If any amusement sends you home longing for a life of romance and thrilling adventure, love that takes poison and shoots itself, moonlight adventures and hairbreadth escapes, you may depend upon it that you are the sacrificed victim of unsanctified pleasure. Still further, those amusements are wrong which lead, into expenditure beyond your means. Money spent in recreation, is not thrown away. It is all felly for us to come from a place of amusement feeling that we have wasted our money and time. You may by it have made an investment worth more than made an investment worth more than the transaction that rielded you $100 to $1,000. But how many properties have been riddled by costly amusements? The table has been robbed to pay the club. The champagne has cheated the children's The champagne has chasted the children a wardroba. The carousing party has burned up the boy's primer. The fablecioth of the corner salcon is in debt to the wife's faded dress. Excursions that in a day make a tour around a whole month's wages, ladies whose lifetime business it is to "go shopping," have their counterpart in uneducated children, bankruptcles that shock the money market and appall the church and that send drunkenness staggering across the richly figured carpet of the mansion and dashing into the missor and drowning out the carol of music with the whooping of bloated sone come home to break their old mother's heart. When men go into amusements that they cannot afford, they first borrow what they cannot earn, and then they steel what they cannot horrow. First they go into embarrassment and then into theft, and when a man gets as far on as that he does not stop short of penitentiary. There is not a prison in the land where there are not victims of pasanctified amusements. How often I have had parents come to me and ask me sequence of orimos that he had commit tool against his employer—the taking of funds out of the employer's till, or the disarrangements of the accounts! Why, he had salary enough to pay all lawful exhis sinful amusements. And again and again I have gone and implored for the foung man sometimes, alas' the peti

How brightly the path of unrestrained amusement opens! The voung man says: "Now I am off for a good time. Nover mind economy. I'll get money somehow. What a fine road! What a beautiful day for a ride! Crack the whip and over the turnpike! Come, boys, fill high your glasses! Drink! Long life, health, plenty rides just like this!" Hardworking men hear the clatter of the hoofs and look up and say: "Why, I wonder where those fellows get their money from! We have to toll and drudge. They do noth-To those gay men life is a thrill and an excitement. They stere at other people and in turn are stered at. The watch chain jingles. The cup feams, The cheeks flush. The eyes flash. The midnight hears their guffaw. They swagger. They jostle decent men on the sidewalk. They take the name of God in vain. They paredy the hymn they learned at mother's knee, and to all pictures ot ogming disaster they ory out, "Who eares!" and to the counsel of some Christian friend, "Who are you?" Passing along the street some night you hear a shrok in a grogshop, the rattle of the watchman's club, the rush of the police. What is the matter new? Oh, this reckless young man has been killed in a grog-shop fight! Carry him home to his father's house. Farents will come down and wash his wounds and close his eyes in death They forgive him all he ever did, though he cannot in his silence ask it. The pregal has got home at last. Mother will go to her little garden and get the sweetest flowers and twist them into a chaplet for the silent heart of the wayward boy and push back from the bloated brow the long looks that were once her pride, And the air will be rent with the father's cry: Oh, my son, my son, my poor son Would God I had died for thee, oh, m

You may judge of amusements by their effect upon physical health. The need of many good people is physical re-ouperation. There are Christian men who write hard things against their immertal souts when there is nothing the matter with them but an incompetent liver. There are Christian people who seem to think that it is a good sign to be poorly, and because Richard liaster and Robert flat were invalids they think that by time same grandeur of character. I want to tell Christian people that God will hold rou responsible for your invalidism if it same grandeur of character. I want to tell Christian people that God will hold is your own fault and when through right exercise and prudence you might be athletic and well. The effect of the body upon the soul you acknowledge. Put a man of mild disposition upon the animal diet of which the Indian partakes, and in a little while his blood will change its chemical proportions. It will become like unto the bird of the lion or the tiger or the bear, while his disposition will change and become flerce, cruel and unrelenting. The body has a powerful effect upon the soul. There are people whose ideas of heaven are all shut out with clouds of tobacco smoke. There are poople who dare to shatter the physical vase in which God put the jewel of eternity. There are men with great hearts and intellects in bodies wern out by their own neglects. Magnificent machinery capable of propelling a great fitruria across the Atlantic, yet fastened in a rickety North river propeller. Physical development which merely shows itself in a fabulous lifting or in perilous rope walking or in puglistic encounter excites only our contempt, but we contest to great admiration for the man who has a great soul in an athletic body, every nerve, muscle and hone of which is consecrated to right uses. Oh, it seems to me outrageous that men through neglect should allow their physical health to go down beyond repair, spending the rest of their life not in some great enterprise for God and the world, but in studying what is the best thing to take for dyspepsia. A ship which ought with all sails set and every man at his post to be carrying a rich cargo for eternity, employing all its men in stopping up leakages! When you may through some of the popular and healthful recreations of our time work off your plevs and your querulousness and one-half of your physical and mental all-way. That is the vulture waiting for the man bagan to try to pull off of him the folds of something that had wound him round and round, and he said to the bad angel, "What is that twists me in his stopping up leakages! When you may through some of the popular and healthful recreations of our time work off your playsteal and mental all-way. That is the worm that never dies!" spleon and your querulousness and one-half of your physical and mental all-ments, do not turn your back from such was, "That is the worm that never dies!"

