Miss Mabel Mesban of Ops left town Wednesday on a visit to Buffalo, N.Y. Mrs. Fridmore of Chicago, in visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Milne, of the north ward.

The Victoria flour mills which have been somewhat slack recently are again running full time, day and night. Dr. Roseburgh of Toronto, eye and ear surgeon to St. Michael's hospital, will be in Lindsay on Monday, July 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. Playfair, of South Victoria, will leave shortly on a two months' holiday excursion through North Dakota. Mr. Wes. Greer of town, returned Monday after a pleasant visit to England. We think there is no place like home yet.

Mr. J. Saunders who has been living in Buffalo for some time, returned on visit to his home in town last week. He came via bike. Very many in Lindsay and elsewhere will be glad to hear of the serious illness at present of Mrs. E. Smyth, wife of Mayor Smyth of town.

Mr. Laddie (prondly patting his gun)—I once shot a deer with this gun. Miss Swipple—"Is it possible?" "Didn't you know it was loaded?"

Mr. and Mrs. R. Boudry of Port Hope, spent Sunday and Monday of this week with Mrs. Boudry's sisters, Mrs. R. Baldwin and Mrs. J. W. Britton. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Easton, former residents of Lindsay, passed through town on Wednesday to Straggon Point, where they will take up residence for the summer.

"I say, Blossom, how do you pronounce a c-a-s-t-o-r-a?" "Why, castoria of course; how else could it be?" "Well, the doctors pronounce it harmless."

Messrs. F. A. Robinson and Roy. W. A. King conducted services at St. Andrew's church last Sunday. Both delivered earnest and impressive sermons. A meeting will be held in Cambury tomorrow, Saturday night, in the interest of Major Sam. Hughes, the liberal-conservative candidate for North Victoria.

Mr. Geo. Kempf, who resigned his position in the Bank of Montreal here, left for New York city last Thursday evening. George will be missed by a large circle of friends. Mary had a little call. And there are many rumors. That when the boys gave her the laugh. She stopped a weaning bloomer.

Over a thousand different makes of bicycles are in the market this year. It is said prices were low recently, the supply being greater than the demand. Everything comes to those that wait. Mr. A. F. Barr, B.A., of Toronto University is in the city for the holidays. "Biddy" received a tremendous ovation when presented with his degree at the 'Varsity commencement.

Miss Ida Hore, one of North Victoria's estimable young ladies, who has been residing in town for some months left on Wednesday for a few weeks' holidays with her parents, Fenton Falls. The river presented a busy appearance this week with so much traffic coming through. The Myrtle, Alice Ethel, Marie Louise, and other boats were busy looking after large towns of wood and cargo.

The river boat had been killed this week owing to the death of Mrs. Killaby, wife of councillor Killaby. Her death came as a shock to her many friends, among whom she was held in high esteem. We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Leary, wife of Mr. Christopher Leary of Minden, last week. The funeral took place on Saturday to Peterboro, where the family burying ground is situated.

Sir Charles Tupper in Peterboro. THE TOWN PACKED WITH ENTHUSIASTIC RESIDENTS OF THE TWO RIDINGS. THE LARGE DRILL SEED DOES NOT HOLD ONE THIRD OF ENOUGH PRESENT TO HONOR THE PREMIER. ELECTRIC LIGHT DECORATIONS, CHINESE LANTERNS, AND MILES OF FLAGS AND BURNING, MAGNIFICENT FLORAL DISPLAY.

Our sister town of Peterboro has had the honor of holding the largest and most enthusiastic demonstration outside of the large cities during the present campaign. Sir Charles Tupper was met at the station by a large number of the citizens accompanied by two fine brass bands, and conducted to the carriage awaiting him amid the cheers and acclamations of the vast throng. The procession then started for the drill shed at the north end of the town. It was composed of a large number of ladies and gentlemen on bicycles; ladies and gentlemen on horseback and in carriages, and also large numbers of mechanics in holiday attire demonstrating the different trades and industries for which Peterboro is noted and which in a large measure is the result of the national policy. On arriving at the drill shed it was found to be already packed with people, anxious to have an opportunity of hearing the premier's address, who, after making his way to the platform, was hailed by cheers which lasted several minutes. The large platform was already occupied by a number of ladies and gentlemen, many of the ladies leading Sir Charles with beautiful bouquets and others who could not get near him made some good shots in throwing them towards him, which, in his speech, he alluded to as the battle of the flowers.

After order had been restored, Sir Charles delivered a speech of unusual vigor and with irresistible power, demonstrated the necessity of maintaining our present fiscal policy, declaring that Sir Richard Cartwright is the man and not Mr. Laurier who would control the liberal policy if that party should attain power, but with a view of quieting the minds of the electors, Sir Richard is not allowed to take the platform to repeat his declarations of hostility to a tariff which protects the farmer and gives him a home market for the great bulk of the products of his farm in feeding the industrial or mechanical classes of this country.

