THOS. C. MATCHETT,

Not all the Gold in klondike.

(From Leelie's Weekly.) Within my little cottage
Are peace and warmth and light,
And loving welcome waiting
When I come home at night.

The polished kettle's steaming. The snowy cloth is spread—And close against my shoulder There leans a smooth brown head Her eyes are lit with laughter (They light the world for me)-

For how much would you sell me ! Now tell me, sir !" cries she. 'Tis then I answer, somehow, Between a smile and tear; "Not for all the gold in Klondike!
The gold in Klondike, dear!"

When the coay tea is over,
With many a froiic fond,
I sit and read my paper,
And from the room beyond
I hear the clink of china, The tread of nimble feet,

And broken bits of singing That somehow ripple sweet, I hear a rush and rustle Behind my easy chair; Short, chubby arms enclasp me

And choke me unaware! Into my arms is tumbled A crinkled golden head, A ball of fluffy whiteness That ought to be in bed. She saks her mother's question-

I kiss the answer clear-Not for all the gold in Klondike ! The gold in Klondike, dear!" In dim and dus v office I dig my bits of gold; I soffer not with hunger

Nor perish with the cold, My nuggets needs be tiny (I dig them with a pen), But the Yukon's golden gravel I leave for other men.

My reasure lies exhaustless, My claim is staked with care: What is all the gold in Ktondike Since I'm love's miliionaire?

A Lesson in Loyalty.
