Political exigencies may induce the Legislature to chop its head off with a stroke that will be given before that body realizes its danger. In putting down quackery the press and people are with the council, but it does not make a doctor a quack to tell the public through an advertisement what he is a specialist in. The medical council cannot too soon cancel its rule forbidding physicians to advertise. The newspapers individually are now discussing the matter for the benefit of the medical profession. When the municipal bodies throughout the province have reduced their number of representatives, the next move will be to lessen the members of the local legislature by one half.

THE WARDER throws its columns open to correspondents to discuss within rea able space the pro and con of the prohibition question. We will not, of course, hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.

The constable session of the Ontario Legislature was brought to a close yesterday, to the relief of all parties. Of Hon. Mr. Hardy and his colleagues, that they were enabled by the retroactive statute they passed to try and strengthen themselves in the position they hold, and of the opposition that they are relieved from the duties of attending a session that was called for the express purpose of passing a measure that is in direct opposition to all ideas and traditions of British justice.

At the special meeting of the council on Monday evening, in the discussion the board of works, Dr. Burrows charged councillor Graham with having a sidewalk built, as the Dr. put it, to the back door of his house. The worthy Dr., in his zeal to ferret out supposed wrong doing, rather overshot the mark as no such side walk has been built. The Dr. should turn his attention to a councillor who from the crusher, gravel from the pit would not do, for the approach into his yard. Other citizens have to make approaches at their own expense, but this member of the council wishes to improve on the old method as far as he is concerned and let the council provide the Much reason for congratulation is to be found in the August erop bulletin, now in course of preparation in the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Fall wheat throughout the Province is one of the best crops ever harvested; spring wheat is considerably above the average. Barley is generally a good crop, while the quality is satisfactory: and the hay and clover yield is 50 per cent. above the average. These conditions should more than compensate for the drawbacks which are contioned. The oat crop is only an averare one. That of peace is a little below the average, and flax is only a middling crop, all three having suffered from the July troats and following draught. The apple erop is light, owing to heavy showers while the trees were in blossom, and the operations of insects. The outlook for roots is favorable it the dry spell, which has already been broken in this locality, does not continue in other sections of the Province.

Ward System in Distayor,

THE VOTE TO REDUCE THE NUMBER OF COUN The result of the vote on Monday last to reduce the number of connections from thirteen to seven was a genuine surprise, for while it was generally supposed that the electors wanted to abolish the ward system no one anticipated a majority of 459 for the by-law. The vote polled was small only 643 persons voting altogether. Although a great many dil not understand the question at issue the small vote indicates the deplorable lack of interest taken by our citizens in municipal affaire. Thanks however to the good work affairs. Thanks however to the good work done by the town press, the great majority of those who voted declared for the abolition of the ward system. In the east ward where it was feared that the residents were laboring under a misunderstanding regarding the by-law, the majority voted for the by-law. On the whole the vote is a very hopeful indication that our town council is about to undergo a complete reformation. The following is the
