Can't get another yard, it is all there is in the market. You remember the rush for the same line last season, it remember the rush for the same line last season, it will double this year. 500 yards, or one-eighth of the total, sold the first day the goods were shown, and on business principle bargains and inducements. First come first served. Is it necessary to remind you of the immense sale we had last year for Ladies' New Mantles. Perhaps not, but it is interesting to know that every mantle sold by us is giving perfect satisfaction. It is just as well for those who contemplate buying one this year to purchase from a house which has justly earned a reputation for reliable goods. It costs you no more, and you have the satisfaction to know the material is reliable, the workmanship reliable, the trimmings reliable, and the prices the lowest.
