A WHITH KIEBONEER HONORED.—Some days ago Mrs. E. R. Sharpe was presented by friends in town with a very beautiful fur cape. The gift on which was pinned the W.C.T. Mrs. Sharpe helds eitess and appointments in the W.C.T. To All. Whom it may Concern.—The year 1897 is now a matter of history; the events of that year are numbered amongst the things that were. Many promises were made during that year that were never kept, too many, we regret to say, from those who are indebted to us and have neglected to keep their oft repeated promises to pay up. To all those whose actions indicate that a paper can be published on promises to pay, we would may that they are mistaken if such is their belief, as it is merely a matter of business and cannot be successfully carried on any more than any other business enterprise unless they publisher. One word is conclusion. We will adopt a different method of collecting old cutetanding accounts for subscription, during the precent year than we have done in the past, as promises to pay have proved to be of no use. A word to the wise is sufficient.

A MAGAZINE WHICH BUILDS HOUSES.—The readers of The Ladies' Home Journal are about as responsive a climatele as any magazine possesses. About six months ago the Philadelphia magazine started to publish a series of practical architectural plane showing how article houses could be built at moderate cost. It employed a special architect, and his work was cortainly artistic. Besides the plane it agreed to furnish complete specifications of each house at a minimum cost. Thousands of people liked the plane given and the series has been a great success for the magazine. This epting the building of ever five hundred houses, varying in cost from $1500 to $7000 cach, will be started in different parts of the country by Journal readers, in addition to over one hundred other houses which have already been built.

Our town suffered a sad loss last Thursday by the death of one of our prominent citizens. William Thurston. He was sixty-two years of age, having been born in 1836. He was a leading member of the Methodist church and was a life long Conservative in politice. The funeral was attended by a large number of the steem in which he was held and the loss that was caused by his sad demiles.

How our night policemen break the mome tony of the weary hours has often been a source of mystery to some of our citizens, but a Wannan young man, having witnessed hat Thursday night one of thece fearful tragedite which angage the attention of the solitary constable, is now in mostion to throw a little light on this matter. A youthful equine, fascinated, probably, by marvellous atories of nocursed doings, had escaped from the parental abode and was wandering aimlessly evanual the streets. Our stairest pressurer of the passes, was andesvoring, in his most engaing and seductive manner, to ingratists himself into its invoy, with the object of making an arrest, possibly on the charge of vagrancy. POLITICAL.—Mr. John Austin, the Liberal candidates for East Victoria, held a meeting here last Saturday evening, 19th inst. There was a fair attendance, amongst whom were quite a number of the fair exz. We had thought in this grit section that all would be lovely and that even the gentle zephyrs would sing grit praises or Hardy presumption, but in this emightened age the elements failed to respond and the philosophical reasoning of man predominated to such an extent that things were by no means comfortable for candidate Austin. In the first place it seemed impossible to get a chairman. We do not know whether people thought the candidate a beck number or that he was advecanting a bad cause. The laster weals probably be orrect solution of the difficulty. Mr. Berj Smith nominated John Howie, St., while Wm. Fell by way of amendment brought forward the name of Benj. Smith; those two gentlement decided the nonor. The candidate, meanwhile was standing at the deek, and suggested that if he cut age to person to not in that capacity he would do so himself or ask some of the Ladies prevent to do so. Two ladies is succession were then nominated, but delined. Mr. Austin then asked the following gentic than Mr. Smith and Mr. Bley were tried but more of the Conservative triends. Some of the Conservative trie audience that ne was a very useful man, and intended to be useful until he was claimed by the great monster. He said he was never a partisan but was a cherecter of independent structure. This remark brought forth merriment from the audience. To see Mr. Austin, the Patron in this Patron section, with his posters signed James Diokson, Pres. and Dr. Bianchard, Sec., of the Reform association. John tries to guit everybody; yes "all things to all men." He was at a pionic at Downey-ville last summer; wonder what he said? He was at Minden on 12th July and praised the Orangemen, in feet said he was a half brother to them as he has a brother an Orangeman. Queer logic, Mr. Austin. The people have found you out and will render their verdict on the first of March as to what you are and where your place is. Somerville will speak with no uncertain sound for J. H. Carnegie, and the rearing cheers you heard at Howie's school house for the Conservative nemines is the handwriting on the wall

Who was it that brought Margaret L. Shepard to Lindsay just Prior to the last elections?—Echo answers. A wicked grit. Who organized the P. F. A. in town and became head beedles? The response comes up from out the dark recesses of the dimpast: A sectarian scorcher. Who first nominated Dr. McKay?—Dr. P. Palmer Burrows. Who tretted out the protestant horse and raked up the Ross-Lynch bible, to insult Boman Cathelies with?—the McKay managers.

On Friday evening Col. Whitney and Col. Matheson addressed a rousing meeting in the opera house Peterbero, in the interest of Mr. Garvin. Col. Matheson in the course of his speech scored a great point when he stated that among the men who voted against the cutting off of the table allowance of $600 per annum, given to the superintendent of the Penetanguishene reformatory was Mr. Stratton. The enthusiaem that prevailed throughout the meeting is indicative of the strong support that Mr. Garvin will receive on the first of March.