Someone in the audience raised a large straw hat and put the usual question, "what about the school bill." Sir Charles said he was delighted to have the question put, and then a clear statement of the existing facts at Confederation and of the provisions of the Imperial Act, forming the Dominion of Canada, showed that provision was made for the protection of the minority, whoever they might be, and the decision of the privy council was mandatory in its terms, and that no government in Canada could do other than carry out both as a matter of law as well as of simple justice to the minority whose rights had been invaded. After concluding an eloquent speech Sir Charles retired to take a much needed rest. The meeting was continued by other able speakers, and after his close a monster torch light procession paraded the streets.

TO CONSERVATIVES.—Do not fail with any one on Tuesday next. Mr. Wm. Workman is prepared to drive parties to and from the cemetery during the summer at 25c. each, calling for them not later than 5.30, or in the evening, at an hour not to conflict with his train arrangements. Give him a call.

EDITORIAL NOTES. Mr. Laurier says nothing but he says it eloquently. "Our people hope for a liberal victory." New York Sun.

Breer. Laurier has not yet announced the grit trade policy for this week. Mr. Laurier has to hasten back to Quebec to contradict what he has been saying in Ontario.

Sir Chas. Tupper on his tour talks of the questions of the day; Sir Wilfred Laurier indulges in mud throwing at Sir Chas. Tupper.

Laurier, Mowat and Victory is one of the grit mottoes. Who is this fellow Victory any way? We have not heard of him in Canadian politics—at least in grit circles.

One of the liberal grievances against the national policy is that under its operation Canadian manufacturers are sold in China, Japan, Australia and the West Indies. This is a grievance that will make the Canadian mill operative laugh.

The New York Tribune's cable letter says Mr. Chamberlain's speech before the Chamber of Commerce delegates at London drove a few more nails into the coffin of Cobdenism. The English journalists seem to have entered into a combine to prove that the Tupper platform in this Canadian campaign is destined for Empire's steepleman to stand on yet.

SADLOW. Special to the Warrier. Tax lamentable cry of Laurier's rhapsodists—"Pat those miserable corruptible Tories out and all will be well." Talk is easy and words are free; but it takes more than the corruptible talk of the infamous grits to turn a good man from a good cause. The general opinion is—"The free traders of this place will look pretty blue on the 23rd of June when Major Hughes will lift his flag of triumph and say, "Onward with our famous government for the grits have lost the day."

Mr. Smith presided his farewell sermon in this place on Sunday last to a large and interested congregation. Mr. Geo. Kest has carried a bearing commission during the past week. It's a dampener. Mr. William Stevens paid this place a flying visit, renewing old acquaintances. All were pleased to see him. Mr. Wm. Oxy is at present visiting friends in Cambury. Think his visits there in the future will be less frequent. It is supposed he is to bring the object of his attraction home with him. All seemed to him a hearty welcome.

Grit Tactics. That the grit party in South Victoria will stop at anything to gain the end they have in view is an unsolved problem, similar to squaring the circle. A favorite method in canvassing is to put in circulation a report that a prominent conservative is going to vote for Mr. McHugh, and on the strength of the fabricated story try to gain conservative votes. A number of such instances could be given but a few will suffice. John Jackson of Ops, a life long conservative, who is related to Mr. McHugh, early in the campaign on being asked by that gentleman not to work against him, said he would not, although he would not vote for him. Result, a number of conservatives have been canvassed to vote for George, as John Jackson was going to do so. The little game, however, has not worked satisfactorily but has rebounded like a boomerang on the promoters. It was news to Thos. H. McQuade, Esq., deputy reeve of Emily, to be asked by several parties on Saturday last if he was supporting the grit candidate and had been chairman at a meeting held by that gentleman in Emily. Mr. McQuade feels justly indignant at the false report, and will show on Tuesday next that he will both vote and work in the old loyal township of Emily. Omnipotence of the triumphant return of Dr. Vrooman, as Mr. McQuade tersely puts it he is not built that way.

Canary birds are being sold by several parties on Saturday last if he was supporting the grit candidate and had been chairman at a meeting held by that gentleman in Emily. Mr. McQuade feels justly indignant at the false report, and will show on Tuesday next that he will both vote and work in the old loyal township of Emily. Omnipotence of the triumphant return of Dr. Vrooman, as Mr. McQuade tersely puts it he is not built that way.

An excursion from Bridgenorth will be here on the 1st. Kinmont will have a big celebration on the 1st of July. Ripe, luscious wild strawberries are the latest temptation. The work on the lower section of the Trent Valley is booming. All thistles and noxious weeds must be cut down. So say the farmers.
