MERCHANTS,

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT AND HIS FRIENDS THE GRITS HAVE A SUPREME CON-TEMPT FOR THEM .: _-

Would be Unsafe in the Hands of Lau-

A French Liberal editor, who was seized with an unusual fit of frankness, told us last March how Tarte and the tingry crew of French Grit boodlers tood "with their ladles ready to get at he soup that Laurier will give them when he shall have attained power." The truth was in that sentence. But Mr. Laurier won't be handing out soup hen the elections are over. He'll be in himself. Nine out of ten of the French iberals hate the Conservatives because they are the Loyalist party. Listen to that the French Canadian editor of La Patrie, Laurier's organ in Montreal says: latred of England and everything Brit-

Once upon a time Sir Richard Cartwright paid his compliments to the farmers of Canada. "The best way to treat the farmers," said he, "is to let them compete with the world. If they can't do that successfully, they deserve nothing at our hands." What did that mean? It meant: Let the Canadian market be flooded with Yankee At the present moment these are the Probably he holds the same opinion as he did in 1893 when he made the speech above referred to. The great farming class of Canada knows better. In North Waterloo, Ont., the Grits have put up as their candidate E. W. B. Snider. Only a few short months ago Mr. Laurier, who had sat in the House of Commons and had applauded Sir Richard Cartwright's remarks, sat on the same platform with Candidate Sni-der, and heard him say that the Protective tariff, otherwise the National Policy, could not be dispensed with.

There are too many hard-headed Canadians living in Waterloo to allow Mr. Snider's giving them any such rot as Cartwright inflicted upon the House of Commons. The trouble is that Snider is a Protectionist. He can no more be a Protectionist and a Liberal than he can be walking and standing still at the same Probably Sir Richard and Mr. Laurier would like to read Snider out of the Grit ranks. He preached what they consider a damnable heresy—Protection for the Country, and the Country for Canadians. Country, and the Country for Canadians.

"The Yankee producer is glad to get fifteen cents a bushel for his potatoes," the patriotic Liberals cry. "Why should our farmer get, as he does get, five cents more? Down with the fariff! What's good enough for the Americans is good enough for our people."

Yes, the policy of the Government is responsible for it all. The Liberals are going to change the state of things—they going to change the state of things—they say. But the farmers of Canada are going to take .care that Laurier, Cartwright, Tarte, Pacaud and the Quebec Mercierites won't get a chance to ruin the country. The Liberals ask the farmer to vote for them, to abandon his pre-emption on the Canadian market, and to receive the cheriff with joy while the Yankee farmer fattens on the spoil.

"The sheriff?" says somebody. Yes.
So the United States consular agents say.
In their reports to the Washington authorities the American Consular agents stationed in Canada united in saying that free trade would render it impossible for the Canadian farmer to come down for the Canadian farmer to come down to the American scale of prices. Now, these Consular agents ought to know whereof they speak. They are salaried experts. They had no fish to fry. They were instructed by their Government to enquire into the probable effect of face trade with Canada. And they reported as above. They saw, as the farmers of New York, Pennsylvapia, Ohio, and Michigan, see, that there is a market ready for them in Canada whenever our tariff walls shall have been thrown down.

And it is the dream of Laurier's life to the them in Canada wheeles the that the there is the dream of Laurier's life to throw them down. "We want Free Trade," he said at Winnipeg, and has said a hundred times. He has said another thing that is quite true. It is "I am not a business man." The Liberal leader never said a truer word. And so, by his own admission, being a lawyer and not an authority on business matters, how comes it that he should attempt to advise the farmers on their affairs? The answer is easy. Laurier and Cartwright and the rest of the aggregation of incompet ints that head the so-called Liberal barty, needed a cry. Anything would do, so long as it was a campaign cry. They have it, and they are welcome to it. When they find their own candidates repudiating it they will decide that it would have been better had they clung to their old policy of: "No Policy Except to Get at The Treasury."
