Jackson, T.; Robt. Scott, D. of C.; Wm. Jackson, 1st Com.; Wm. Blackwell, Ir. This lodge besides having the oldest number in the county is, under the skilful management of the present staff of officers, now one of the best working lodges in the district of Emily.

ZION—MARIPOSA.

Special to the Warder.

We, with regret record the death of the late Thomas Rodman, who passed away on Friday 14th Dec., after a long and painful sickness. He endured his affliction with a patience that characterizes the true christian, looking forward to the reward that awaits the faithful. The Rev. Mr. Brigden conducted the services; speaking very appropriately from Hebrews 4th chapter and 9th verse; which says: There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God. His remains were laid away to rest in the Zion cemetery. The sorrowing friends have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

FRANKLIN.

Special to the Warder.

Mr. William Paige, has purchased a farm from Mr. Samuel Magagy of Mount Horeb, he will move to it in the spring, we predict that William will get that other rib soon.

There was a dance and oyster supper at Mr. Gordan Hadden's on Friday night every thing was to the letter.

Quite a number in this part got there lives insured lately.

We are informed that John Thompson is moving this week unto a farm of Dan. Jones.

Election of Officers.—At the annual election of L.O.L. No. 541, the following were elected officers for 1888: Bro. S. Sandaby, W.M. re elected; D.M., Bro. R. Brooks; Chap., Wm. Dodd; R.S., J. W. Sandaby; Fin. Sec. T. Sandaby; Treas., Edwin Woods; D of C., D. Nicholls; Trustees, A. Penny; Committee, J. Taggart, R. Pitch, B. A. Sandaby, J. S. Brooks and R. Gonkell. The lodge has been fairly prosperous during the year, four members were initiated, and two passed to certificate. The district lodge will meet here on Tuesday, Jan 8th.

Of course a Counter.—A young man living not far from here got off the train Saturday evening, this inst., and if it were not for the fact, that it is illegal to sell liquor in this county, people would have thought him drunk, as he commenced reeling round just like a drunken man or a maniac, striking the window of the station with his fist smashing a pane of glass and cut his hand pretty severely. It is thought that by the time the railway authorities will have finished with him he will think it was'nt so much fun after all.

The roads are so icy that it is almost impossible to get around. A little, just a little snow would be very acceptable.

Municipal matters are coming on. Who are to be the candidates?

Rev. C. Parker intends holding special services here at an early date.

School Examination.—School examination took place on Friday, which passed off very creditable to both teachers and scholars. Miss McKay teacher of senior department having taught for the last three months gained many friends while here, we are sorry she has left us, having been engaged to teach near Bonyerion. We wish her success. Miss Finley of junior department is also leaving having been engaged to teach in the adjoining section north, known as Parkinson's school, at a larger salary than we could afford to pay, she having given abundant satisfaction while here, will be a credit to the section, that has secured her services for the coming year, we wish her success in the new school.

Personal.—Miss Lizzie Maunder who has been attending Ladies College Whitby has returned for the holidays, also Mr. Peter and Ben. Pilkie, from attending school elsewhere, and P. H. Allin, who has been attending school in Hamilton.

Gone to spend Xmas.—The Rev. Mr. Brideu wife and daughter are away visiting their son at Ingersol, also Mrs. R. Robertson and daughters are spending Xmas with her mother Mrs. McWatters in Toronto.

Improvements.—Great improvements have been going on this fall around Hardscrabble. We shall only mention a few as it would take too much space to give all. Among the most noticeable is the dumping of Mr. John Oliver's farm, and erecting of a beautiful stump fence. The stumping was done by Mr. R. Oliver. Another improvement is a house about completed by Mr. Jos. Nicholls, which adds to the appearance of the burg.

Eggs and honey bring a good price this season. Hardscrabble has been benefited.

Mr. R. Kelly, on 6th con., though not of Hardscrabble, has had the outside of his house covered with matched lumber. Few settlements can beat this for fine buildings, both barns and houses.