And then the man said to the bad angel: they put you. If you belong to an organization where you have to associate with the intemperate, with the unclean, with the abandoned, however well they may be drossed, in the name of God quit it. They will despoil your nature. They will undermine your moral character. They will drop you when you are destroyed. They will not give one cent to support your children when you are dead. They will weep not one tear at your burial. for many a long year. When you hesitated that night on the street, I gained my triumph. Now you are here. Ha, ha! You are here! Come, now, let us fill these two chalices of fire and drink together to darkness and woe and death. Hail, hail!" will weep not one tear at your burial.
They will chuckle over your damnation.

have exerted ovil influence upon their fellows will be brought to judgment.
Seene, the last day. Stage, the rocking

For curtains, the heavens rolled together as a On one cocceion Her Mejesty Queen Victoria sent orders to her late personal attendant John Brown that she desired him to wait on her immediately. "Tell ther Mejesty," replied John, in his usual Dorio, "that I am riunto" a salmon and I canna come." Shortly after a messenger came with peremptory orders that he should come at once. "Well, tell Her Mejesty this time that I am riunto" a salmon and I winna come"—and that settled it. seroll. For tragedy, the doom of the de-stroyed. For farce, the effort to serve the world and God at the same time. For the last scene of the fifth act, the tramp of nations across the stage, some to the right, others to the left. Again, any amusement that gives you a distaste for domestic life is bad. How many bright domestic circles have been broken up by sinful amusements? The father went off, the mother went off, the child went off. There are all round us the fragments of blasted households. Oh, and I winns come"—and that settled it.

Among the latest frands is a man who pretends to be an agent for photographs. He takes orders for photos at 98 cents per dozen and gets 50 cts depost with each order. That is the last the party giving the order ever sees of him. He is described as about 5 ft. 10 in. in height, weight about 175 pounds, stoutly but straightly built. square shouldered, round face, blue eyes, short neak, grey moustache, no beard. He was dressed in a grayth colored suit of small pattern. He has a smart gait, is about 50 years of age, and lispe. He was last seen in Oshawa.

Probably the largest canal in the world—a distinction of some note in these days of wonderful engineering feats—is the Chenab Irrigation Canal in the North-west Province of India. Its breadth is 200 feet, with a main channel some 450 miles long, while the principal branches have an aggregate length of 2,000 miles, and the yillege branches will extend, when completed, some 4,000 miles additional. But, spart from irrigation, the longest canal in the world is that which extends from the frontier of China to St. Petersburg, and is 4,472 wiles in length. MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS. For the benefit of Canadian mothers, who have daughters who are weak, pale, run down or nervous, Mrs. Belanger, 128 Rideau Street, Ottawa, Ontario, made the following statement, so that no one need suffer through ignorance of the right remedy to use: "My daughter suffered very much from heart troubles at sames. Often she was so bad that she could not speak, but had to sit and gasp for breath. She was so extremely nervous that her limbs would fairly shake and tremble. Frequently she would have to leave school; and finally she grew so weak that we were much alarmed about her health. I gave her many remedies, but they did not seem to do her any good.

Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and got a box of them, and they have indeed worked wonders with her. I can recommend them very highly as the best remedy I ever heard of for complaints similar to those from which my daughter suffered."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills never fail to do good. They cure palpitation, faintness, dizziness, smothering sensation weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, ande-mia, female troubles and general delity. Sold by all drugsists at 50c. g tox or three boxes for $1.25. T. Midourn & Co.,
