drop business in Barney Shannon's saloon. It was a drop of something out of a bottle at first. But in a little while is the blouse that will be given the Tim took a little drop too much, and then he dropped into the gutter. He lost his place, he lost his coat and hat, he lost his money; he lost everything but his thirst for strong drink. Poor Tim! but the worst is to come. He got crazy with drink one day and killed a man, and the last time I saw him he was just taking his last drop with a slipping noose around his neck. I have quit the dropping business Mike. I have seen too many good fellows when whiskey had the drop on them. They took just a drop from the bottle, then they dropped into the gutter, and then they dropped into the grave. No rumseller can get the drop on me any more; and if you dont drop him, Make, he will drop you." The whiskey business is a lawless desperado. It tries to "get the drop" on boys and girls, men and women, on politicians and officers. The train robber presents his pistol with the demand,"Your money or your life." Rum gives no such alternative; its demand is, "Your money and your life."

The Unreasonable Neighbor. A saloon keeper who had a very pleasant garden attached to his residence was much annoyed on account of the constant depredations therein of a number of hogs belonging to a prohibitionist who lived near by. One day he came to this neighbor with an angry seewl upon his face and said: "See here, sir, those pigs of yours are in my garden again destroying everything, and I want to give you warning that I'm going to shoot the whole outfit of 'em if you—." "But my good sir, cried the prohibitionist, "This is very unneighborly on your part. My hogs may be in your garden, but I assure you, sir, they cannot do any harm. I've got 'em all thoroughly regulated. Give yourself no anxiety, I pray you!" "What do you mean? I tell you they are rooting up everything!" roared the salcon-man, madder than ever. "It cant be possible, my good sir," calmly replied the prohibstant depredations therein of a number

Children Cry for

Letters come day by day telling us that this person has been cured of dys-CC pepsia, that person of Bad Blood, and another of Headache, still another of Biliousness, and yet others of various complaints of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood, all through the intelligent use of Burdock Blood It is the voice of the people recognizing the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters cures all diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood. Mr. T. G. Ludlow, 334 Colborne Street, Brantford, Ont., says: During seven years prior to 1886, my wife was sick all the time with violent headaches. Her head was so hot that it felt like burning up. She was weak, run down, and so feeble that she could hardly do anything, and so nervous that the least noise startled her. Night or day she could not rest and life was a misery to her. I tried all kinds of medicines and treatment for her but she steadily grew worse until I bought six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters from C. Stork & Son, of Brampton, Ont., for which I paid $5.00, and it was the best investment I ever made in my life. Mrs. Ludlow took four out of the six bottlesthere was no need of the other two, for those four bottles made her a strong, healthy woman, and removed every ail-ment from which she had suffered, and she enjoyed the most vigorous health. That five dollars saved me lots of money in medicine and attendance thereafter, and better than that it made home a comfort to me.

tionist, "come till I show you." Togethe they went to the garden and there the owner of the hors pointed out that each of the animals had been branded with the provincial coat of arms. "But what's that got to do with it?" demanded the "Does that brand prevent 'em from destroying my fruit and flowers?"
"Well" replied the hog-owner. "It ought to, at least as much as the provincial licence you hold prevents your saloon from destroying my boys!"

Inside and Outside.

Internally used Burdock Blood Bitters cleanses, parifies and tones every organ of the system. In all cases where sores, ulcers, blotches, scrofula, etc., appear on the surface for scrofule in the blood I feel it my duty to for scrofule in the blood I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three running on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B.B.B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole.

As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B, and I teel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

Summer Bodices and Blouses,

"Fashionable dressmakers are now making the English distinction between the blouse (which we usually call the shirt waist) and the bodice," writes Isabella A, Mallon in April Ladies' Home Journal. "Both are supposed to be worn with akirts that differ from them in color and material, but the blouse is full, is draped, has a tucked or fancy front, with stiff collar and cuffs, and always suggests a rather undress get up. The bodies fits the figure, and though it may be made of the figure. stiff collar and cuffs, and always suggests a rather undress get up. The bodice fits the figure, and though it may be made of cotton, silk or velvet, it must never suggeet, by its trimming or style of collar, the tailor-made or shirt effect. Unlike the blouse it is very often sufficiently elaborate to be worn with the richest skirt, and the trimming upon it may be greatest popularity during the coming
