UOORA. A Prominent Citizen. Constipation Cured.

Mr. Thos Bennett, for over 22 years in business as a wholesale and retail butcher, gives his experience with the now famous remedy, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. "Gentlemen—I have for a long time been afflicted with extreme nervousness, and ailments resulting therefrom. Frequently I had sharp pains under my heart, and times my memory was clouded, which was a great annoyance to me in my business, causing me to forget orders which were given to me, and my attention had to be called to such matters frequently. Very often I have mentioned to my friends that business matters of small importance assumed exaggerated importance, and I might I would often wake up with a start and it would be a long time before I could again compose myself to sleep. So unstrung were my nerves that I had fits of trembling occasionally, and cold sweats would run down my face. The least excitement or noise startled me and set my heart fluttering."

Alas! for me, I cannot say, I saw thy form in early day, When I was young thy head was gray, A Tyndeal peasant; Yet of the forms that blessed my day None half so pleasant.

Because I left thy aged form, Think not my love was the less warm, Nor deem my little backwoods farm A stilly no-man; For my boys I braved the storm And crossed the ocean.

Nor mourn thy boy, in this dark place, Wandering into weary ways, With many a dark, few brightening rays, In which to prattle; As fallen in his manhood days Amidst the battle.

Be sure! when my poor race is run, I see no more the pleasant sun, And Faith shall say "Thy will be done," Death shall not smother My love for thee, thou absent one, My "cannie mother."

A National Song Written Under Hot Fire. "The Star-Spangled Banner" was written by Francis Scott Key at the time of the attack on Fort Mifflin, made by Admiral Cockburn on September 18, 1814. Key was held as a prisoner in a little boat moored to the commander's vessel. Through the whole day and night, exposed to the fire from the shore, Key watched the flag on the fort, and at break of day on the 14th, saw it still waving—"our flag was still there." He took an old letter from his pocket, he wrote it on a barrel-head, and at fever heat, wrote the poem, which he called "The Defence of Fort Mifflin."—William George Jordan in February Ladies' Home Journal.

After the regular routine business was transacted, Bro. S. Pangman, P.O.M., took the chair and proceeded with the election of officers with the following results.—Bro. Geo. St. John, L.O. U. 673, O. M.; Wm. W. Webster, 671, Dep. O. M.; Wm. Shier, 119, chap.; Wm. H. Harrison, 567, rec. sec.; J. T. Elliot, 683, fin. sec.; D. W. O. C.; J. W. Buttle, 670, dep. D. O.; R. Stevenson, 671, and W. H. Pangman, 670, O. lects; P. Shier, 571, and W. H. Pangman, 570, auditors.

The lodges which comprise the county of North Ontario are—129, Beavers; 667, Derryville; 670, Vrooman; 672, Goodwood; 673, Woodville; 1382, Pefferlaw; 454, Victoria Corners; 568, Carleton Place; 671, Udoora; 683, Udoora; 802, Vrooman. The foregoing were all duly represented.

A startling Showing. One of the interesting features of the year's beginning in the newspaper field is the Chicago Tribune's record of homicides, lynchings and executions in the United States. It is necessarily shown not complete, and so one of the facts that in the earlier years the returns were not as full as in the later ones. Even with allowance for such a probable fact, however, there has been so marked an increase in crimes of violence ending in death that it is attracting serious attention among students of social questions, who, not unnaturally, ask, whether we are drifting, as the U. S. Census Bureau has been as follows:— 1896..... 10,662 1895..... 10,600 1894..... 9,800 1893..... 6,616 1892..... 6,791 1891..... 5,906

The causes in regard to last year's list are given as follows: Quarrels, 5,680; un-knowing, 3,261; jealousy, 402; liquor, 450; highwaysmen, 200; infants, 800; resist law, 253; self defence, 48; in strikes, 10; outrages, 28; riots, 10. The legal executions fell very much behind the number of the murders in 1896. In 1896, and the same number in 1894. Even with the lynchings, which are only made up by individuals, and which last year numbered 131, there are, it is plain, a great number of crimes that go unpunished so great as to be a reflection on the administration of the law, not in a section here and there throughout the country, but practically everywhere, for there is hardly a state where complaints are not made that the law, in dealing with murders, falls in its purpose, and is not the safeguard of life that it should be. This is not the fault of the law, as it is written. In regard to the punishment of crime and dealing with accused persons, the laws of the States are in effect those of England, from which land they were brought by the colonists and spread over the continent. The trouble lies in the method of enforcing them, in the abuse of privileges granted to accused persons in the first place, that they might be protected from injustice and tyranny, but now used to defeat justice itself. That the outcome of such conditions is not happy the startling and growing figures of the homicides show.—Gazette.
