The Victoria Worker

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1898.

Hon. M. A. Stratton.

The night was warm and the porch was wide.
And the soft wind wafted the music's tune.
And a youth and a maid sat side by side,
Neath the witching light of the summer moon.

Said the youth: "There's a maiden I desire to love,
She is fair as the daybreak, and pure as gold;
With a voice as soft as a cooing dove,
And a mouth like a bud with one leaf unrolled.
The gleam of her eyes make the starlight pale,
And she's witty and clever, well read and broad."

The maid's cheeks flushed at this glowing tale.
"And I love you, too," she said.

Messy Pap an' Mother.

When I was a little chit,
I sat at th' table.
"T'wen my mother an' me pap;
Kat all I eat able.
Dad an' feed me on one side,
Mummy from th' other—
Tell us we was chums, them days.
Me an' pap an' mother.

Sunday we'd take great long walks
Through the woods an' pastures;
Fathers we had a care.
Mother an' me'd pick asters;
Sometimes they's a sister long;
Sometimes they's a brother,
But they al'ways was us three.
Me an' pap an' mother.

Pap he never gabbed much;
He'd head down thinkin';
Didn't hear to hear no talk;
Nah, he'd be all safe an' good;
With my married brother,
Dad always understand.
Pap, that's me an' mother.

I got big an' went away.
Left th' farm behind me;
Thinkin' of that partin' yet;
Fears to choke the bellies;
Come I'll be all safe an' good;
With my married brother,
But we had to part, us three.
Me an' pap an' mother.

Hurried back one day, found pap changed, an' pale an' hoary;
Seen right off he had to go.
Where we couldn't fitter.

Lovin' streaks all showed up then—
Stuck right to each other,
Talkin', just to keep back tears,
Pap an' me an' mother.

Poor he'd be, but mother ain't;

Son will be, I reckon;

Gatins already skin kin see;

Pap's forlorn be bekin';

Life isn't long, I tell myself;

Some these day, we'll have a mother;

Then we'll have good times agin'.

We are four, an' mother.

Poor things will have Fublin,

Such a long, wild fashion.

Heard the wild birds singin' round,

See the river slashin'.

"F' God, ind let us three

Be long, like we'd rather,

Heaven'd be a great place,

Me an' pap an' mother.

S. W. Gilliland, in the Indianapolis Journal.

In an article on the subject by Mr. Skerleby, the well-known Australian geologist, the scanty distribution of tin ore in the different countries of the world is pointed out. Curiously enough, while the known gold fields of the world cover more than one and a half millions of square miles, the tin fields have an area of less than a twelve and a three thousand only. There are seven tin districts in Europe, producing about 8,800 tons yearly, the Czech mines yielding some 8,000 tons of this. Asia has two tin areas—Hainan, in China, estimated at 2,000 tons, and the Burmese Settlements and adjacent principalities, yielding 88,000 tons yearly, the tribes in the world. Asia has no mining, though South Dakota and California have made some movements in that direction; there is also a small amount of tin in South America, Bolivia and Peru yielding less than 4,000 tons a year, and Australasia furnishes about 6,000 tons a year.

The Department of Forestry is continuing the examination of the tamarack pines, and in connection therewith has discovered something which may give alarm. As this pest goes north, it is attacking the spruce trees. This is not definitely ascertained, and is the subject of keen investigation.

Good manners are a social obligation, and a young man should never make light of them nor pass them over as unworthy of notice. The extreme manners of the top are silly and unnecessary, but in the way a well-bred man deport himself is always worth a young man's closest study. Good manners mean courtesy for others and the recognition of little social rights, which to pass over is to degenerate. Etiquette books cannot instill good manners. One's deportment comes from within. Few men are born without an intuitive knowledge of what is wrong or right in deportment, it is simply experience that develops the quality. To be good-mannered generally means to have consideration for women of every rank in life, and that is a quality which young men cannot possess so strongly.—November Ladies' Home Journal.

Impoverished Blood

A CONDITION THAT FREQUENTLY CAUSES MUCH SUFFERING

Mrs. Henry Gifford, of Kentville, Proves the Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in This Condition.

From the Acadian, Wolfville, N.S.

The case of Mrs. Henry Gifford, of Kentville, who some time ago was cured of a distressing malady through the medium of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, is of peculiar value as illustrating the rapidity with which this remarkable medicine operates. A representative of the Acadian who called on Mrs. Gifford the other day to obtain information concerning her cure, found her to be a very intelligent lady, and a hearty advocate of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Upon learning the object of his call Mrs. Gifford expressed herself as pleased at the prospect of having an opportunity to give publicity to her remarkable cure. "I have told all my friends about it," she said, "but have often felt that it was my duty to have a statement of my case published in the paper. Three years ago this spring my system was in a badly run down state. In this condition I was attacked by a heavy cold and an enlarged tonsil of great size, and extreme painfulness was the result. For nine weary months I was unable to turn my head and my health became so bad that I could not exert myself in the least. Several physicians were consulted, but without the slightest benefit. The swelling was finally lanced and the operation only aggravated the matter as my blood was so impure that the incision did not heal but developed into a running sore. Despite the fact that the operation did not heal but developed into a running sore, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were used, but without the slightest benefit. The swelling was finally lanced and the operation only aggravated the matter as my blood was so impure that the incision did not heal but developed into a running sore. Since the time Mrs. Gifford has had implicit confidence in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and has used them for any physical disorder of herself or children with the same happy results.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills create new blood, build up the nerves, and thus drive disease from the system. In hundreds of cases they have cured after all other medicines had failed, thus establishing the claim that they are a marvel among the triumphs of modern medical science.

The genuine Pink Pills are sold only in boxes, bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Protect yourself from imposition by refusing any pill that does not bear the registered trade mark around the box. It is doubtless due to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be mailed to you post paid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50.
