Last but not least, what about the cock fight in the town hall, Bethany, on Thursday night, 5th inst.? The great bulk of the people say it is a diagrace to the township, while some few may think The great objection is to allow it in the town hall, although it is public property, yet no person ever thought it was built for holding cock fights in. It is said that it was rented last October from the council. It seem very strange if the council would rent it men. It ought to show up in the financial statement, rent of town hall, two days, $5 for a cock fight.

WEDDING BELLS, - The following is warding taken from the Napanee Press:
The serenity of Inkerman district was suddenly disturbed the other evening by the pealing of merry bells, which afterwards proved to be the joyous wedding bells of two of Inkerman's favorites who had stolen away unnoticed and by the services of Rev. R. Patterson "became one". By a careful arrangement their have harvested one vely satisfactory crop on this land, and have growing some five acres more for fruiting next year, and a finer place we never saw."

The Poultry Industry.

The Poultry Industry.

The poultry industry to-day is rapidly coming to be considered one of the most important branches connected with agriculture in this Province.

There are, according to the report of the Bureau of Industries:

About 7,000,000 hans in Ontario.
Over 1,000,000 turkeys.
And close on half a million goese.
The total number of turkeys, goese and bens slaughtered last year was 3,000,000, and the value of the poultry slaughtered and egge produced for market, was, at conservative eatimate $6,000,000.

These figures are large, but they will seem small in comparison with the statement that will be presented a few years hence. Poultry breeding is being developed along the lines followed by our baccon and dairy industry. Not many years ago each farmer made his own butter and those and slaughtered and packed at great actories; for about the same length of time butter has been made in factories and for a longer time the factory system has been followed in the matter of cheese. As a resule of the new methods the cheese product of Outarlo has; jumped from fifty-three and one-haif million prounds in 1985 to nearly one hundred and thirty-seven

Father Chiniquy Dying.

Montreal, Jan. 11.-Father Chiniquy, the noted convert from the Roman Catholic Church, who is known all over the Dominion, is lying at death's door in the city. He was attacked some days ago by the grippe, and although he recovered, he has since suffered a relapse, and as he is nearly ninety years of age, fears are entertained, although he possesses wonderful vitality. LETTERS WHICH PASSED.

When Archbishop Bruchesi, the head of the Roman Catholic Church in Montreal, heard of Father Chiniquy's illness, he sent the following letter to Mr. Morin, his son-

Although he separated from us a long time ago, I cannot forget what he always remains in the eyes of the Church, and I consider it a duty of my pastoral charge to write you that should he desire to see me, I would feel happy to comply with his wish Kindly make known to the patient that I have taken this step, and accept the expression of my devoted feelings.

expression of my devoted feelings.

(Sgd.) PAUL,

Archbishop of Montreal.

In reply the following letter was sent to the archbishop by Rev. Prof. Coussirat:—

My Lord,—Mr. Morin, gripped and laid up in bed, requests me to write you, since he cannot do so himself. He, as well as his family, were deeply touched with the interest which you take in the spiritual welfare of Mr. Chiniquy, and he highly appreciates the Christian courtesy of the appreciates the Christian courtesy of the step you have taken. I have the honour step you have taken. I have the honour to convey to you as exactly as possible the reply of Mr. Chiniquy to the wish expressed by you, and which was communicated to him by the reading of your letter:—"I am thankful to the archbishop, but I have definitely retired from the Church of Rome. I am perfectly happy in the faith in Jesus Christ. God and Jesus suffice me. I long for the moment of leaving." I asked him whether he would not be happy to see you in the event of his being restored to health. in the event of his being restored to health. Certainly, said he, most happy. Five persons (among whom were the nurse and myself) heard these words distinctly repeated once or twice. Besides, they are in conformity with the religious testament of the patient and with all his previous declarations. In fulfilling the duty of your pastoral charge, my Lord, you have acquired one more title to our respect. By preserving the convictions which he adopted forty years ago, Mr. Chiniquy attests the sincerity of his faith. He can now only invoke the mercy of the Sovereign Judge before the mercy of the Sovereign Judge before whom we must all appear some day. Please accept, my Lord, the assurance of my profound respect. (Sgd.) Coussirat.
