THE NAME "GOUGH" IS A SOUSEHOLD WORD IN

By means of extremely liberal advertising and never-ceasing enterprize, Mr. B. J. Gough, proprietor of Lindsay's greatest clothing and gents' furnishing house has in the course of a few years become as well known—aye, even better—than others who have been in business here for a quarter of a century. His store—one of the largest in Lindsay—is filled from basement to the third story with clothing and men's and boys' furnishing goods.

In the clothing line the bargains are alwas superior, but in the line of men's and boys' furnishings for cold weather he recently secured some immense purchases, which he is offering at prices so low that quick sales must be made to return him a profit. For this reason Mr. Gough tells his story in a page advt, elsewhere, and the tale is worth reading.

On Thanksgiving day, Albert Kenny, a young lad residing with his parents on Melbourne street, died vary suddenly. He had been poorly for a year past. The deceased was only 17 years of age. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents.

In the meantime he will pay one way railway fare of persons coming from a distance of 60 miles who purchase $10 worth of goods at his store.

Terrific Atlantic Storm.

Last week and part of this a terrific storm raged on the Atlantic. The list of disasters along the New England coast and elsewhere seems to grow every hour and from despatches thus far received it appears that at least 30 schooners have been wreeked at different points. From Eustport, Me., to New Haven, Conn., 86 schooners have been driven ashore, 14 barges are aground, beside a large number of smaller crafts, Tris list does not include the 20 morelle at face wholly or partially the 30 vessels either wholly or partfally wrecked is Boston harbor, nor ha'f a dezen or more crafts which are reported missing, nor the big Wilson Line Freighter Ohio, which is ashore on Spectacle I-land in Braton harbor; the Steamer John J Hill, which is ashore at the Steamer John J Hill, which is ashore at Atlantic; the Steamer Fairfox, on Sow and Pigs Ladge, off Custyhnek nor the small steamer George A Chaffee, foundered at Rickport, Mass. When these are added the aggregate list exceeds 170 craft. A special from North Trans says that the Steemer Portland, plying between Boston and Portland, has been totally wrecked and probably 100 lives lost on her.

WARDER last week, as copied from the Toronto World, is slightly misleading in respect to the herrible murder committed here by young Elilott on the 12th inst. The victim Wm. Niven's Survey Party Returns.

CANOE SWAMPED AND ONE HALF BREED DROWNED. The survey party which left in May last under Mr. Niven of Halfburton, to survey the boundary between A g.ma and Nipissing for went and found out the cause. The house was looked, and no responses to his knocks at the door, he, Kelly, went to Mr. R. Dunsheath's store to make enquiries. Messra. Kelly and Dunsheath went to the house and she Ontario government has returned to civilization. There were 19 members in the party, including four Indians. Mr. Erale Neelands of this lown was one of the members. For some time past a feeling of uneastness Kelly and Dunsheath went to the horse and on investigating the place made the horrible discovery. That a murder had been committed in our midst created great excitement. It was at first thought the murder had been committed by some tramp, but no tramps had been seen is the village for some days. However, Mr. Kelly and Mrs. A. Dobson had seen they turned up all safe and acted with the noon apitting wood for him. McHattie was seen and interviewed. He, McHattie, related the fac's that he had been to Murray's and Mr. Neelands strived in town on Monday, oking the picture of rugged good health, running sapids, making long portages, foraging for food and often having to go hungry for days, the work was at times very fatiguing.

Eitheit knew much about the murder, as he was reported as being a had boy. Coroner Geant empaneied a jury Tuesday afternoon and viewed the body as it key on the floor. An iron poker and a billet of wood were found under the stoye, having blood marks and hair on them. It was then thought that more than one participated in the crime. The Ouroner issued a warrant to apprehend and held young Elliott se an important witness, and Constable Smith put him in the lockup.

The next was further surveyed for a distance of 120 miles. During the past manner it was further surveyed for a distance manner it was further surveyed for a distance Coroner issued a warrant to apprehend and held young Elliott se an important witness, and Constable Smith put him in the lockup. The post mortem examination was made by Dr. Gallowey. A detective was telegraphed for, also County Crown Attorney Farwell, and both gentlemen arrived on the scene by the eleven o'clock a.m. train Wednesday, after which the inquiry opened. What convicted Elliett with the crime, was Constable Smith's evidence. He, Smith, on Wednesday morning when in the lockup with E liott asked him what he had done with the key of the lock of Murray's house! Elliott teld him that it was under the side walk, near dardner's house, but he, Smith, could not find it. Elliott said he could if he would go with him. Smith then took him out, and when at Mr. McMillan's shop D. McMillan accompanied them. When opposite Gardner's house, Elliott stopped, put his nand through a hole summer it was further surveyed for a distance of 180 miles to a point four miles north of Moses river, on James Bay. Having finished proved favorable the journey, which is about 425 miles, wou'd have been accomplished in six weeks. But severs weather set in, the waters were frezen over several times, making canoning at times an impossibility, so that the explorers did not reach Bay de Pierre, on Lake Temiscamingue, which was practically the end of their journey until Nov. 25 h, or a month and fifteen days after liaving Moose

Mr. McMillan's snop D. McMillan score, panied them. When opposite Gardner's house, Elliott stopped, put his nand through a hole in the planks and directly took out a long key and handed it to Smith, and then returned with him to the lockup. Then Smith and McMillan went to Murray's house to try the key in the lock. but it would not work, as it appears heavy pressure had been put against the door to burst it in, and had beat the bolt that the lock. They again went to the lockup In coming down the party came in two exachments, Mr. Niven having gone on the door to burst it in, and had beat the bolt into the lock. They again went to the lockup and told Elliott the key would not work in the lock. Eiliott said there was another key no had put in a buresu drawer in his father's room, and he would get it if allowed to go. The constable and McMillan went with the prisoner to Elliott's, but did not find the key in the bureau drawer. Albert Elliot showed two keys on a ring, one of which the prisoner afterwards admitted he killed Murray. Being put on his cath he denied all the above facts as sworn to by Constable Smith and Mr. pointed out as being one of Murray's. The prisoner afterwards atmitted he killed Murray. It was proven that he had made four purchases in different stores of chewing gam, sugar and canties. Ers.