Bees.—Underbrushing bees now a-days are very scarce, but an old time one was held not long ago on the 7th con. Under the competent manager much work was done, and well done, but yet there appeared to be something lacking in the evening to make it like the underbrushing bees of ten years ago.

Bereaved.—Miss J. V. Switzer is re-engaged as teacher at No. 12. She intends holding an entertainment on or about the 20th of Dec.....Miss Tiers is around again after her sickness.....A grand oyster supper and tea was held at Bobcaygeon on Dec. 3rd, and was largely attended.....A large number of our young men have gone to the woods, and sorrowing hearts are left behind.

Surprise.—The scholars of our school have, during the last few days, been busily engaged at recreation hours in beautifying the interior of the building with evergreen wreaths and stars decked with artificial roses of all hues. Mr. Irwin's enquiries as to the reason for the extra decorating appeared to elicit but one reply, "we're decorating for Xmas." However, at the appointed time, on Friday afternoon, the parents and big brothers and sisters began to flock into the school and to assume an authoritative tone. Quite soon Mr. E. Thurston, the children's "candy man," was appointed to act as chairman. Mr. Irwin, who in the meantime had taken a back seat, was called forward to listen to an address read by Aggie Woollard, and to receive from the hands of Maggie Thurston and Jennie Gow a beautiful auto. album, a handsome plush photo. album, and three splendidly bound volumes of Macaulay's essays and poems. The following is the address:—

Dear Teacher,—We the pupils of S. S. No. 2, Dunsford, desire to convey to you an expression of the esteem in which we hold you as a kind and faithful instructor. Much as we regret your departure we will be pleased to remember you as one ever diligent and impartial in the performance of his duties. We rejoice to know that a further advancement in your studies is your object in leaving and hope that the example of your laudable ambition will be an incentive to us to greater diligence in our studies. You will therefore please accept these copies of Macaulay's essays and poems and these albums as a token of our affection and esteem, and that in the near future you may occupy a much more exalted position than could possibly be offered you by the people of Dunsford is the earnest wish of the pupils you have so faithfully guided for the past two years. Signed on behalf of the school.

Maggie Thurston,
Annie White,
Aggie Woollard,
Jennie Gow.

Mr. Irwin replied as follows:—Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, and Scholars: Your object in decorating the school during the last few days is no longer a mystery to me. I can now easily understand that you intended to give me a surprise, and I acknowledge that you have well accomplished your undertaking. Surprise is always accompanied by one or the other of the two associates—Joy or Sorrow. If either is to excess the person surprised is frequently unable to express his feelings. History furnishes us with numerous instances to bear out this statement; to-day supplies another. You have taken me so unawares that I can scarcely find language to give expression to my sentiments. I assure you that your proceedings this afternoon have to me been a very happy surprise. It affords me great pleasure to receive these tokens of respect from those whom I have been teaching for the last two years, and I will ever prize them for their beauty and use, but I will treasure them for the good will in which they have been presented. In your selecting these volumes you have made an admirably suitable choice, as they are directly in my line of future work. But useful as they are, I appreciate your amiable spirit far more than their worth. I hope that you will be as kind, courteous, and obedient to my successor as you have been to me, and wish you all the season's compliments, a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. The pupils had prepared a programme, and an entertainment was then begun. Short addresses were given by the chairman, Messrs. W. Thurston, E. Woollard and E. Thurston. Aggie Woolard and Jennie Gow recited respectively "Lazy Sam," "The Birds' Picnic," "The Wind," and "December." Annie White gave a reading, "The Wonderful Artist," which was very much applauded. Walter Kennedy also gave a reading, and Harry Pepper sang a song. The children conducted their parts in a manner very creditable to themselves and their teacher. The National Anthem was then sung by about fifty children's happy voices, and the entertainment concluded.

IRONDALE.

Special to The Warder.

