Cod-liver oil suggests consumption, which is, almost unfortunate.

Its best use is before you fear consumption; when you begin to get thin, weak, run down; then is the prudent time to begin to take care, and the best way to take care is to supply the system with needed fat and strength. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, will bring back plumpness to those who have lost it, and make strength where raw cod-liver oil would be a burden.

THE WISE ADVERTISER can afford to give a respectful hearing to all theories of advertising. Such an attitude will prevent him from getting into a rut and enlighten him up. No merchant who excludes theory from his consideration can ever hope to obtain a business, however slight, into the highest sphere of human action on which the art of advertising is founded.

Quite a number of youthful equestrians are seen on the streets in the sunny afternoons, enjoying their charming and healthful exercise. Country roads are usually preferred for riding, and no doubt will be used as soon as they are in better condition. For a healthy exercise a race on horseback is far ahead of the bicycle.

A well known youth around town beaming over zealous in his love for "suckers" at the locks the other day, went to keep the fishes company, going over the side. The ardent fisherman had a warm, or rather cold time of it for awhile, and did not appear to wince till he had made his way as far as the bridge. On his reappearance a companion shouted to him making the time. The rejoinder is not for publication.

Last week a number of boys, most of whom were old enough to know better, one of whom had a gun, were hunting birds on the outskirts of the town. The cries of a robin, that had been wounded and was striving to get away, were frightful and painful to hear.

And so "Bill Remondel" will be trotted on every "platform" in Canada shortly, by the liberals. My! what a time he will have. Mr. J. Hamilton has just completed a handsome wagon for P. Morgan's drug business. The wagon will take the road through the county all summer.

Although Toronto has over ten thousand bicyclists everyone turned out to see the horse show. The horse is still in the ring and will continue to give pleasure to the spectators. Norvily in advertising is the thing now. The latest and one of the most numerous schemes has been amusing the patrons of Dr. Laviolette's Syrup of Turpentine. A bald-headed man is the instrument. On his shining pate is painted indigo blue the name of a patent medicine. He sits in the front row and conducts himself with propriety, while people are behind him and he is laughing with laughter, each observer supposing that there is a practical joke some one has played on an unsuspecting friend.

THE MUSCULAR SYSTEM. Every weary, thin or thin-blooded person does its work with constant difficulty and fatigue. They feel "worn," or "tired out," "run-down" or nervous.

Feeble people who are dyspeptic, and find it difficult to exercise after a meal are sure to cause long headaches, indigestion, and what there is, is carried off from the gastric organs to the muscles. What is needed is plenty of blood, and that of the right kind. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and to gain in blood is nearly always to gain in wholesome flesh up to the healthy standard.

Every one should have a certain surplus of flesh to meet the emergencies of sickness; to resist the attack of consumption, grip, malaria and fever. Thin-blooded people are always getting sick, and none of the organs of the body can get along without the food they require for work, which is blood. To gain and to keep strength and flesh is the secret of health, usefulness and happiness. With new blood and refreshed nerves a confident feeling of returning health comes also.

Nervous manifestations, such as sleeplessness, nervous debility and nervous prostration are in nine cases out of ten "the cry of the starved nerves for food." If you feed the nerves on pure rich blood the nervous symptoms will cease. It is bad practice to put the nerves to sleep with so-called sedative mixtures, coca compounds or malt extracts; what is needed is a blood maker. The "Discovery" is composed of vegetable ingredients which have a special effect upon the stomach, liver, and blood making glands. For the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, liver complaint, weakened vitality, and for thin people, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cannot be equaled. Thousands have testified to its merits.
