For these there were two There were three positions vacant on the core. were thirly applicants, among whom were two from Lindsay, Miss Mark and Miss Lang, and three from the county of Victoria, Miss Mc-'rear of Omemee, Miss Reid of Reaboro, and Miss Rogers of Ops. For one of the positions a specialist was asked. To this a Miss Melver was appointed. No objection could be urged against that appointment—it is undoubtedly a good one. But for the next position, a lady, possibly a better teacher than any new in dindsay, but holding qualifications inferior to raising to objection to the young lady, not day at both services, the slightest; but we do protest against any such system as will pass over town girls

That being educitied, Miss Mark's name should have been first submitted and appointed, Instead of that however, the names of town esidents had almost to be forced on the Board and brought in secondary to total strangers. Fortunately, Miss Mark was finally appointed. Mesers. Dobson, Winters and Smyth, deserve credit for decidedly placing before the Board the principle that Lindsay and Victoria teachers, other things being equal, should have first chance. And it is not to the credit of others who opposed the

Of course, the un-certainty concerning the health of another applicant, Miss Lang, caused some who fully recognized her former superior abilities as teacher in Lindsay to hesitate until fully assured of complete restoration. The Board is appointed or elected by the people to man-CHARAM AND LES respectfully intimates that their stock of china, crockery, glass, candsome dinner sets, china tea sets, new change in chamber ware large made at a point subordinate matter or principal to appoint subordinate matter or principal to appoint subordinate matter. age their schools; and they shall require them ers, should find no place in Lindsay. They should certainly be consulted, and freely so, by the Board and by committees, but their duties are sufficiently onerous without appointing their teachers. Very few arguments can be advanced in favor of the practice; many our by against it. For instance not one appointed on Tuesday night last but was as well known to the frusters as to the principal or headmaster. If therefore the proper come examined the applications, and consulted the head teachers, they would have had a clearer idea of their duty. For high school positions there was not much choice. For public school vacancies there was. For the future, unless we are much mistaken, the people of Lindsay will require the Board to do its duty. Not that we mean every teacher from Linds Not that we mean every teacher from Linds say shall be placed on the staff to the exclu-sion of outsiders. But, other things being equal, the home teacher being known a success, the rule should be observed. If the Board and the head teachers at any time fear to do their duty towards persons on the staff unit for the positions, let them resign. OUR CUSTOMERS.

Who art in the town and country, prosperous be thy walk in life, and may money flow into thy coffers in abundance so that thou may'st be able to supply thyselves with Good Clothes and Dry Goods of all kinds from the City Store Give us this day thine influence and patronage, and we will in return supply thee with raiment such as thy body needeth for comfort and bodily health, and we will charge thee only a trifle of thy money so that thou may'st have a plenty left wherewith to procure food for thy family and those dependent upon thee. As the winter approacheth rapidly it behooveth thee to be careful of thine own and thy family's carcasses and not allow them to suffer or perish for the lack of raiment. It also behooveth thee if thou desire to be provident to deal out thy money carefully and 3 see that it is judiciously expended, for by so doing thou wilt accumulate a goodly heritage and thy name wilt be blessed until the 3rd or 4th generation after thee. In order to gain this competence and have thy name engraved in the stomach of history it is necessary to practice economy in all thy dealings, therefore the man who passeth the City Store by and lendeth it not his aid is guilty of great improvidence, for be it known that all who bny their raiment at the City Store save something on every article they buy. And be it further known that you can buy at the City Store a Fur Coat for yourself. your wife, your daughter or your son for very much less money than you can elsewhere. Concerning Clothing for yourself or your boys it is a fully established fact that nowhere else can you get anywhere near the same satisfaction in style, fit or value, and for a general and comprehensive stock of Dry Goods and Millinery we are surpassed by none. Then if these are squarefooted, solid and substantial facts, and we maintain they are, are we not justified in asking you to trade with us, believing it will result to our mutual advantage.

In these times it pays to be posted. Business methods differ as well as business men. One house is trying to make money by realizing a big profit on a few sales, while another endeavors to accumulate wealth by asking small margins on a multitude of purchases, no matter which is the best for the merchant there is no question as to which the buyer ought to support.