Yesterday being the Sabbath we went out to hear the word of God as is our wont, and our mind was refreshed with the manner in which Elder J. A. McIntosh presented the word. The occasion was the funeral sermon of Mr. Abraham Lake's wife, who died at Cameron on the 1st of Nov. 1888, where she had gone on a visit, leaving home the same morning. As the occasion revived anew the memory of the death of Mrs. Lake, also the remembrance of the kindness shown to Mr. Lake by the friends at Cameron on the occasion, especially of Mr. Bryson, postmaster, Mr. and Mrs. Ayers, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, and others, for whose kindness Mr. Lake wishes even at this late date to return in grateful feelings his sincere thanks for the sympathy and favors shown.

In the afternoon the Elder was called upon to preach another funeral discourse, viz., that of the wife of Mr. Wm. Garbet, who died on the 5th of December, passing away peacefully leaving a world of care for one of peace, for which she seemed fully prepared. Calling her friends around she told them not to weep for her, and seemed very anxious to be gone.

LIFFORD.

Special to The Warder.

We pass from things superficial and take a look at the realities, and behold what a grand reflectory view we here obtain. Dressmakers are busily plying needle and brain to blend in harmony the tulle and orange for the coming harvest of connubial bliss. What pangs the victim of unrequited is subject to, is known only by those enthralled in its meshes; but we do not grumble—nay we feel right down glad that our friend and school-mate Mr. John Neals, has secured as his life-partner, as entrancing a lady as Miss Seymour of Clarke. The nuptial ceremony was performed on Wednesday 12th. Congratulations. We hope to be able to chronicle a few more such before long.

As a token of undying affection the wife of Mr. R. Staples presented her lord and master with a son and heir.

The surprise party at Mr. Alex. Langs on Thursday night was a splendid success. Although the evening was raw and cold a goodly number, some from a considerable distance, gathered to pay their respects to the host and hostess. The evening was spent as usual at such gatherings, winding up with some attempts at bergomaster. We hope that e'er long we shall have such another night's treat.

We are pleased to remark that Mr. R. Arnott is beginning to recuperate after a protracted illness.

Mr. James Staples of Holland, Manitoba, formerly of Cavan, was the guest of Mr. T. Staples last week. Mr. Staples health is good, and he speaks encouragingly of the prarie providence.

Mr. Thomas Shay is once more on the convalescing list.

The weather bulletin this past week has shown a remarkable decrease in the heat. Yes? winter is on us in dead earnest.

After a short sojourn in this mundane world, the only child of Mr. Richard Staples has passed away to swell the ranks of the blest.

The steam threshers has been laid aside and its shrill whistle will be heard no more this season.

SUNDERLAND.

Special to The Warder.

The worthy lodge of Oddfellows, of Sunderland, gave a grand entertainment in the town hall, last Friday evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. T. Archer, who are removing from this place for a time. About 150 invited guests sat down to the beautifully decorated, and sumptuously furnished tables. At the close of the banquet, various distinguished names received honorable mention and response; chief among which were the Queen, the Governor-General and Dominion of Canada, the guests of the evening, etc., etc. The name of the Rev. D. C. McDowell was mentioned for reply to the Governor General and Dominion of Canada. The following is a verbatim report of his speech taken at the time:

