D'Atton McCarthy, Q. C., M. P. THE TEXT OF HIS SPEECH AT STAYNER.

But is the matter to rest here? Are we to allow the matter to rest here? Are we to allow it to rest here? (Cheers) Where is the matter to rest here? It is already chafed out...

because they may be required not to miss an invoice, but to show down the following... (Cheers) I am glad to see that the greatest rage of the world, that rage that has founded empires, the great mother of nations has so degenerated...

but the Lower French Canadian has got what he wants. He has got it in the what he wants. He has got it in the what he wants. He has got it in the what he wants...

with an so perfectly in accord. (Cheers) Why the best kind of the English to say in French. The good nobility of England prize themselves in relation back to the Normans who invaded England...

Children are brought up in a different atmosphere...

Children are brought up in a different atmosphere, with different thoughts quite opposite to yours... (Cheers) I am glad to see that the greatest rage of the world...

ORANGE ORDER ARE LOYAL

I know them always to be: I realize to day that the Orange men stand to the front. I don't suppose a day however, that we are ever to see the great parties of this country by simply a few public meetings...

AS TO ORANGE INCORPORATION

I voted for it when it was before the House. It is to be again presented I shall vote for it, but I am one who says that Orange men should not ask for incorporation...

THE WARDER'S REPLY

It is evident from the above letter that the writer is a well meaning clergyman, who has been a life-long reformer; and who is inclined to take things as they are...
