FRIDAY, JULY 3, 1896.

A union of hearts and a union of hands A union none can sever; A union of homes and a union of Lands And the flag. BRITISH UNION, forever,

HOW THE FIGHT WAS FOUGHT.

1. Mr. McLaughlin played for the straight grit vote, using every species of Intrigue. 2. Mr. Delamere was put up to take votes from Sam Hughes, enough to defeat

3. Galway was "worked" dead against Hüghes.

4. Mr. McLaughlin deserted Lindsay methodism, and perambulated North Victoria, assisting in Sunday school and class-meeting work. He there posed as a plous protestant. Mr. Hughes did not summation of his schemes. spend one Sunday in the riding and was only a few hours in North Victoria on one, the last Sunday, while driving to 4. Mr. McLaughlin used methodism, romanism and many other "ism" to help his political canvass. Mr. Hughes never either directly or indirectly used his methodism, orangeism, or any other "ism" except conservative politics to help his cause. Mr. Hughes has the respect of all; Mr. 'McLaughlin has lost caste greatly. 6. Mr. McLaughlin, especially around

Cameron and in Laxton and Bexley tried to use his old acquaintanceship and made personal appeals on that line. Though Mr. Hughes has hundreds of life long friends in North Victoria, yet he never appealed to one on that line. The people appreciated Mr. Hughes' manly course. 7. Mr. McLaughlin canvassed men to vote for him, and asked them if they cauld not vote for him, not to vote against him, but to stay at home. Mr. Hughes never asked a vote, but laid his platform before the freemen of North Victoria and trusted to their brains and manhood. His mandate was "If you cannot vote for me, do not stay at home but vote against me. Be freemen, not slaves."

8. Mr. McLaughlin shouted to pro testants "Hughes and Tupper are under the heel of Rome"; while in roman catholic districts his cry was "Hughes is a p.p.a. fanatic and Tupper never meant to pass the remedial bill". Hughes, on the contrary, never deviated a line. He told the noman catholics of Carden and of Galway that he had opposed and would oppose in Ontario protestant public money being voted for the support of separate schools, and in no one instance did he deviate from the road he followed among

9. They brought Clarke Wallace to Fenelon Falls and he went out wiser than

10. They brought D'Alton McCarthy to Kinkfield and the creature Delamere polled two whole votes there.

11. They brought "Brother" Galbraith from Quebec to the riding to influence tail between his legs, glad to get away.

12. They circulated a poplah bull from young freak in Toronto ordering the p. p. a's to oppose Hughes. It outrivalled nything ever issued from Rome, and yet fessed to be in the interests of pro-

13. They circulated among roman catholics garbled extracts from old WAR-DERS to injure Hughes.

14. In Galway and in Carden among roman catholics they circulated the yarn the instigation of Sir Charles Tupper.

15. They circulated circulars and letter from Clarke Wallace-to help to defeat Hughes. But they found that the men of North Victoria had confidence in Sam Hughes.

16. They declared the Trent canal to be no good, a fraud and a mere ditch.

They declared to the people the money should be put on the roads and not into 17. They declared there were no Canadians employed on the canal.

18. The grits and Delamere reserted to slander intrigue, deception, hypocrisy and trickery. Sam Hughes and his friends took the open manly, above board course;

The result is satisfactory. The result is satisfactory.

During the most bitter and desperately fought contest ever waged in Canada the men and the women, the boys and the girls of North Victoria stood loyally by Sam Hughes. They have returned him with one of the finest of majorities, 251 votes. Their loyalty and truth will never be forgotten.

THAT PROTEST IN NORTH VIC.

The defeated of North Victoria take the overthrow of the political conspiracy very badly. They shout "We will unseat Sam Hughes on a protest". They declare already they have several cases. One a barrel of flour; another solid cash; another canal work; and all for votes.

Why, of course, Sam Hughes drew around in his buggy barrels on barrels of flour and pork and gold. What bosh !

Let the protest come on. No illegal acts were done by Sam Hughes, no pork or flour or money was given to anyone improperly. The traps laid on every hand were not fallen into by Hughes or any of his friends. If any man says he was corruptly approached by Sam Hughes he is talse. None say it for none were

As it is, 251 is a comfortable majority. The electors of North Victoria did not require to be bought to vote for Sam Hughes. They did it with pleasure, and worked and paid their own way like men to elect him. They are ready to do so

It may be well for Mr. McLaughlin to remember that in passing through North Victoria Sam Hughes was, while canvassing, also gathering evidence to unseat and disquality his opponents.