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, "We are happily situated as Canadians. We have peace and prosperity throughout this land from sea to sea. It is very evident we are well governed. I believe we are the most free, happy and prosperous people to be found. It is no wonder therefore, that we are a loyal people; we can all respond with a cheer to the subject before us. His Excellency, the Governor General, is the representative of Her Britannic Majesty, the executive of the Crown. When such noblemen have been appointed to the office as the Marquis of Lorne, Her Majesty's son-in-law, the Earl of Dufferin, the present occupant, Lord Stanley, a distinguished descendant of illustrious sires, who carved for themselves a history upon the institutions of the nation more durable than marble. What wisdom is manifested in the appointment of such an office. How much safer in many ways, than if we had to select such an officer from among our citizens. Look at the state into which the community is thrown in the neighboring Republic every fourth year, by which society is largely demoralized; trade is injured; commerce impeded; business advances prevented; but what gambling, blasphemy, and hostility; which are not terminated at the close of an election, as the Indian is said to hang his tomahawk, but like smouldering fires, await the succeeding campaign when they burst forth with their usual fury; and in some instances the hostile spirit pursues its victim, the successful candidate, until left weltering in his blood as in the case of the lamented Garfield. What a fabulous expense attends those elections. The last one is said to have cost the enormous sum of $500,000,000, $125,000,000, for each year of the term of office. Surely were it not for its Anglo-Saxon endurance the nation could not stand such a strain upon its political nerves. In contrast with this, how quietly and cheaply the representative of Her Majesty comes to us; he is met with congratulatory addresses by the representatives of the people, and when upon public occasion he comes to perform official duties, the imposing assemblies are ready to lift their voices like the sound of many waters to the harmony of "Rule Britannia," and "God Save the Queen." Canadians may well be true patriots, next to our obligations to God is our love of our country. The Dominion of Canada has rapidly risen to the very chief rank of the colonies of the ancient Empire of Great Britain, divided only by a single line upon the map from the U.S. of America, A nation we would fondly call an older sister, with whom we desire to cultivate a spirit of the utmost harmony and good will, emulating only her zeal in her endeavors to spread our common christianity; but without desiring to give offence in these days of annexation theories among our neighbors, may we not say, we prefer our own system of government. The noble sires who first settled this country were a grand class of men; they drove back the forest until the well-cultivated farms and stately mansions appeared, then they laid the foundations of our civil, educational and religious institutions, by which this country has arisen from the shades of the wilderness to the enlightened and advanced position she now occupies, affording abundant evidence by God's blessing of reaching the noble destiny awaiting her, showing the application of the poetic stanza to this Dominion.

"As some tall cliff that lifts its noble form,
Swells from the vale and midway leaves the storm,
Though round its base the gloomy clouds were spread,
Eternal sunshine settles on its head."

JANETVILLE.

Special to The Warder.

Mr. Richard Graham of this village, lost a valuable mare one day last week, he went with a load of barley to Burkton the mare took sick on the road, he had to stop at Blackstock and call on medical help, but it was of no avail the mare lingered for two days and died from indigestion. Mr. Graham desires to return thanks to the people of Blackstock for their kindness and sympathy shown to him in his trouble and loss.

Births.—Two births took place here lately, the wife of Mr. Jas. Halliday on Sunday the 9th of a daughter, and the wife of Mr. David Magill on Monday the 10th of a son.

Resigned.—Miss Ida Watson has sent in her resignation as assistant teacher of the Janetville school, to the trustees, the resignation was accepted, she has got a school in the West. Miss Watson has been very successful as a teacher during the past year, and we have no doubt but she will give a good account of herself wherever her lot may be cast.

New Barn.—Mr. James Heaslip is preparing to build a new barn of large dimensions, he has the foundation excavated.

Mr. Elijah Oliver Sr., has returned from an extended business tour in the West. The same gentleman has improved his farm very much this fall by doing a large job of stumping. Mr. T. Oliver jr., has re modled his house, which will look nobby after Tommy gets finished.....Mr. Jos. McGee has also sided up his house which adds greatly to its appearance.

Returned.—Mr. F. W. Northey has returned from the North-west, where he has been residing for the last few years. Mr. N—will likely have some thrilling adventures to relate, as he has been on the surveys and other expeditions in the far west.

That Chimney.—We noticed an article in the Fenelon Falls Record recently, about a certain chimney in Hardscrabble, that whosoever beheld it would turn cross-eyed. Now we are led to believe that the writer of the paragraph was troubled with an obliquity in his organs of vision, and obviously not bathed for a considerable time. While passing through the so called main street, we took an observation from Mr. John Oliver's post, and found that the pusillanimous scribe was very inaccurate in his lookers. We are happy to learn of their being some money yet in Scrabble, but we think that the enclosure is in some of the stoney banks, and will require a deal of digging to procure the same.
