Fired Through the Window. Coldwater, April 17.—At 12 o'clock one night recently a knock was heard by Mr. George Kent at his door. He asked who it was there, and a voice outside said, "I want to get in." Mr. Kent said, "It is late at night, and you are not a guest of mine. Go away, and you will not be hurt." A young man with a few weeks' growth of beard on his face, and not very heavily built, came to the window and tried to raise it to enter the house. Mr. Kent picked up a piece of wood and said, "If you get in there, I will smash your head."

Rem Disturb Judgment. One cause of drunkenness is the fact that after the first glass a man has not his usual cool judgment as to a second glass, still less after the second and so on. And one glass is enough to give him a rosy view of everything, with some loss of deliberate business judgment.

Beware of Preservatives. The following circular from John Dredon, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, should be read by all butter makers in Canada:— In building up the dairy industry of Ontario two things have been taught and urged, namely, purity and high quality of products, and economy of production.

Close the Saloons. The Lumberman's Overseer says: "The church will never reach the masses until it first reaches the saloon." This is as true as it is pitiful and pained. Christ "came to save the world," and the only way to gain that point is to destroy the saloons. You can no more keep the boys and young men out of the licensed or legalized saloon than you can keep flies out of an open molasses barrel on the street in August.

WOMEN'S WRITINGS AND SPEECHES. The Golden Rule of Christ will usher in the Golden Age of man. The greatest nations are the humblest. Home protection is the key word of woman's work. Women whom men love and trust and honor are always motherly at heart.

The unexpected presence, the fatiguing character, and the alarming symptoms of colic and death from kidney disease of good many men and women in apparently good health has led the medical profession to the day and not until South American Kidney Cure was introduced to curing humanity could it be truthfully said that medical science had conquered this dreadful scourge of the human race.