The freemen of North Victoria were not bought by either Sam Hughes or his friends; nor was such attempted.

Where, then, will the Ontario grits be Sam Hughes opposed his own party when they sought to establish separate schools in Manitoba where no provincial or dominton moneys were given, much more therefore, will he oppose Mr. Laurier's policy.

SAM HUGHES' POLICY.

From every province in Canada already Sam Hughes has received congratulation on his great victory over the combination against him. He heartily returns sincere thanks to one and all for their kindly words of admiration and congratulation,

What is especially pleasing to Mr. Hughes, however, is that all recognize the breadth and loyalty and consistency of his cause. All recognize that he has been firm and true in his opposition to separate schools in Manitoba; and all realize his firm adherence to the national policy, to preferential trade among Great Britain and her colonies, to the upbuild ing of Canada and the British Empire Some may have found fault in the recent struggle because Mr. Hughes did not get on the housetops and seek to injure his own friends and his own party as others did. But now all honest men see in Sam Hughes a man who will not descend to dirty work in politics or in any walk in

To-day after the smoke of battle had cleared away he stands beloved and trusted and admired by his friends and respected by his opponents. They realize that on the school question he firmly and in the best way opposed separate schools, while refusing to assist, by resorting to factions opposition in defeating his ewn

It is gratifying to Sam Hughes to find himself emerging from the recent ordeal which has tried all public men, so much which has tried all public men, so much higher in public opinion than are those who on the one hand sold themselves to romanism or on the other to factious bigotry for personal advantage.

Next to meriting the approval of his own conscience Sam Hughes appreciates the good opinion of his fellow man. It pleases him therefore to find himself

MR. McLAUGHLIN TAKES DEFRAT

Any one can take a victory well. It takes a man to stand a defeat. Mr. McLaughlin takes his badly.

Already, because the grit party is in power through the treachery of the French roman catholic clergy of Quebec; because Mr. Laurier is soon to be Premier of Canada under control of his French-Canadian roman catholic following, the largest roman catholic following any Canadian prime minister has had; because Mr. that Sir John Thompson was poisoned at McLaughlin does not realize that the men of North Victoria who were deceived D'ALTON McCARTHY AND CLARKE into voting against Sam Hughes, of into remaining at home, have got their eyes opened, and see how Delamere and Mc-Laughlin deceived them; already Mr. McLaughlin is whining and crying out, "protest." His emissaries are out seeking for evidence to unseat Sam. Hughes.

Well, they cannot find any, for nothing illegal was done. And if any could be tound the result of the next election would be 600 majority for Hughes. The people see and dread Mr. Laurier's coming into power under control of a French-Canadian roman catholic majority. They realize in Canada another reign akin to Mercierism in Quebec. They see how they have been humbugged in the recent fight. They see that what Sam Hughes told them has come true. Hughes told them how the orangemen and other protestant conservatives were deceived on the Scott murder cry in 1871 to support the grits in Ontario, and after the elec-tion wakened up to find the grits had had the famous secret alliance with the roman catholic league. So now, what Hughes warned them of has come to pass. The p p a's and ultra-protestants have again been made use to bring into power the strongest French roman catholic govern-ment Canada ever had. The Quebec and many of the roman catholic clergy in other provinces deliberately supported Laurier's candidates, while the P.P.A. leaders did likewise. It is the greatest piece of political treachery Canada has ever witnessed. Already p.p.a's who voted for Dela-

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE DEFEAT OF THE GOVERNMENT!

The conservative party faced the country with a magnificent trade policy

The conservative party faced the for the same. uestion, which divided them into three distinct camps. (1) The government policy party who were anxious to give to the roman catholic minority separate schools in Manitoba as

(2) The great bulk of the conservative party who would not under any circumstances endorse or support separate schools, yet who wished Manitoba to settle the question by giving some slight concession to all denominations and thus comply with the law, and remove the question from the federal arena.

(3) The house top conservatives, very ew in number, whose aim was personal notoriety and popularity, were so far as an alliance with Laurier for office. This class embraced only a very, very few.

The great bulk of the old tory party took and take the second course.

