LINCOLN'S INAUGURATION,-The contrast in the condition of the country between the time of Lincoln's first inauguration and that of president elect McKinley is said to be vividly portrayed in an article by Stephen Fiske for the March Ladies' Home Journal. In telling of "When Lincoln was first inaugurated" Mr. Fiske graphically describes inaugurated" Mr. Fiske grephically describes Mr. Lincoln's journey from Springfield. It linois, to Washington, and the incidents of the inauguration and the attendant festivities. There were grave fears that Lincoln would be assassinated as he rode in the inaugural procession to the Capitol, and every possible precaution was taken for his safety. Mr. Fiske will recall the safe guards placed around the president. Special officers and detectives in citizens' clothes were stationed in numbers among the crowds that lined the sidewalks, and sharpshooters occupied positions of vantage on housetops, etc., along the route of parade. The military escort of the president-elect was heavily armed, ready to promptly meet any hostile demonstrations, promptly meet any hostile demonstrations, and the crowds were kept a distance from the and the crowds were kept a distance from the president's carriage—so far that they could not dislinguish Mr. Lincoln from Mr. Buchanan, who rode beside him. The police were instructed to arrest all persons making opprobrious threats egainst Mr. Lincoln, or uttering disloyal sentiments. The tension was great and the whole country was in a state of suppressed excitement.

THE LATE JOHN B. WARNER - The Napanee Beaver says: Much surprise was created in town on Monday last by the announcement that Mr. John Billings Warner created in town on Monday last by the announcement that Mr. John Billings Warner of Lindsay had died the evening previous. It was known to some of his friends here that he had not been well for some time past, but they little expected that the end was so near at hand. Deceased was the eldest son of the late Billings Warner of Yarker, who while bathing with his brother James (now in New fork) in the river there, got beyond his depth and being unable to swim, was drowned. Mrs. Warner, his widow, afterwards married the late Capt. Edmund Hooper, M.P. for Lennox, and died about a year ago at Lindsay.

A few years ago he strrted an extensive dry goods business in Lindsay, which he carried on successfully until his death. Deceased married a daughter of the late Lyman Mocre, Hamilton, who with seven children survive him. Mr. Warner was an excellent business man and a favorite with all with whom he became acquainted. He had a large circle of relatives and acquaintances in Napanee and vicinity, who will regret his early demise (aged 52 years) in the prime of life. The bereaved wife and brother have the sympathy of their many friends in this section.
