Poor Dryden's efforts to start a popular agitation to retain him in office are pitiful. His hanging on to office when defeated by the people is outrageous.

People are beginning to realize how much secrecy there is about the Ontario ballot when the votes are to be checked ever to find out whether the constables voted or not last March.

It was recently represented that agriculture generally desired the continuence of Mr. John Deydon in office. The horses and the cattle, the hogs and the geese, were neighing, lowing, grunting, and quacking for him. Mr. T. A. Forman, one of his old supporters, now writes to the North Ontarlo Observer, maintaining that the agricultural view is that it is time for a change. Certainly it is a most extraordinary situation that now prevails at the Parliament buildings. One-third of the Covernment is out of the Legislature, and has been out for four months. -- Mail.

A strong feeling pervades the citizens, that the number of members composing the council should be reduced to six, exclustre of the Mayor, and that the by-law introduced by Dr. Burrows providing for such reduction should be passed at an early date. Many reasons could be given for the proposed reduction. With all due respect to some of those who compose the present council and who have been members of previous connells, if the propose change was made better men to conduc the affairs of the town would accept a seat at the council board and the business of at the council board and the business of the town would be conducted without the neual excitement, to give it a mild term as has characterized the meetings in the past. If the proposed change is carried out each member would be elected by the estopayore at large, and the consider he represent the entepayers, instead of the

at the council board, consider they are there only for the purpose of looking after the interests of the ward they represent. Several other reasons might be given, but the foregoing will suffice for the present.

The remarks of Countilor Horn at the ast council meeting in reference to the firemen or rather the fire hall were hard, but honest so far as the speaker was concorned. We are inclined to think that the worthy councillor intended his remarks to apply not to the firemen alone, but to others as wall. While we do not for a moment wish to be considered as inding fault with Coun. Horn for the remarks he made, yet it must be borne in mind, that the fire hall comes far short of being furnished or fitted up as are the halls in the cities and towns he referred to, and that the firemen are doing as well as could be expected from the material they have to work on. What is a surprise to many however, is, that some of the worthy councillor's colleagues at the council board, who have been in the habit of dropping in occasionally to the hall and playing a game of cards, did not reply to Councillor Horn's criticisms.

Popular Teachers Leaving.

The recent alteration in the regulations of the advestional department, whereby the primary certificates are done away with and other changes effected, will greatly lessen next term the usual number of students in attendance at the Collegiate Institute. This has made it imperative that the Collegiate staff should be lessened and a new teacher secured who is a specialist in commercial work and a competent drill instructor. In view of this fact at the last meeting of the school board the resignations of Mr. R. H. Walks, B. A., and Mr. J. T. Harrington, were accepted. But not without regret. for both teachers, aside from their popularity socially and otherwise in the town, are excellent teachers, and have ever been foremost in promoting the interests of the school. Mr. Harrington has put in ten years of hard, earnest work in the school. His services have been engaged by the Canadian Oddfellows as organiser for that order, and we are pleased to note that his duties will not compel him to remove from town. Mr. Walks, who has been associated with the school for some three or four years, and who was a general favorite with his students, will take a post-graduate course at Queen's Univerwelcomed at Ottawa, and no protest is entered. The fact that German goods can enjoy the preference by being sent to Canada via London is an argument against the German attack.—Mail.

On Wednesday, the 22nd of June, at the residence of John B. Graham, Esq., of Graham's settlemen, West Ops, there was one of the pleasant occasions which filled the hearts of all who were fortunate filled the hearts of all who were fortunate enough to be present with joy, being the marriage of his daughter Eilen J. to Mr. Newton Smale. The interesting ceremony took place in the Graham's church which was beautifully decorated. The bride looked exquisite in her bridal costumes. The happy groom was supported by his brother, Professor Fred Smale, of Toronto University, while the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Annie Graham, who looked charming. Little Misses Jessie Graham and Anna Dickson added more beauty to the scene in the capacity of maids of honor. After the father had given the bride away the Rev. S. McCauley proceeded to tie the knot in his usual efficient manner. After the ceremony all the invited guests to the number of one hundred and forty repaired to the commodious and beautiful home of the bride where there awaited a repast of the bride where there awaited a repast which beggare description. The unusually large number of valuable presents testified to the high esteem in which the young couple are held by a large circle of acquaintances. Before setting down to tea the bride held a reception and was the realizable of many happy worsded. the recipient of many happy worded congratulations. Mr. Sifton's contracting friends were to congratulations. When the hour arrived for their departure many were the wishes of God speed and bon voyage. The remainder of the evening was spent in the delivery of speeches, recitations and music. All departed about eleven o'clock hilled with a feeling of gratitude for the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Graham and a kindly wish that the voyage of the newly united couple through life might be a long and happy one.

On Wednesday afternoon at 74 Bond street, the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. Albert Palen, the well known obliging clerk in the post office, and Miss Emma Dingle, until a few weeks ago the genial and painstaking book-keeper for C. As teacher you have been pre-eminently successful, having passed a larger number of pupils in the same length of time than any previous teacher; as master you have been kind and forbearing almost to a fault. Instead of resorting to the old-time methods of discipline by physical force or corporal pualshment—which frequently only serves the purpose of avenging wrath—you have appealed to the intellectual and treated us as responsible beings. Many times we have worried you, and no doubt grieved you by our conduct and apparent indifference as to the importance of our time and studies. For such actions we now humbly apologiza, assuring you that anything of that was neither due to disrespect or to lack of interest, but to the infirmity of our youthful natures.