Henceforward, however, the Manito school question has no place in conservative politics. The conservatives endeavored to satisfy the judgment of the privy council and meet the demands of the roman catholics. The result is Laurier and the grits promised them more. Quick as flash the French romish church, especially in Quebec, pitched the conservative party overboard, and have returned the French roman catholic grit party to power.

Who is responsible for the blunder? Why, two men to our mind, Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Hon. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper. Old Sir Charles merely tried to pull the party out of the hole the other two had placed it in. The French roman catholics deceived him and while professing to be friendly to him actually threw him throughout Quebec and in many parts of Ontario. The result of it all is that Canada has a French Canadian roman catholic leader backed up by a found in Canada.

his friends both in and out of the House of Commons on great or small public questions. Sir Mackenzie Bowell and young Sir Charles consulted themselves catholicism deliberately "turned Turk" with the result now patent.

However, the conservative party will now have the long meded and desired chance of again asserting itself over rresponsible leaders, and pursuing its old policy of refusing to pander to race or religious cries.

Throughout all these months of difficulty the member for North Victoria has proven the member for North Victoria has proven loyal to the national policy, has refused to follow the wrong wings of the party on the separate school issue, has firmly opposed separate school issue, has firmly opposed separate school issue, and to-day receives congratulations from all parts of Canada on having pursued the proper course. Our ceurse has been level to Canada, to the British Huspins, to the

The removal to federal politics of Sir Oliver Mowat leaves a vacancy in the Ontario cabinet. While this journal has no weight with the new Ontario premier yet it certainly desires in the general interest of Ontario to see Mr. James Stratton of Peterboro the new minister. There is no doubt he would be returned by acclamation and is in every sense fitted to occupy such a distinguished position.

Were the selection left to THE WARDER
Mr. Stratton certainly would soon be one of Ontario's ministers.

The country has sized up D'Alton McCarthy's and Clarke Wallace's aims. Each boasted of a following sufficient to control the new House of Commons Each has done much to wreck the onservative party and to assist the grits office, but neither has a following.

D'Alton McCarthy lost half his old following and now has only Billy Stubbs. Col. O'Brien lost his deposit in Muskoka. Clarke Wallace is as badly off as McCarthy. He has no following what-

They should feel about as proud of their course as Delamere does of his. All three were creatures of jealousy, spite and insane ambition.

NORTH VICTORIA ORANGEMEN STUOD FIRM.

Major Hughes desires to record his deep appreciation of the loyalty of North Victoria orangemen. In the face of one of the most bitter agitations on record. when their prejudices were appealed to in every imaginable way, the North Victoria orangemen stood firm and fast in their support of Sam Hughes.

Though some of them felt that the party had made a mistake re the Manitoba tion to Hughes on the part of reform school question, yet they were proud of the independent course taken by their stood like men to their guns, and did their duty manfully. So in Fenelon momber, Major Hughes.

Their faith and trust in him will never be forgotten. He deeply appreciates of Carden and Fenelon Falls, for they see how they have been deceived and are their loyalty and hopes ever to merit their support. In the face of the storms of prejudice bigotry, intrigue, deception

Let us hope the their ancestors on Derry walls, stood true and by every means it heir power sought to gain Sam. Hughes the victory.

Such loyalty deserves recognition, and Major Hughes heartly performs his part which five sixths of Canada would have in deeply appreciating such personal loyal y and in cordially returning thanks

Sam. Hughes has faith in the sound judgment and staunch loyalty of the orangemen of North Victoria.

DELAMBRE'S BURIAL.

For all time the name John H. Delamere will be offensive to the nostrils of honest electors of North Victoria. A creature so despicable as to lend himself for spite to be set up for the avowed object, not of being elected or of having a ghost of a chance to be elected, but merely to take votes enough from Sam Hughes to elect McLaughlin, is too contemptible to be noticed.

And the public size him up accordingly. His political record has been before the public before. His last act will form a fitting conclusion to his career.

It is to be regretted that so many good conservatives were deceived into supporting him. Fully three hundred of the three hundred and thirty-eight who voted for him were the best kind of conservatives. Many of these have hastened, since they see the game to have been Laurier and his French Canadian romish following's advancement, to assure Sam. Hughes of their mistake and to pledge him solid support for the future.

The manly open apologies of our many friends who were thus misled to support Delamere are cordially received and their alliance is frankly accepted. They are good and true conservatives at heart, and henceforth will as in days gone by be found doing faithful service for the old tory party in Canada, and Sam. Hughes welcomes them again to the fold.
